At Vancouver they will have steamers that can make the trip to Yokohama in eleven days.

The Toronto News says the prohibitionists of Halton have reason to hope that the Scott Act will continue in force in that county from the fact that of the ten or more petitions for repeal voted upon in different counties, not one has been successful, and on this it bases its argument that wherever the Scott Act has been tried it has made friends, although it may be roundly abused everywhere. The News also asserts that although the Anti-Scotts' claim that the Act has had a bad effect upon business in the county, when asked to specify, they have little or no ground stand upon. The Scott Act will not b repealed in Halton.
