YOUNG FOLKS CORNER.

The Fate of a Fast Young Man:

The following verses were written by a young man confined in the Illinois State Prison, and the same story is told by hundreds of young men whose downfall is traceable to the evil practices described below:

"It's a sin, I tell you, it's a sin,
The changes twelve months may bring;
At year I was in Saragossa;
As happy as rich as a king;
I was riding in post at the time;
I was riding in post at the time."

"And today I am here in the 'pen';
What took me here? It's always
Loud music, debauchery, and error!
The prodigal son, who you've heard of,
Has altered somewhat in his time.
He spends his substance as freely
As the Biblical fellow of old;
But when it comes to his facies,
The hawks will turn to gold."

"Champagne, a set at the opera,
High steps while the fortune is flush;
The pastime and life of women;
Whose cheeks have forgotten to blush;
The old, old story, Billy;
Of pleasure that ends in tears;
The fruit that festered for an hour;
The dress that raged for years.
Last night I sat here and pondered
On the end of my evil ways."

"There arose like a phantom from the
Vision of my shadow's day;
I thought of old home, Billy;
The school house that stood on the hill;
The brook that flowed through the meadow;
I can't hear its music still;

Again I thought of my mother,
Of the mother who taught me to pray;
Whose love was a precious treasure
That I needlessly cast away.

I saw myself in my vision;
The fresh-faced, carefree boy,

And the jaded, worn-out, very bitter.
They looked so heart like a knife.

It takes some courage, Billy;

To laugh in the face of fate.

With the young sensations of malady
Are listed twenty-eight.

Hark-Koom.

Young man: has not your eye been frequently attracted to a sign having the following ominous word on it!

— BAR —

Avoid the place; it is no amusement.

The experience of thousands has proved it to be —

— BAR to respectability;

A Bar to Honour;

A Bar to Domestic Felicity;

A Bar to Health;

Every day proves it to be —

The road to Degradation;

The road to vice;

The road to the Gambler's Hell;

The road to the Brothel;

The road to Poverty;

The road to Wretchedness;

The road to Want;

The road to Robbery;

The road to Murder;

The road to Prison;

The road to the Gallows;

The road to the Drunkard's Grave;

The road to Hell.

Now, if you do not pass through all of these stages; but, unfortunately, persisted in, always ends in the drunkard's grave, and we have too much reason to fear, in hell.

The last room is truly

The curse of the drunkard's wife;

The curse of the drunkard's child;

The curse of the drunkard's home.

Those only who have known the bitterness of being a drunkard's wife or child can know the misery and the horrors of a drunkard's home.

Young man before you enter the bar room, stop! Ponder the paths of your fate; it is forever too late!

Man of family: flee the last room, as you would in honor fulfilling the pledge of love made to her who is the companion of your joys and of your sorrows.

Bear little trials patiently, that you may earn how great ones.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a positive cure for all those weaknesses so common to our best female population.

Opportunities are very sensitive things. If you slight them on their first visit, they seldom come again.

In the history of medicine no preparation has received such universal commendation for the alleviation it affords, and the permanent cure it effects in kidney diseases, as Dr. VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE. Its action in these distressing complaints is simply wonderful. Sold by J. E. McEvans.

Trust him little who praises all, him least who censures all, and him least who is indifferent about all.

Mr. J. R. Cutterson, Toronto, writes: "My wife had a very severe attack of Pleurot and Inflammation of the lungs about three years ago, and ever since has been subject to severe colds on the slightest exposure; in fact they were so frequent that her system was quite reduced. She tried several remedies, but without any permanent effect, until she was introduced to try Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cold Liver Oil and Hypophosphite of Lime and Soda, and I am happy to say it has exceeded our anticipations. I have no hesitation in recommending it at a Royal Review for all afflictions of the Lungs and Chest, and for all classes of Wasting Diseases and building up of Weak Constitutions.
