FAITHFUL. A pathetic incident occurred at the funer al of the late William Fielden. Mr. Fielden had no relatives in this country and his faithful dog was the nearest mourner When the neighbors gathered to pay their last respects to the deceased they found the dog sitting at the head of the casket where he was alkned to remain until it was carried ato the hearse; the doc walked beside the hearse to the cemetery: some three and one-half miles, and when the easiest was taken into the rault he was allowed to follow; after the brief services there he returned to the old home with the ucighbors, and has been taken by Thomas Hall, to whom Mr. Fielden gave him before he died. It was stated by those who attended the funeral that the dog seemed to realize what was taking place and really ex hibited signs of genuine sorrow .- Morris

Two in a Family.

Single instances of a cure are plentiful, - but when they come in pairs they begin to show the universal good. Mr. Julius Sharnak, 97 Burling St., Chicago, Ill., U. S. A. January, 1890, saye: "My wife and fatherin-law suffered for years with neuralgia, but they were entirely cured by St. Jacobs Od." Families should not be wethout it.

Following the example of some Western States, the Massachusetts Legislature is considering a law to require eleeping car companies to keep the upper berths closed when not sold and occupied. This will give the passenger occupying a lower berth the benefit of the free sir and ventilation of the entire section when the upper berth has no occupant. A decision was rendered recently in the State Court of Iowa that railroads must fellow this plan under the
