THERE IS NO DEATH. There is no death! The stars go down Upon some furrow sown, And bright in heaven's jewelled crown They shine for evermore.

OUR STORY. Under an Umbrella. The rain came pelted down most viciously, one gray November morning, when the car stopped at the corner of Forty-first street, and a young lady got out.

Willing to Pay Extra. A western bridegroom at an up-town hotel summoned a bell-boy by bawling down six flights of stairs.

A Tall Bird. The tallest bird known to ornithologists was found by Professor Herbert in the lower coasts of the island of New Guinea.

Sermon to My Boy. My boy, when you desire to commit any wrong in your basement, have one attract attention by proclaiming your virtues from the housetop.

MY SOLDIER. "Present arms!" There they are Both stretched out to me - Strong and sturdy, smooth and white - Fair as the snow can be.

was well again he could not bear to lose her from his side. "The doctor says I should have lost my mind if it had not been for you," he said.

"I had no idea it was going to rain," she said to her companion, a pretty choir boy, who seemed to have gotten out of his gowns by magic.

"I don't care for the money," he said, indignantly, "but oh, my darling, will you let me care for you always? May I shield you through all of life's storms and dangers, my own - my very own?"

GENERAL GRANT'S CASE. "Someone Has Blundered!" - Can it be Possible? The New York Herald says: "If General Grant should recover from a disease which should prove to have been what it has been described, then his medical attendants will be expected to explain the reasons for one of the most remarkable instances of discrepancy ever recorded in the history of medical practice."

She had risen and slipped behind his chair where he could not see her face. "But I won't be put aside," she said, softly, "like - like an old umbrella! I am rich enough for us both, and I love you!"

Several tenths of the deaths of this country every year are from hepatic and renal disorders, over which physicians have so little power. They will give this, and that and the other thing to make dying comfortable, but they know they cannot cure and yet they will permit the use of remedies "unorthodox" by their code, either they are allopathic or homoeopathic.

By the use of Hutchinson's Dyspepsia medicine may be established a permanent natural brown complexion.
