THOMAS O. WATKINS: Hamilton, Oct. 28th, 1890.

SEWING.

When we consider the many weary hours spent in sewing, and the amount of thought that is given to each garment, we feel very much surprised that more attention is not paid to the quality of the material selected.

For example, take two ladies buying a dress, one goes to a store which is called cheap, because they handle only an inferior line of goods...

We do not handle the so called cheap goods, by which should be properly understood, unreliable goods. We do not offer our customers what we are not prepared to recommend, and if after a trial we discover any line of goods to be of an inferior quality, it does not again enter our store.

Have you seen our new Fall Dress Goods?—In some respects the most attractive showing we ever made of these goods, and at little prices.
