

YOUNG FOLKS CORNER.

Temperance Nursery Rhymes

Sing a song of temperance,
A pocket full of gold,
Four-and-twenty bank notes
In the cupboard
When the door is opened,
Out the door he brings,
Tell me where's the drinking man,
Can show you such a thing.

The brewer's in the counting house,
Counting out his money,
His wife is in the parlor,
Fitting bread and honey,
The drunkard in the tap-room,
Dressed in ragged clothes,
Soon may he be made to see
The cause of all his woes.

Door Mrs. Horner sat in a corner,
Saying with many a sigh,
"He's in the den, drinking again,
What a sad wife am I!"

Ride a cock-horse to Banbury Cross,
To see a fat butterer get on a fine horse,
Kings on his fingers that everyone knows,
Had to be paid for by somebody's woes.

To the Young Men.

The true girl has to be sought for,
She does not parade herself * show goods.
Generally she is not rich, but, oh!
What a heart she has when you find her!
So large and pure and womanly,
When you see it, you wonder if those outside
"are really women. If you gain her love, your two thousand are a million. She'll not ask you for a carriage or a first class house. She'll wear simple dresses, and turn them when necessary. She will keep everything neat and nice in your sky parlor, and give you a welcome that will make you think your parlor higher than ever. She'll entertain your true friends on a dollar, and sustain you with thought how very little happiness depends on your money.
She'll make you love your home (if you don't love it), and teach you how to pity while you scorn
a poor fashionable society that thinks itself
rich, and vainly tries to think itself happy.
Now do not, I pray you, say any more
"I cannot afford to marry." Or find the true woman, if you can! Throw away the cigar, burn up that switch cane, be sensible yourself, and seek your wife in a sensible way.

Only A Cent.

Uncle Harris was a carpenter, and had a shop in the country. One day he went into the barn where Dick and Joe were playing with two tampons. "Boys," he said, "my workshop ought to be swept up every evening. Which of you will undertake to do it? I am willing to pay a cent for each sweeping."
"Only a cent!" said Dick. "Who would work for a cent?"
"I will," said Joe. "A cent is better than nothing."
So every day, when Uncle Harris was done working in the shop, Joe would take a broom and sweep it. And he dropped all his pennies into his tin savings bank.
One day Uncle Harris took Dick and Joe to town with him. While he went to buy some lumber, they stayed in a toy shop, where there were toys of every kind.
"What fine kites!" said Dick. "I wish I could buy one."
"Only ten cents," said the man behind the counter.
"I haven't even a cent," said Dick. "I have fifty cents," said Joe, "and I think I will buy that bird kite."
"How did you get your fifty cents?" asked Dick.
"By sweeping the shop," answered Joe. "I saved my pennies, and did not open my bank until this morning."
Joe bought the bird kite and a fine large knife, while Dick went home without anything. But he had learned not to despise little things, and he was very glad to sweep the shop whenever Joe would let him, even though he received for his work only a penny.

Given Away.

We cannot help noticing the liberal offer made to all invalids and sufferers by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. You are requested to call at J. E. "When the fountains of life are not corrupted and embittered by suffering; when the functions of womanhood are strictly normal, woman life is like music, with no discord to jar her delicate sensibilities and break the vital and organic harmony that many who suffer from vital and functional disorders have found immediate relief and a permanent cure by using Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"He that is discontented in one place will seldom be happy in another." People are constantly changing their homes from East to West and from North to South or vice versa, in search of a healthy State. If they would learn to be contented, and to use the celebrated Kidney Wort when sick, they would be much better off. The whole system can be kept in a healthy state by this simple but efficacious remedy.

G. W. Minsig, Parkdale, Toronto, writes:
"My wife had several very severe attacks of cramps in the stomach. Hearing of Dr. Ayer's Purgative, and the pleasant taste, I gave her two bottles, and she has not had an attack since, and her health is much improved." For sale by all druggists.

A Voice from the United States.
I have suffered for the last 20 years with Dyspepsia and General Debility, and tried many remedies, but with little success until I used Burdock Blood Bitters, when relief was quick and permanent. A. Lough, Alpena, Michigan, U.S.A.
