LONG TIME AGO.

There was more in a barn than fruit, long time ago.
It's been a little while since the last fire, long time ago.
Two eyes had little kids, black as a star, and the stars in the sky, long time ago.
Long time ago, there was a man named John Warner, Bishop of Rochester, in the seventeenth century, being one of the most prominent members. Col. Seth Warner, Bishop of Revolutionary fame in his country, and Capt. Seth Warner, a valiant man in the year of 1812, and eight distinguished marks of the H. H. Warner line in America.

H. H. Warner was born in Van Buren, Oneida Co., N. Y., Jan. 10th, 1812. After an education at Dr. Wright's Academy at Elbridge, and acquiring the smith's trade at Memphis, N. Y., he went west for five years. In 1870 he returned to Rochester as General Agent of the Master Safe of Cincinnati, and for ten years was the most successful safe dealer in the country, and amassed a fortune.

In 1879 he was prostrated by a severe disease. The best physician gave him no hope of recovery. It was at this time that he used what is now known as Warner's safe cure and was fully restored to health thereby. Realizing that the world needed such a specific for kidney disease he would spend his days proclaiming its merits to the world. On his recovery, he began at once to manufacture and to day there are several factories and branch houses in different quarters of the globe.

He has a way of expressing the affirmative or negative, which he finds quite as effective as a flat "yes" or "no."

One day Ephraim Z. — a young up-country farmer, who had tried his luck of making indirect answers appeared before a minister to be married to Stephenia Y.— a pretty and well-to-do young woman who had long lived and finally won.

The minister began the ceremony, "Do you, Ephraim, take this woman, Stephenia, to be your lawful wife?"

Ephraim replied,

"Well, I do—I guess I do," said Ephraim.

"Answer me, 'yes,'" said the minister, quietly.

And then he repeated:

"Do you, Ephraim, take this woman, Stephenia, to be your lawful wife?"

"Well, I do—I guess I do," said the minister, firmly.

"Answer me categorically,"

"Well, I do—I guess I do," said Ephraim.

"Answer me, 'yes,'" said the minister, quietly.

And then he repeated:

"Do you, Ephraim, take this woman, Stephenia, to be your lawful wife?"

"Well, I do—I guess I do," said the minister, firmly.

"Answer me categorically,"

"Well, I do—I guess I do," said Ephraim.

"Well, I do—I guess I do," said the minister, firmly.

Here the young woman began to cry, and Ephraim was finally induced to say "yes" in answer to the question. Some of his friends think it was the only time he had ever "said it right out." Frost's Companion.

A LANGUAGE LESSON.

A country-experienced man in Iowa writes for the following:

The teacher of a school who was devotedly pushing "Language Lessons" gave out a list of words to be defined; and to show that each pupil understood their show was made to write down the words in sentences. Among the words were, peas and throb. A boy, when "no pen up" peas could restrain, wrote, "Peas will throb you."

The teacher marked the exercise term. The boy "blushed," and sold her her dictionary. She opened and found peas, "that up," and throb, "to beat." How ought she to mark that?

AN EXTRAORDINARY OFFER

about VARIOUS EMPLOYMENTS.

We want five energetic agents in every county in the United States and Canada to sell a patent article of great profit, on its merits. An article having a unique peculiarity, over 100 per cent. profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a federal law, so that every body may be compelled to buy from him.

Agents should be men of energy, and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every body, owner, or agent, and the fact that it is an article that can not be resold to any body, owner, or agent, is an article that can not be resold to any body, owner, or agent.
