

Acton Tree Gress.

THE GREAT REMEDY, JAN. 25, 1893.

"NOT KNOWING"

I know not what will befall me? God hangs a mist o'er my eyes.

And o'er each step of my onward path, He makes new darkness.

For perhaps the dreadful future has less bitterness than I think.

My heart, shrinks back from trials, which the future may disclose.

It keeps me quiet in those arms, which will not let me go.

And hushes my soul to rest, on the bosom that loves me so.

So I go on not knowing! I would not if I might.

I would rather walk in the dark with God, than go alone.

I would rather walk with him by faith, than go alone by sight.

My heart, shrinks back from trials, which the future may disclose.

It keeps me quiet in those arms, which will not let me go.

And hushes my soul to rest, on the bosom that loves me so.

So I go on not knowing! I would not if I might.

I would rather walk in the dark with God, than go alone.

I would rather walk with him by faith, than go alone by sight.
