The Cornet Band was favored with a full house at the production of the above drama in the town hall on Tuesday evening by the Glenwilliams Dramatic Clab, under their auspices. For an amateur company the piece was very well played. The dramatis persons were as follows :- Chas. Thornley, Howard; Bob Brittle, a servant, Charles

Shannon; Harold Hadley, h well-to-dociti-zen, J. Shepherd : Dr. Slater, a friend of Thornley, Wm. Cook: James Hollis, a lawyer and villain, Frank Clarke; John Joans ; Eva Thornley, wife of Chas. Thornley, Miss Lottie Foster; Mrs. Farley, the landlord's wife, Miss K. Shepherd; Nettie Nettleby, a busybody about town, Miss N.

Alexander. The drama opened with the general indulgence by all concerned in the social glass. The evils of the intoxicating bowl gradually crept on and were impressively portrayed by the downfall of the brightest characters. The Women's Crusade and Temperance Pledge are introduced; some of the drunkards reclaimed, the whiskey seller murders his wife and commits suicide, and the drama concludes by the reunion of the Thornley family and friends and the reclamation of their property.

Chas. Thornley, Bob Brittle and Jno. Farley were the principal characters and were all well taken, particularly that of Bob Brittle.

The several acts were interspersed with excellent music by the l'arlor Drohestra, and Miss Foster sang a couple of solos very creditably. The scenery used by the club is superior to much of that darried by pro-wherever introduced; it washes easily; it washes quickly: it washes clean. With it a dozen articles of average size can be washed and wrung out within five minutes. This machine is so easily operated and does its work so perfectly and so quickly, that wherever introduced it is soon recognized at an article of necessity. It washes upon the same principle as hand-rubbing, yet so gently that it does not injure even the finest fabrics. It is self-adjusting, and washes even the finest linen or the largest blanket with equal ease. It does not partially wash the clothes, leaving them to be finished by hand, but does its work perfectly and completely, doing away with the washboard and hand rubbing altogether. It washes a dozen of more articles at once, thereby accomplishing, in an hour or so, as much work as would otherwise occupy the whole day.

A. L. Burke of Hamilton Ont., the patentee of this machine, offers $500 of a challenge competition by any other washing machine ever invent-
