$125,000 Worth of Goods Selling Off at the Right House.

The enormous size of these stores enables Watkins to sell about twice as much goods as any other house in Hamilton. This is not mere guessing but is easily proved by the custom house returns of importations as published in the papers, showing that he imports about double as much as any other retail house here, and the dense crowds of customers who throng these stores daily prove quite plainly that he sells all he imports, and piles of Canadian made goods besides.
