TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 6, 1886.

ARBOR DAY.

To-morrow is Arbor Day—the day set apart by the Minister of Education on which the teachers and children of the public schools are expected to plant trees and otherwise beautify the school grounds; and also the day proclaimed by our municipal authorities a public holiday, when each citizen is requested to plant at least one tree in town. The indications are that the day will be marked with the usual success which attends our Annual Arbor Day. A good many orders have already been given for trees, and provisions have been made so that all citizens wishing trees for planting will be supplied at a nominal charge. The schools are taking some interest in the matter and the pupils will assist in planting trees on the school grounds that day. Arbor Day will generally be much talked about if the teachers announce the intention to have it observed. Many plans will be proposed to obtain, arrange, plant and name trees and shrubs. It is hoped the day will be observed in the sense intended, and that the result will be that to-morrow evening the number of trees of the various streets and avenues of our attractive little town, will be largely augmented.

THAT RESOLUTION.

In a letter to the Brantford Telegram, respecting that paper's peculiar emphasis of the anti-Scott resolution recently passed by Milton's council, Rev. D. L. Brether, of that city, for three years a resident of Milton, says:

"You attach too much importance to those resolutions. The village of Georgetown, with a population larger than Milton, passed, I believe, unanimous resolutions, almost equally opposed to the Milton condemnation. I have not seen the action of the Georgetown Council in the Telegram. Is that fair play? If you knew the history of the Milton resolutions you would not write so bitterly of the failure of the Scott law, and the pain it has wrought. Your readers are probably not aware perhaps that Milton is largely composed of the descendants of the original settlers. One member of that town council is an old offender against license laws. He was fined under the Crooks Act and twice for breaking the Scott Act, as well as accused of perjury. What can you expect from a town council which fellowship with a spirit of the above description? I am sorry to say, the Milton resolutions were cast against the Milton resolutions. Let your readers remember that Milton numbers a very small proportion of the population of Halton—about one in 15. It is fair to condemn a law that is doing immense good to well nigh 20,000 people, because it is made a failure by the determined wickedness of a majority of 15,000 Milton! Why don't the people of the Province of Ontario demand to repeal the law? If it is such a bad thing surely the people would only be too glad to repeal it themselves; but that council knows well enough that Halton will never repeal the Scott Act. Temperance people ask only fair play for the Scott Act. Give us good enforcing machinery and no favor and we will abide by the result."

Rockwood News.

From our Correspondent.

Mr. Wm. McFarlane and son, of Norval, are visiting friends here.

Mr. M. P. Barry had his hands slightly scalded at his stove factory the other day, while repairing the boiler.

Mr. D. Strachan who has just finished his first term at Queen's College, Kingston, is home for his vacation. Dan looks well although he has had a hard winter's work.

The Scott Act came into effect here on Saturday last. The travelling public do not seem to be inconvenienced in any way as our general hotel keepers have decided to accommodate the public as usual.

R. C. Curry, M. D., removes from this place to Carleton Street, Toronto, to-day. For over twenty years the genial Dr. has dispensed medicine to his numerous patients here. The Methodist body here loses an earnest worker and Toronto is the gainer.

The concert to be held in the town hall, here, on the evening of the 24th inst., promises to eclipse even the best efforts on a similar occasion of former years. The committee is in correspondence with some of the best talent of Guelph and Toronto, and reports no dearth of those promising to sing.

A certain young man from this place visited Acton last Monday evening, and while waiting for the midnight train fell asleep in the station house. When he awoke the train had about one hour's start of him. He gamely struck after it and reached here some time early this morning. He doesn't care about being asked how the walking is.

The many friends of Mr. D. McCaig, of this place, will be pleased to learn of his appointment to the inspectorship of public schools of Algoma. We congratulate the government on having made such an able selection. Mr. McCaig's capabilities are well known throughout this province, he having been principal of the Rockwood academy for some years.

The stream that does not run freely soon becomes stagnant. The blood in the spring and early summer months is thick and heavy and breeds pestilence and disease in the body. It is impossible to purify this blood unless the kidneys are put in perfect working order and kept so by the use of Warner's safe cure.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

At the confirmation of 1,400 children recently held in the Roman Catholic Cathedral at Dublin, Ireland, Archbishop Walsh administered the total abstinence pledge to the whole of the candidates, and warned them earnestly against the evils of drink.

The Scott Act cases before the Magistrate on Tuesday prove that either somebody was not telling the truth about the number of shebeens in Milton, or else a good many of the witnesses perjured themselves. We will let Gordie Mowat and the whiskey organ settle it among themselves.—Former.

Rhode Island State has determined to test the merits or demerits of prohibition, and adopted by more than the necessary two-thirds vote, a prohibitory amendment to the constitution. Prohibition goes into effect in Rhode Island on July the first. It will be interesting to note the effect of this experiment.

The revenue from intoxicating liquors in Britain and Ireland has decreased by one-fourth in the past decade. There are millions of children enlisted in the Band of Hope attached to the Christian Sunday schools of Britain and Ireland, who grow up biased towards total abstinence. A few years ago all British children were taught to drink beer at meals.

The following item is taken from the annual report of Prof. Brown, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. In my last report, I alluded to the effect of smoking upon young men at college. A very considerable number of our students smoke, and not a few of them are confirmed in the habit. At present I shall not discuss the question, but simply state one or two facts regarding the record of smokers and non-smokers in the institution. In 1884 and 1885, 58 of our students received departmental honors; and of these were non-smokers. Within the last five years, 67 have taken diplomas; and of these have been to non-smokers: 14 have won medals; and 12 of them have been non-smokers and non-drinkers.

The Colonial and Indian Exhibition at London, Eng., was opened on Tuesday with imposing ceremonies. As to the exhibition itself, it has every indication of excelling its immediate predecessors, both as regards general interest and utility; and speaking particularly of Canada, it is happily assured that for extent and variety the present display will far exceed any previous effort. The space is considerably more than that allotted to the Dominion at the famous Centennial Exhibition, Philadelphia, in 1876, and it follows, New Trimmins, and the very latest styles of everything at "Dry Goods Prices" at wholesale and retail.

TERMS MODERATE.

Almost Gave Up the Ghost.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, WASHINGTON, D. C.—Last fall I contracted malarial fever. Suffered much for two months. Disease located in my kidneys, and I almost gave up getting well. Warner's safe cure, which cured me, is a great blessing to mankind; and it takes regularly will cure almost any disease of the kidneys.—Tray Yours, M. D.

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked, the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if allowed to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the fore-runner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives die of obstruction of the respiratory organs. Nine-tenths of those who are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bache's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.
