MY BOYHOOD DAYS.

Dear Acton, where my boyhood days. · Those days so free from strife. Those happy, happy, happy days That come but ouce in life :

Those dark alas! from out my life. With memories fond have passed. And all the joys my boyhood knew Ah! why could they not last?

The moonlit pond, so dear to me, When cold December's blast Had changed its waters into ice That basked in summiers past.

The merry groups along the banks That echo back our laughs. While we like arrows, glide along

The surface smooth as glass. Or, when from summer's scorching sun I sought the cooling shade, And with some boon companious,

At tops or marbles played Let others talk of manhood's prime. And all the joys it brings;

To me those happy boyhood days Such fond remembrance clings. Uy mother's care, my sister's love. My playmates, fond and true, "

The many rosy little nooks.

In boyhood that I knew. Like early frost on tender flower, The future over dark. th! It's vain to hope, yet door to dwell, On joys from which we part.
