HALTON WILL DO ITS DUTY.

A private letter from Mrs. L. S. Butlin, of St. Clair, Mich., a former resident of

"I would be very sorry to hear that the Scott Act was repealed in Halton, but I am sure I will not hear such baneful news, for I am convinced that the good people in Halton will all vote against repeal, and that the majority in favor of the Act on the 1st of March will be largely increased I feel satisfied that the Haltoniaus have by this time learned the virtues of such a prohibitory act. If there are any who have not, send them over here and they will very soon be convinced. Almost every day I see men pass here, who have been to Si home cursing their horses and everything else, and so drunk with the licensed whiskey sold there so freely, that they can hardly sit in their sleighs. I feel like saying

I know you will all do your duty." Mrs. Butlin may rest assured that we will endeavor as a people to do our duty in this inomentous matter, and that the good name of her native town and comity will never be tarnished by agreeing to legalize the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage. She may eafely look for a larger majority

Sin .- " The Anti-Scott Act Advocate Vol. I. No. 1 "is now before me. It may our Acton contemporary and hope he may | seem remarkable that a paper starting with a " circulation, 10,000," should so suddenly become defunct, especially as the "subscription" was "free." This anonymous sheet is to be briefly viewed in the light of the present-three years and six months

1. The Advocate says " You will find the men who are making thems lees conspictions in forcing this it urious law, etc., are men of little character, unsuccessful in attending t their own offairs," etc. These men who "forced" this law or favored it are still in our midst, and on examination it will be found their "character" is quite as good as those who adjocate a licensed iniquity and, as to their success in business, most if not all, of them have continued to carry on their business much longer than the enterprise to publish an Advocate has flourished among us. 2d Our attention is directed to the finan cial question, by a comparison between Halton and Huron. " The License fees from hotels, etc., in Huron in 1882 were $11,185, in Halton nothing." They should publish another sheet this year, of 1888, and let us know the amount the law-breakers of Halton. Huron, Middlesex, etc., have contri buted toward the public treasury. In the first part of their paper, they speak of morals, but on this question of finance they leave out the meral aspect altogether

And it is just this aspect of the business The Brookville Literary Society held has led the good people of Halton to put the ban of the law on the whole business. 3. Incohsistency. On page 1 we read, " A healthy body does not require, artificial stimulants of any kind, as nature will supply them in sufficient quadtities." Then on page 3, John A. Macdonald is spoken of as being bright and energetic as ever, at the age of 75, yet he has never been afraid of a glass of beer or something stropper. " Look at that and then at this :-

4, " The only counties in Ontario which have passed the Scott Act are Halton and Huron." In their next issue will they kindly give a "free circulation" of the fact that nearly three score counties have are being put forth to render it effective in these counties, in the face of opposition by men of the class who address us in the Advocate, quoting therein over 30 verses of Scripture. Might they not refer us to a few such passages as there in their next issue? "Fear God, honor the king," "Let every soul be subject to the higher powers

. For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil." "Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not bear false witness,'s

"Two years in Halton is quite enough for the people," but within seven weeks from the issue of this unsupported statement the people of Halton declared by a not consent to go back to license and free whiskey. The liquor dealers' paid advocate, Mr. Dodds, declared that he "would 20 pieces Tapestry Carpet at 431c worth 60c. stand or fall by the repeal vote in Halton, been foolish enough to take the platform in defence of the liquor traffic.

If the above statements from the Advocate look so ridiculous and untrue now. what light will they be viewed a few years hence? One will read them with the same curiosity as he would read thearticles of 25 years ago in defence of slavery. cannot refrain from giving the following quotation from Dr. Talmage, "This wor of reformation will be so thoroughly done, that after you and I are dead and gone,
