Wise Sayings.

Politeness is a wreath of flowers tha adorns the world.

She who receives a good turn should never forget it. She who does one should never remember it.

Some people seem born with a head which the thin partition that divides wi from folly in wanting.

What is really momentous and all-important with us is the present, by which the future is shaped and colored.

There are some human tongues which have two sides, like that of certain quadrupeds, one smooth, the other very rough. Have the courage to speak your mind when it is necessary that you should do so, that you should do so.

Boarding.

Boarding-house keeping was doubtless intended for the solace and sustenance of needy women. Innumerable matrous have brought up their children honestly and well by means of the slow pence thus diligently acquired. Many a couple whose ill-manned bark had suffered wreck on the unknown sea of house-keeping have found grateful food and shelter in the narrow harborage of a boarding house. And yet the fact remains that no manner of life is so objectionable for young wives as boarding. It is too easy, too public, too empty.

Hundreds of testimonials attest makes a few calls, and her working day is their great curative powers. Only fifty done. At the table the talk is such idle gossip, such unideal chatters, half made up of proper names. as interests the idle population of a boarding-house. Happiness becomes more and more an external thing, a matter of conditions, dress, luxuries, amusements intimacy in a certain set. At the end of a year the pretty girl who began her life with dreams of perfect wifehood and ideal bliss probably will have given place to a gossip and an idler, who finds herself slightly tired by a long evening slone with her husband, if he has forgotten the habit of audible admiration. The two who might have grown nearer together in the privacy of home, by means of their common interest, have separated, imperceptibly, but surely.

"Won't you cut a penny open for me, father?" said a little girl when she came home from school one day. "Cut open a penny! What do you want me to do that for ?" asked her father. "'Cause," said the little girl, "our teacher says that in every penny there are four farthings, and I want to see 'em."

"My son," asked a Sunday school teacher, "what do you know of the proverb regarding people who reside in glass houses?" "I don't know nothin'," was the response, about the proverb, but I know that people who live in glass houses ortent to lay abed late in the mornin' unless they pull down the blinds."

"Now." said the irate mother to her family of one boy and four girls, who had been misbehaving themselves, "Fam going to whip you all." and she seized on Jimmie to receive the first instalment of the chastisement. "Mother," said Jimmie, "ladies first, always." The old lady was so struck with this application of her own instruction that she did not strike any of the children, but let them off that time.
