The Young Folks.

WRITING HER FIRST LOVE-LETTER

Over her desk within her room,
A pretty maiden bends.
To whom, I wonder, does she write?
One of her school-girl friends?
Ah, no! The smile upon her lips,
The rose in her cheek,
The tender light within her eyes
Another story speak.

For her first love-letter she writes,
And as she writes her hand
Trembles. She is as one who walks
Within an unknown land.
She hesitates, yet goes ahead.
Ah, pretty maid, beware!
The path to which you walk is marked
By many a pit and snare.

And yet she does not fear; in truth
For fear she has no cause.
It is her very happiness
That makes her sigh and pause.
A picture lies beside her there:
Her tender glances tell.
How well she loves that noble face
Where truth and goodness dwell.

"Surely," she says, "I can put trust
In him. His love to me
Will be a shield against all harm,
Whate'er our lot may be.
I have not read his eyes in vain;
In vain I have not read
The tender smile with which his first
Soft words of love were said."

Thus, with her eyes now on the page,
Now on his pictured face,
Her first love letter does she write,
While her thoughts swiftly chase
Each other toward that happy goal,
The time when she shall be
His wife, and they with love shall dwell
In sweet felicity.

GRANDMA'S PUMPKIN-PIES.

Grandma was expecting company for dinner—the minister and his wife and little girl. So she was very busy that morning cooking all sorts of good things, and among the other things were the famous pumpkin pies, made just as her grandma had made them.

Her grandma! Why, it almost made Nannie dizzy to think about grandma's grandma.

Nannie was standing on a chair close beside the table, helping grandma cook. She had come out in the country the day before to try and get over la grippe.

"I should think," said Nannie, "that that way to make pumpkin-pies wouldn't be very good, 'cause it's such old style."

"Old style's the best for pies, I guess," laughed grandma. "You see if it ain't. Now I suppose, child, you never do have 'em in the city, do you?"

"Only the kinds that lives in cans," answered Nannie. "And papa says that they can't hold a candle to yours; but I never could see why they'd want to."

"I should think they couldn't!" said grandma, decidly. "And now, child, we are ready for the seasoning. Just hand grandma the spice box over there, won't you?"

Nannie put her nose down to smell when the box was opened.

"Ah, how good, grandma! It smells more like Christmas than minister's folks, I think."

"There's ginger and mustard standing right beside each other," said grandma. "That's the beauty of doing your own work, dear, 'cause they look just alike; but I could go to them in the dark, and not make a mistake."

Just then some one knocked at the sitting-room door, and grandma had to go.

"Now, dearie, don't get into mischief, will you?"

And Nannie did not really intend to, but grandma was gone a long time, and by-and-by Nannie began to think it would be a good joke to put the mustard in the place of the ginger.

"Papa dearly loves a joke," she thought, "and so do I. How they all will laugh!"

So, quick as thought, she changed them.

"Now, p'raps it will be better than ginger. Maybe I'll discover something," she thought, trying to quiet her conscience.

When grandma came back, everything looked all right and she hurriedly seasoned the pies and put them in the oven.

"The land knows Mrs. Pipkin is the beater of a stayer," she said, as she shut the oven door, and looked at the clock.

But everything was ready when the minister's family came, and grandma's cap and Nannie's apron were stiff and spotless.

The dinner was good, and all ate as though they enjoyed it. And Grandma, who justly prided herself on her cookery, beamed with delight over the way things disappeared.

When the pies were brought on, the minister's wife said, "Now we are to have some of the famous pumpkin pie that we heard so much about."

Nannie's heart pumped down like lead as she looked at grandma's happy face as she handed around the great golden wedges.

But what was the matter with it?

They all took one mouthful, and then a hasty drink of water.

Grandma quickly tasted hers, then looked at Nannie's crimson face, and Nannie burst out crying:

"Oh grandma, it was a joke," she sobbed out.

No one laughed at all, but grandma arose and took Nannie's hand and took her upstairs and put her to bed right in broad daylight.

"O Grandma," said Nannie, when they had all gone, and grandma had come upstairs, "I am disgraced forever! I'll never play a joke again."

"Its no joke at all, when it hurts folk's feelings," said grandma.

And Nannie has been very careful ever since to remember that.—Youth's Companion.

A Buffalo doctor estimates that 5,000 people in that city are addicted to the opium habit.

Malaria.

Literally means bad air. Poisonous germs arising from low, marshy land, or from decaying vegetable matter, are breathed into the lungs, taken up by the blood, and unless the vital fluid is purified by the use of a good medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, the unfortunate victim is soon overpowered. Even in the more advanced cases, where the terrible fever prevails, this successful medicine has effected remarkable cures. Those who are exposed to malaria or other poisons should keep the blood pure by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Lady (in butcher shop)—"You can put aside about half a dozen of your plumpest partridges." Butcher—"Yes'm, am. shall I send them right away?" Lady—"My husband is out shooting partridges to-day, and he'll call for them this evening."

What Does It Mean?

"100 Doses One Dollar" means simply that Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most economical medicine to buy, because it gives more for the money than any other preparation. Each bottle contains 100 doses and will average to last a month, while other preparations, taken according to directions are gone in a week. Therefore, be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier.

He (jestingly)—"A fair hand, Julia—a fair hand; but you know, in these days they make the most perfect counterfeits out of wax or marble. Are you sure this is not one?" she (archly)—"Well, if you think it's counterfeit, hadn't you better ring it?"

The Moon's Influence

Upon the weather is accepted by some as real, by others it is disputed. The moon never attracts corns from the tender, aching spot. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes the most painful corns in three days. This great remedy makes no sore spots, doesn't go fooling around a man's foot, but gets to business at once, and effects a cure. Don't be imposed upon by substitutes and imitations. Get "Putnam's," and no other.

How the Farmer Hit the Lawyer.

A Rhode Island lawyer, who was a pompous sort of a man, being at an agricultural meeting, made some proposals, which were objected to by a farmer. "Sir, do you know that I have been to two universities?" "Well, sir," said the farmer, "what of that? I had a calf that sucked two cows, and the observation I made was the more he sucked the greater calf he grew."

A belle wringer—A pretty laundress.

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive's grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had they used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late, their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy, Mitchell, writes: "I think Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs and for three months I had a cough. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hopes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickle's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recommend it for severe colds and consumption."

Henry G. James.

Henry G. James, of Winnipeg, Man., writes: "For several years I was troubled with pimples and irritations of the skin. After other remedies failed I used four bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters and since then I have been quite free from my complaint. B. B. B. will always occupy a place in my house."

"It is a Great Public Benefit."—These significant words were used in relation to Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil by a gentleman who had thoroughly tested its merits in his own case—having been cured by it of lameness of the knee, of three or four years' standing. It never fails to remove soreness as well as lameness.

A lady having accidentally broke her smelling bottle, her husband, who was very petulant, said to her: "I declare, my dear, everything that belongs to you is more or less broken." "True," replied the lady, "for even you are a little cracked."

Aunty's Advice.

"My brother had a severe summer complaint about a year ago and no remedies seemed to relieve him. At last my aunt advised us to try Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and before he had taken one bottle he was entirely cured."—Adelaide Crittenden, Baldwin, Ont.

In Ten Minutes—Why?

The London, Eng., Figaro says: "One of our oldest subscribers writes us, that having suffered for more than ten years from a stiff and painful knee, he was permanently cured in less than ten minutes after the first application of St. Jacob's Oil, and asks how we account for this; is it not almost magical?" Answer: St. Jacob's Oil was compounded to cure pain promptly and permanently.
