DUR YOUNG FOLKS.

WHEN JOHNNY CAME A WOOING

- My in ther was a noble dame Who taught me well my duty, And bade me seck for higher game Than that entrapped by beauty. I was so busy with my books,
- With seal each task pursuing. I did not think much of my looks Till Johnny came a wooling! I was not civil to the men-To Tom. or Dick, or Harry;
- Why waste my smiles, or graces, when Determined not to marry ! But ah, the smile was swift to speak Despite my soft subduing. And roses blushed upon my cheek
- When Johnny came a-wooing! I vowed my heart should ne'er be won In casy, careless fashion, Ere yet it scarcely had begun
- To feel Love's mighty passion. And so though lovers, young and old.
- Were for my juty suing. My looks and answers both were cold. Till Johnny came a-wooing! With him I could not be severe. Nor e'en my love dissemble;
- And oh, whenever he was near, With joy my heart would tremble. He was I know he was the Prince. Whose fore was hate's undoing. ter I have been so happy since
