NOTES AND COMMENTS. Looking at all the moose sport bringing immigrants from the Old Country, it looks by the bees as if we had paid too much for our whiffle. Why spend any money on immigration at all...

A rumor is afloat that the adherents of both the parties in Kingston will unite in tendering to Mr. Blake the nomination for that constituency's vacant seat in the House. That any such nomination offer would be made is extremely doubtful...

It is remarked in some of our esteemed contemporaries that we do not want Canada as a part of the union after the recent exposure of general corruption in the Dominion's affairs. We may not want Canada with us in any event, but we do not want corruption gone, while men in office have been known to steal in the United States...

Russian troops are about to occupy Baku, in Central Asia. That Baku has for some time been virtually subject to Russia, but has been permitted, for financial reasons chiefly, to maintain the form of independence. The coming occupation will be under the pretence of maintaining order during a visit by the Amers to Baku, on which it is about to set out...

A few years ago a member of the House of Commons proposed to amend the constitution so far as the representation of the country in parliament is concerned, on the ground that the population of the country is so rapidly that the House would contain five hundred members at the end of the present century. But instead of having an increase in the House of Commons membership there are to have a decrease as the result of the recent census...

Mr. Gladstone has an article in the present number of the Nineteenth Century referring to the results of the coming general elections. Mr. Gladstone calculates that the Liberal majority will exceed 100, and while the Ministerial journals at this conclusion, they are some of them so sanguine as to assert that Lord Salisbury will be re-elected at the next election. The most they do, well informed correspondents telegraph, is to minimize Mr. Gladstone's estimate of the Liberal majority, expressing rather a belief that it will be so small as to be unworkable...

A witness who was examined on Saturday at a sitting before the public Accounts Committee and gave evidence attempted to leave the city on Friday evening. Superintendent Sherwood of the Dominion police, heard a rumor of his intended departure and caused a watch to be set on the railway. As a result the intended fugitive was found on the train on Saturday and arrested, being brought to his house, where he will remain until called on to testify. He will not only have to give the evidence, but may have to answer the charge of attempting to leave.

A GREAT CLEARING OUT OF Summer Goods.

During August we will make a desperate effort to clear out summer and light weight goods. We have thousands of dollars worth too much in this line and we want money. This means an overhauling and putting down of prices to cost and in some cases much below.

Another cut on Silk Hose, this time the price is 65 cents. These goods are cheap at $1.00, only two dozen left. The early buyer gets the plum. Cotton and Lisle Hosiery are reduced 25%.

Silk, Taffeta and Lisle Gloves in all shades. Black and Gray Mitts and Gloves which are so much sought after will not escape but must go at 80% discount.

Challies, take another tumble to 65 cents, no need to say anything about these goods, you know the regular price and you know how pretty and cool these goods look when made up.
