HOME GLEANINGS

Which are Mostly of a Local Character and All Interesting.

A Painful Accident.

Mr. John Cameron had his right hand badly lacerated by coming into contact with the rapidly revolving knives of a pony planer in his new planing mill on Main St., yesterday about noon. The first two fingers were badly mutilated. It was at first thought the index finger would have to be amputated, but in dressing it Dr. Lowry concluded there was some hope of saving it.

Queen's Birthday in Milton.

The greatest day's sport ever put up in this part of the country. The Milton Driving Park Association will give their opening meeting on Saturday May 24th. There will be trotting and running races for which over $300 is hung up. There will also be a lacrosse match (Dufferins of Orangeville vs Olympics of Milton) bicycle races, and other athletic sports, making a full day's entertainment. And a grand concert in the evening for the benefit of the firemen.

G. T. R. Time Table Change.

Our citizens will have observed that with the adoption of the summer time table there has been some change in the running of trains. The most notable is that of the evening train from Toronto. This is now an express instead of a mixed and runs from Toronto to Acton in an hour and twenty-seven minutes, instead of two hours or more as formerly. The train now leaves Toronto at 6.15 arriving in Acton at 7.42. There is only a minute or two of change in any other train.

Work at the Park.

The Park Committee have arranged for a mammoth "Bee" for Wednesday next, 28th inst. All our citizens and the farmers of the vicinity are requested to attend at the gap that morning prepared to work. Teams, plows, scrapers, shovels and axes will be necessary. The members of the committee are anxious to complete this work as soon as possible and as citizens and farmers are equally interested in having a fine Park, complete in every respect they feel that they can reasonably hope for a large attendance of workers.

New Post Office Equipment.

Our citizens were both surprised and pleased upon visiting the Post Office on Tuesday morning to observe the change in the general appearance of the delivery front. In order to keep up with the times Postmaster Matthews has put in a fine new front manufactured by the Yale Lock Co., of Stamford, Conn. It is of neat pattern; plate glass with brass and ash trimmings. There are now about 100 call boxes and 35 lock boxes more than in the former arrangement, and all who desire either can now be supplied. When the wood-work surrounding the new front is neatly finished to match, the effect will be neat and attractive.

A County S. S. Pic-nic Suggested.

At intervals during the past ten years suggestions have been made in Halton S.S. Association meetings to the effect that a general pic-nic which all the Sabbath Schools in the county could attend was desirable and would tend to draw the Sabbath Schools closer together. To test the present feeling respecting the matter the officers of the Association here have addressed a circular to the members of the executive and others in all parts of the county requesting answers to the following questions:—1. Is it desirable to hold a union pic-nic of the Sabbath Schools of Halton? 2. When and where should it be held? 3. Have you any suggestions to offer that might aid the executive in preparing and carrying to a successful issue the proposed pic-nic? When ascertained the result will be given in these columns.

Mr. Day's Services.

The services conducted in the Methodist church last Sunday by Mr. Alfred Day, General Secretary of the Provincial Sabbath School Association were of a very interesting character and well attended. The children's service in the morning brought out a large gathering of children with their parents and friends. The children—each class accompanied by its teacher—occupied the centre pews. Mr. Day addressed them from the words, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet," Ps. 119:105. He confined his remarks to the subject, and succeeded admirably in encouraging the children to assist him in the formation of the following acrostic showing the character of the lamp referred to in the text illustrating each step with pleasing and well told anecdotes:—

L ighted.
I nextinguishable.
G uide.
H onest.
T ried.

In the afternoon Mr. Day addressed the children of the Sabbath School reviewing the lesson of the day. In the evening he preached an able discourse from Eph. 6:10, "Put on the whole armor of God," to a large and attentive audience. Mr. Day's visit was much enjoyed. The people of Acton regard him as a man in every respect fully qualified for the important position he holds.

OAKVILLE.

On Sunday and Monday anniversary services were held in the Presbyterian church. The pulpit on Sabbath was occupied by the Rev. Neil Shaw B.A., of Toronto.

On Monday evening a tea-meeting was held; after tea was served an excellent programme, consisting of music and speeches, was given.

All joined heartily in singing the 263rd hymn after which Rev. Mr. Hunter, of Toronto, led in prayer and followed with a short address. He spoke about the unity which should exist among church members and referred to the fact that the closer people were joined together the harder it seemed for them to agree. As an illustration he told a story about a man and his wife who had had some little quarrel resulting in the two not speaking for half a day. At evening as they sat around the fire, the wife at one end of the stove and the husband at the other, the wife—for women are generally first to give in—noticed that the cat and dog were lying together on the rug and she said to her husband, "John we ought to be ashamed of ourselves, the cat and dog can agree and why can't we, should they not teach us a lesson?' The husband looked up from the paper he was reading and coolly remarked, "yes, but tis that cat and dog together and see how long they will agree." Thus Mr. Hunter said that the reason of so much strife among church members, was the fact that they were joined so closely together.

Mrs. Caldwell then rendered a sacred song in her usual charming manner.

Rev. Neil Shaw B.A. was now called upon to deliver an address. He spoke upon six subjects, "Purpose" without which life is a failure. "Prayer" the seat of meditation which brings peace to our souls and rest to our cares. "Pluck" without which we are liable to get plucked. "Perseverance" enabling us to accomplish all our purposes and designs. Then comes "Progress" helping us to mount the last step of the ladder "Success."

Another song by Mrs. Caldwell and an Italian song by Mr. Culverwell, of Toronto; and Mr. Waldie M.P. arose and gave a few remarks. Judging from what he said, he no doubt thinks that the Presbyterians would increase in number and in zeal if they were a little more like the Methodists.

Rev. Mr. Kettlewell followed with a fifteen minute address. He said he felt highly esteemed in once more being able to speak to a Presbyterian audience, in which there was a good sprinkling of Methodists, and I am sure those who helped make the sprinkling felt proud of their pastor, for had a medal been given for the best speaker he would have won it. Another song by Mrs. Caldwell and the meeting closed with the benediction.

	$19.16

Moved by W. H. Storey, seconded by T. H. Harding that the Finance report be adopted.—Carried.

The engagement of Miss Snowden, calisthenic teacher, having expired, the Board decided not to continue the classes at present.

Upon motion the Board adjourned.

MORE ABOUT WATCHES.

I show you this week some cuts of the wheels in watches, so that I may educate the young men how to fix up their own and their fathers' watches. Some of them have tried it, without being educated to it, and, as usual, when any one attempts to do something he does not know anything about they fail lamentably, and have to save up their money for a long time to pay the watchmaker for putting things right again. We often have the pieces of a watch or clock brought to us tied up in a handkerchief. But go on young men, try it again, after a while you will get experience and let them alone. Sometimes older people attempt to fix their own watches, but, of course some people are not just accountable for what they do. Young men are excusable, because they are seeking experience, and usually get it. These wheels and pinions are the exact size of those in the full size American watch, and you can readily see what a small piece of dirt it takes to fill up the space between the teeth and cause the stoppage, and how carefully and how perfectly true each wheel and tooth must be made to work into each other so nicely as they do. The small one with the peculiarly shaped teeth is called the scape wheel, and is so called because the pallets allow one tooth of this wheel to escape or pass by, each time the lever is moved backward and forward by the motion of the balance wheel. This part of the watch is called the escapement, and is the most difficult to put in order and the easiest put out of order, whether lever, verge or cylinder movement. Unless the adjustment of this part is correct you cannot get good time, and not then unless the balance wheel and hair spring work perfectly in accord with the escapement. I am afraid boys, that with the little instruction I can give you here you will not be able to do much at it, as I sometimes fail myself in the first attempt, and I have been working at it trade for about 28 years. I will give you this advice, which is often neglected even by those who call themselves watchmakers. Do not file away at anything until you know what you are doing it for, and don't leave out any pieces just because you don't see any use in their being in there anyhow. I am fully satisfied that more watches are spoiled by poor workmanship than ever wear out by their own running. A well made watch should run a hundred years if cleaned as often as needed, but they usually die by the hand of some botch long before that. One thing I never do is to allow an apprentice to do any repairing to the movements until he has been at least three years at the trade, and then he has to practice a long time on old watches of my own before he is allowed to do a customer's and my system of examining personally every job, whether watch, clock or brooch after it is done prevents much danger of bad work going out. When a workman knows that his work is going to be critically examined by his boss before it is taken away, and is given back to him if not well done, he generally does his best. It is the easiest thing in the world for a person to grow careless in anything, but I find that there is no money in being careless with my customers' watchwork. G. D. Pringle, watchmaker, Guelph.
