BUILDING.

Books are built as temples are—each book a temple, woven, wove, and bound in stone. Then the books are built, left the stones pulled off. Last of all the sky rises, leaving heavenward, higher and higher. Next the sun and sunset star. Books are built as temples are—each book a great ritual. Here a certain image of a saint; there a certain saint; here a certain saint; there another saint. Every little saint helps the much. Every careful, anxious touch adds a charm or leaves a scar. Books are built as temples are—based on Christ's eternal law. Books are built, without fear, from the bottom up, through the snow, every fair thing finds its place. Every hand finds a grace, every hand may make or mar.

—Sister Cyprian.

A PROMISE FOR LITTLE PEOPLE.

It was the custom for Cyprian to learn a Psalm every Sabbath Day. She did not learn them in course but picked out what she called "the pretty ones."

To-day it was the ninety-second, because Cyprian said the first verse was so nice: "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord."

"I think it is a good thing, I love to give thanks, don't you, mamma? Come, let us sit down and read the whole Psalm, will you, mamma?"

They were accustomed to read the Psalm together, and talk about it, so that the little girl could understand what she committed to memory.

"I like it all, mamma," said Cyprian, "only I don't quite understand these two verses, the thirteenth and fourteenth;" and she read, "Those that be planted in the house of the Lord shall flourish in the courts of our God. They shall still bring forth fruit in old age: they shall be fat and flourishing."

"Those that be planted in the house of the Lord; who are these? they are the seeds."

You saw her planting seeds in his garden last spring," said mamma. "He enriched the soil, and prepared it carefully; then he planted the seeds, and the vegetables sprung up and flourished."

"I think those who are planted in the house of the Lord are the children who are trained up to go to church and Sunday-school, to read the Bible, and love God. This is good ground for the little ones to be planted in, and they will surely grow up as Christians, and even bring forth fruit in old age. Those who give their hearts to Jesus in their early days make the best Christians."

It is beautiful to see an old lady like Mrs. Derby always doing good now, and showing such a sweet, loving spirit. Her heart is full of kindness for every one, and she always has something to say about Jesus whenever we go to see her. And there is good old Mr. Whetstone, full of faith and love and joy in the Lord. Both of these and many others, I know, are bringing forth fruit in old age: they are fat and flourishing."

And why? Because they were planted in the house of the Lord, and began to grow right in their early years.

"I see," said Cyprian; "I understand it now."

"This is a promise for the little people, don't you see?" said mamma. "It is a beautiful one, too."

Cyprian never forgot this Psalm, and especially these two verses. She gave her heart to Jesus, and when she was old, she had from year to year learned more of God and his love, it was said of her: "She still brings forth fruit in old age." —Fidel Weller.

THE UNHAPPY MICH.

I was walking home from Sunday-school with a girl of a dozen years. Abruptly she exclaimed: "I do pity rich folks!" "Why rich folks?" I said. "Little girls like you don't usually pity rich folks." "Well, I do," she said. "Why do you pity rich folks?" I asked again. "Because they are so unhappy?" "Unhappy?" "Yes, unhappy. There is my little cousin," she went on, "she has everything the wants and she is fuming half the time. Why, just very morning she wanted to go to church, and her mother said she couldn't go because there wasn't time to dress her. She had so many things to put on and such nice things that she wasn't time to get them on." —Chicago Advance.

CATARRH.

Catarrh—Great New Remedy & new Home Treatment.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane and mucous tubes.

Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result of this discovery is that a simple remedy has been formulated, whereby catarrh, catarrhal disease, and hay fever are permanently cured in from one to three simple applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks. $15.00. This treatment is not a syrup or an ointment; both have been dispensed by reputable physicians as injurious. A physician explaining this new treatment is sent on receipt of ten cents by A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 West King Street, Toronto, Canada.—Toronto Globe.

Sufferers from Catarrh troubles should carefully read the above.

Mr. Thomas' Electric Oil commands a large and increasing sale, which it richly merited. I have always found it exceedingly helpful: I use it in all cases of rheumatism, as well as fractures and dislocations.

My customer says that he never used anything more effectual. Goods immediately follow its use. I know its value from personal experience, having been troubled for 9 or 10 years with Dyspepsia. Since using it I feel no pain without that depressing feeling so well known as dyspepsia. I have no hesitation in recommending it in any case of Indigestion, Constipation, Heartburn, or troubles arising from a disordered stomach."

A VERY INTERESTING YOUNG MAN.

An extraordinary story comes from Central Illinois to the effect that a young gentleman from Scotland, whose father is worth over a million dollars, and owns a hundred thousand acres of land in the West, has just gone to work as a farm-hand for a well-known farmer at fifteen dollars a month. He wants to learn practical farming in this country in order to undertake the management of his father's property.

It is stated that he proposes to devote two years to the acquisition of knowledge in this manner.

The young man would have been weak if he had not revealed his identity to the world. He will earn something, of course, but not nearly as much as he would have if he had no one who knew who he was. It will be difficult for his employer to order him to mow the hay or feed the pigs precisely as he would direct a man, whose father was not a millionaire, to do the same tasks.

Besides, if he had remained unknown, perhaps some nice girl would have fallen in love with him for his own sake and not for his money.
