On Friday the vicinity of Brookville, i the above township, was all astir, it being the anutal crisibition of the township Notwithstanding the threatening aspect of the weather in the morning the attendance was large. The cutries numbered about 900, which were far in excess of other vears. In the hall there was a splendid display of ladies' work, specimens of which would put to shame those of more pretentions places. In crock butter the exhibit was good, there being 18 entries, baskets 32 and firkins 10, and the deciding which were to obtain the prizes in these classes greatly pazzled the judges. The show of bread, pastry, honey, etc., was exoclient and the display of splendid fruit occupied one side of the building. In the soner the critical of grain was good and the berry was plamp, round and weight, the samples being rather above last season's growth. The roots were mammoth in side and gave evidence that the land in that cownship is well adapted for the growth of these articles, especially turnips, mangolds and potatoes. The flower show was small but the specimens were first class. In horses the entries far erceeded those of other years, and the majority of the animals on exhibition were very superior. There was a slight falling off in cattle, sheep and pigs, but those on the ground made up for the loss. In poultry the exhibit was good. Taken as a ricle the Directors are to be congra clated on the success of this year's show .-
