A SPRING COLD REVERIE.

It is a cold day, and the sun is bright, and the birds are singing. I am sitting by the fire, and the children are playing. The house is warm and comfortable. The air is fresh and invigorating. The sun is shining brightly through the windows. The birds are chirping happily outside. The flowers are in full bloom. The trees are green and leafy. The sky is clear and blue. It is a perfect spring day.

STUNNING PRIVATE PURSE.

"I say my eyes out of my private purse," said Nellie Walter, grandly. "I don't go to any place, whenever I have it, but to the Purse."

The girl's talk was a system of lies. If you had a square jawbone, or lost your temper, or had a notion of your nose, or put your gloves on in the street, or left your watch in the drawing room, or interrupted a conversation, you were lied according to the effect. Slang words cost you a fifth of a cent; a kiss, losing tempo, a whole cent, besides a half cent, and so on. The first money was very important. It was to pay for a Christmas dinner in Heyward Street one of these days. The Heyward-steet, but they had known it had an interest in the Merry Girls' Club.

Nellie Walter, Lola Hoyt, Flo Jackson, and Maggie Curtis had all allowances, and were going independent in consequence. Alice Malcolm often said she did not need an allowance; although she did not ask her father what she wanted anything. He never gave her less than a quarter, and if she went to him after dinner and sat on his knee, he would give her a dollar. Not a girl in the school could afford so much for chocolate cranks, and had so many new ribbons, and such lovely dainty knots of violet and lace roses out of season, as Alice; yet she often used her fingers, and the treasures were obliged to dust her again and again, and she never seemed to have any money to give away.

Perhaps the only girl in the little band who really had to pay for a kiss, and shivered when there came an extra demand for it was Lucy Jones. She did so hate to appear cheap! And, like some older girls, Lucy was deficient in moral courage, and did not always say at once, "I cannot afford to spend something" beyond her means.

Say what home the day after Nellie's little recklessness, determined to talk with her mother; if Mother couldn't help her, nobody could; that was certain.

As for me, Mrs. Jones would have been glad to give the child one, had the ever last margin on her own expenses. But in those days when so many people paid out so many embroidery, the market was overcrowded with pretty decorative work. It is not the easiest thing in the world to get bread and milk, and shelter, clothes, shoes, and education, from the point of view of little middle or even poor girls and boys.

No! Lucy couldn't ask mamma for any money. She knew just how much Mrs. Van Buren would pay for that plush portié at which mamma was working now, and probably what Madame Collois would give for the dainty embroidery which was to be wrought upon the treasure of a certain Princess Margot.

"But I might have a private purse," thought Lucy. "If I only dared to try, I'll see what mamma thinks."

In the same great apartment-house with Lucy lived several other families, which were composed of more or less busy people; and as Lucy reasoned, many ladies who are not very busy like sewing-women, are not performing their regular functions, and are not performing their regular functions, and with many persons, they will follow a dull, heavy, headache, nausea, and many other symptoms that produce a well developed case of Dyspepsia, paralytic the blood, close the system of the closed secretions by strong Meadecine, Masticate, prepared by F. B. Meadecine, 125 Yonge street, a chemist of nineteen years experience.

Advice to Mothers.—Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of Cutting Teeth? If so, send us once and get a bottle of "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for Children Teething. It is safe and cleansing medicine. It has no equal in its power of curing all Disease of the Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Bowels and Blood.

Mr. Henry Graham, Wingham, writes: I was in North Dakota last May, and took a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery with me, as I did not feel safe without it. While there a lady friend was suffering with Indigestion, Biliousness and Headache. I recommended the Vegetable Discovery to her and she tried it, and the result was that it did her so much good that I had to leave the balance of the bottle with her own clothes.

There was a long talk that evening in the happy between-time, when it was too dark to see and yet too early to light the lamp. Lucy sat on a hassock, her arm thrown carelessly over mamma's shoulder, and unfolded her plan, which met with mamma's approval.

"Only, my child, it is not to interfere in the least with your studies; they are all important," said mamma, in reiteration, as the clock struck six, and the maid appeared with the lamp and the tea-table.

A day or two later, as Miss Emery, the stenographer who lived in the front flat, and Franklin Von Hulst, who occupied over Mrs. Jones's room just big enough to hold a piano, a dredge, a lamp, and a fernery were standing at the door, they were approached modestly by Lucy.

"Franklin and Miss Emery, please don't be angry, but I've heard you both say, how you dislike to spend ripped gloves and to wear buttons on your coats. Would you let me call it for you? I'll keep them in order for twenty-five cents a month, and I'll dare, your stockings just beautifully for two cents a pair, or three cents if I furnish the darnings."

Well, not torn up so long a story, that was the beginning of Lucy's private purse.

It wasn't long before the lad all she could do in filling orders for her customers in the house, and she did her work thoroughly, never leaving rough places in the stockings nor loose ends hanging from the buttons. She had found it a great convenience to employ her. Her Uncle Francis, hearing of her industry, engaged her to take care of his mending at fifty cents a month, and from that time Lucy felt rich; for a girl who has enough to pay her debts, give something in charity, and save a little for a future rainy day is really as rich as a young girl needs to be.—Harper's Young People.

The name of McCandless & Son, of Toronto, is directly associated with the best stained wipers in the country. There are several kinds from this veteran house, but experience tells the tale. Their equipments and personal knowledge make them peers in the Ornamental, Cut and Stained Glass trade, and we are glad to hear of the interesting success this firm has enjoyed during the past forty years.

JINGLES AND JOKELETS.

Half an Hour with the Wise Men, the Wise and the Parsonage of the Day.

National Pills will not grip or suck, yet are a thorough cathartic.

It can do no harm to try Freeman's Worm Powder when your child is ailing, feverish or fretful.

Prof. Low's Sulphur Soap is a delightful toilet luxury as well as a good curative for skin disease.

Thos. Sabin, of Edington, says: "I have removed ten corpus from my feet with Holloway's Corn Cure." Reader, go thou and do likewise.

As sweet as honey is Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup, yet sure to destroy and expel worms.

Perfect Health can only be attained by carefully attending to the laws of nature as expressed in the wants of the system. To do this successfully requires the use of Burdock Bitter, occasionally, to secure the regulating and strengthening effect of this splendid medicine.

James H. Gilmore, of T. Gilmore & Co., Wholesale Grocers, Brockville, says: "I have used Tamara Elixir for a severe cold and cough, which it immediately relieved and cured."

How it Works.

The mode of operating of Burdock Bitter is that it works at one and the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels and Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in chronic complaints.

Wheezing, snoring, asthenes from Asthma receive quick and permanent relief by using Southern Asthma Cure. Sold by all druggists or by mail on receipt of price.

The Deep Heart.

After eight days suffering from Deafness, so bad that I was unable to attend to my business, I was cured by the use of Haywood's Yellow Oil. With gratitude I thank God, your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

Mrs. Main's Beef, Iron and Wine.

If you are languid and weak, and your appetite poor, my Beef, Iron and Wine is the tonic for you.

As an invigorating tonic it is recognized by the Medical Profession as the best strengthening medicine they have produced. It is invaluable as a blood-and-muscle maker, especially in those cases where weakness is the result of imperfect or insufficient diet, wasting fevers or excess of any sort. It contains the extract of Beef, the stimulant properties of Wine and the tonic powers of Iron, and is admirably calculated to build up the emaciated system.

Rest and Comfort for the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pains in the Side, Back, or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain of Achne. "It will most wonderfully quicken the Blood and Heal as its acting power is wonderful." Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should he every family handy for use when wanted, "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Osteopatia in the stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds, and it is sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

Healing of Wounds.

Against sudden Colds, irritating Coughs and sneezes of the Throat. Keep these Druggist's Pectoral Balsam at hand for the prevalent troubles of Winter and Spring. It is the best safeguard.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion is occasioned by the want of action in the bilious ducts, loss of vitality in the stomach to secrete the gastric juice, without which digestion cannot go on; also by the principal cause of Gastric Ulcer, being the principal cause of wasting fevers or excess of any sort. It contains the extract of Beef, the stimulant properties of Wine and the tonic powers of Iron, and is admirably calculated to build up the emaciated system.

Spontaneous Coughs.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pains in the Side, Back, or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain of Achne. "It will most wonderfully quicken the Blood and Heal as its acting power is wonderful."
