THE METHODIST CHURCH, ACTON.
Which are mostly of a local character and all interesting.
A Holiday Garden Party.
The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church are holding their first annual party of the season to be held on the evening of the 27th inst. at the residence of Mrs. J. G. Gifford, M.A., P.D. The affair will afford an excellent opportunity for all to spend the evening of the holiday in a very pleasant manner.
The Guelph "Lion's" Concert.
The complimentary concert given by Messrs. J. D. Williamson & Co., to their customers in the City of Guelph, last Thursday evening was a great success. The hall was crowded to the doors and the programme was carried out to the letter. The talent throughout was first-class and the concert was thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience.
Communication Services in the Methodist Church.
The last quarterly sacramental services of the conference were held in the Methodist church on Sunday morning, Rev. W. H. Hinks, of Nantawale, preached an excellent sermon, very appropriate in all its points to the occasion. The love feast, which followed was a time of exceeding interest and those who participated therein were encouraged and strengthened. The sacrament was administered to a large number.
Another Warning for Guelph.
One day last week at Albert Taylor, son of Mr. Charles Taylor, Grey's Corners was murdered in a shooting at a mark the gun, which was rather dirty, exploded and struck him in the face inflicting an ugly wound in the forehead and injuring the right eye. Mr. Taylor directed the wounds and the patient is progressing favorably. It was first thought he would lose the sight of the eye, but the doctor now thinks it will be fully restored.
St. Anne's Visitation Filled.
The Rev. G. D. Cooke, incumbent of St. Anne's church, Dalmonston, on Sunday morning last announced to the congregation of that church that, after due deliberation, he had consented to accept the charge of the churches in Acton and Rockwood, and that his connection with Dalmonston would cease on the first of June. A letter from the bishop of the Diocese, received by Mr. Cooke on Thursday last, urging his acceptance of the charge, was, we understand, the main cause in settling the matter. A gentleman who has known Mr. Cooke for some years says that he is a thorough Christian, and yet a liberal-minded man, who attends to his duties in a most conscientious manner, and that he is a most successful preacher, and a good pastor, and a hard-working parish priest.
Acton's Chief Magistrate.
The Georgetown Herald, which seldom has anything complimentary to say of Acton or anything pertaining to it, broke the record last week by publishing a very creditable portrait of the following Stoney accompanied by the following sketch:—W. H. Stoney, Esq., is one of the leading manufacturers of Canada. He is now, for a second time, President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. He is proprietor of the largest glove manufacturing concern in the Dominion, an establishment which is said to employ a staff of 1000 men and business last and active. In the year 1897, Mr. Stoney was Viscount of the County of Haldimand. He has been Viscount of Acton for several terms since the incorporation of that village; has a large influence amongst his citizens and takes an active interest in their welfare. Mr. Stoney is spoken of as the most Conservative candidate for the House of Commons for Haldimand and Lincoln. Mr. Stoney, ex-M.P., declines to re-accept the candidacy. Mr. Stoney will probably be urged to contest the county. The unanimous exclamation of those who have seen the Herald is, "What's up with the Herald? Wonder what's in the wind?"

HOME GLEANINGS
KNOX CHURCH, ACTON.
Interesting and successful. Sermons by Rev. J. G. Gifford, M.A., P.D.
INCIDENTS IN THE CHURCH HISTORY.
The advice in connection with the reopening of Knox Church, after the completion of the improvements, previously referred to in the "Pulse," took place on Sunday and Monday last. Upon entering the church everyone must have been struck with the changed and improved aspect presented. The old-fashioned straight-backed pews were gone, and in their place comfortable chairs were found; the woodwork and walls gave a bright and cheerful appearance; the floor was covered with a splendid carpet; the organ occupied a place of honor with the choir; the new Presbyterian hymn books were in use, and so abundant of flowers and foliage lent their beauty and fragrance in keeping with the whole.
Rev. Alexander Jackson, of Galt, preached at both services on the Sabbath. The attendance was unusually large, particularly in the evening, when the services of the Methodist and Baptist churches were withdrawn out of respect to the sister church. This act of courtesy was much appreciated by the pastor and members of Knox church. The sermons of Rev. Mr. Jackson were thoroughly enjoyed and amply exemplified the fact that he is a preacher possessing a full and complete command of nature and of God's word and a faithful and earnest preacher of the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. His evening discourse from the text: "Pulling them out of the fire," "Jude 23," was a masterpiece, and so full of thought and serious meditation that Mr. Jackson may rest assured that his act was not without its lasting effect. It was certainly attended with good results.
The social on Monday evening was a most enjoyable affair. Rev. Mr. Rice, who acted as chairman, made a very neat and appropriate address, after which all species were delivered by Revs. A. H. Drummond, of Georgetown, and J. B. Mullen, of Fergus, each of whom warmly congratulated the congregation upon the improvements effected. Mr. D. Henderson, ex-M.P., gave the following historical sketch of the church, in which many points of interest to old settlers are pointed out:—
"In the spring of 1845, the first sticks of timber were cut and drawn to Acton, preparatory to the building of the church. For some cause, however, the building of the church was delayed for a year or nearly so, and would doubtless have been left in abeyance for a much longer time, had not Mr. John Burns, then the leading spirit of its promoters by calling their attention to an offer made by a Mr. Buchanan, of Hamilton, to give the ground for the building, a very creditable portrait of the following Stoney accompanied by the following sketch:—W. H. Stoney, Esq., is one of the leading manufacturers of Canada. He is now, for a second time, President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. He is proprietor of the largest glove manufacturing concern in the Dominion, an establishment which is said to employ a staff of 1000 men and business last and active. Mr. Stoney will probably be urged to contest the county. The unanimous exclamation of those who have seen the Herald is, "What's up with the Herald? Wonder what's in the wind?"

THE WELL ESTABLISHED AND HIGH REPUTE OF OUR Dress Goods and Dressmaking Departments have been the envy of competitors and the delight of an increasing host of customers. Many people have no idea of the widely extended compass which we enjoy in these Departments. We are favored with orders and purchases from the West as far as Vancouver and every place west of the Rocky Mountains, and in the East from Halifax, and in every town and city in Ontario do we carry lines also through the largeness of our stock and the excellence of our work have been to favor us with their orders, and what is more having come to us one season they invariably come back again.
AND SO IT IS in the Millinery. Through the restlessness of human nature and the ever increasing number of people move from one place to another, but in so many cases where our customers have moved to other places we are still favored with their patronage in these Departments. These references assure us that not only our customers are satisfied, but by fair and honorable attention to the requirements of our customers, that a bond of this kind is established and maintained. And while we do not claim to have an exclusive monopoly of all the fine goods that are sold in Guelph we have good reason to know that our very large proportion of the finest goods sold go through our counters.
THE VARIETY OF OUR Dress and Fancy Goods at present is simply immense, and in certain lines—not in all—we have it established by actual comparison that our prices for goods of equal quality are in many instances lower than others in the trade. We enjoy a special and trade position that gives us an advantage over our competitors, and being contented to amount to place we make our selection of goods and our prices are the greatest and most tangible inducements come in our way. This is one reason for the difference of our styles and the fact that the requirements of every pocket and fancy find a ready response in our Colored Stock of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods.
