Some parents should look after their girls better than they do .- Streets ville Recour. Some people think this applies to Acton as well as Streetsville.

-A very good story, whether true or not, is told of a Vermont deacon, who was brought before a committee of his church for horse racing," said he "I don's approve of horse racing, "but when another member of the church becomes so godless as to try to pass me on the road, I felt it my duty to prevent, him, just to keep him from patting his trust in earthly things."

-A rather amosing story is told of young boy who works in a factory, Wingham. On Monday morning last, when about to take a chew of tobacco, he observed what he thought a string in the plug of tobacco, and on pulling on it, to surprise he found he had a mouse by the tail. It is hardly to be expected that the boy will still be the user of the weed.

Wonderland of America. A very interesting and instructive enteramment was that given in Knor Church last Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid, when Prof. Panton gave bis lecture ou the "Wonderland of America," Brampton. The church was filled to the doors. Professor Panton was introduced and after a thort introduction the views were thrown upon the canvas and each in turn was graphically described. Yellowstone Park was the subject, principally. Among the scenes presented were the Terrace Mountain and Mammoth Hot Springe; Miverva Terrace; 8 views of the marvellous collection of 13 Terraces and 50 Boiling Springs; Kingman's Pass and the Golden Gate; Obsidian Cliff, a mountain of solid glass; Sulphur Mountain; 15 views, representing the most wonderful Geysers in he world in action; the Mammoth Paint Pots: 7 views showing the grand Casyon and the wouderful Fails 360 feet, with walls towering above the Yellowstone River 1.500 feet. All these views the Professor ex plained in such plain language that the roungest present could comprehend what he said. The lecture and the views gave a clear conception of Nature and Nature's Creator. At the close a hearty vote of banks was tendered the l'rofessor and Mr. Campbell for the treat enjoyed. Our Carpet Stock for the Spring of 1861 is now complete. Our buyer bore this Department specially in mind last winter, with the result that nearly every grade and variety of Carpet now produced in Europe or America is ably represented in our Carpot

Great delicacy of coloring and pattern characterizes the new designs in Brussels and Tapestry; while the New Ingrains are particularly rich and handsome in figuring and Shades. We are also showing some very bandsome Wilton Carpets as well as Smyrna and Velvet Rugs, Art Squares, Hemp and Stair Carpets, China Matting, Oil Cloths, Linoleums, &c., &c.

It is our intention to make our transactions in Carpets this Spring a pleasant memory to Carpet Buyers, and we have marked these Goods at prices that will ensure this. When to the largest stock in the city we add the additional attraction of specially low prices, we feel that the success with which the Carpet trade has already opened with us, will be sustained throughout the season.
