The Young Folks.

Extract from Byron.

My mother she's so good to me,
If I was good as I could be,
I wouldn't be as good—no, sir!
Can't any boy be good as her?

She loves me when I'm glad or mad
She loves me when I'm good or bad;
Ah, what's the funniest thing she says
She loves me when she punishes.

I don't like her to punish me:
That don't hurt, but it hurts to see
Her cryin' 'cause I cry; an' then
We both cry—an' be good again.

She loved me when she cut and sews
My little cloak an' Sunday clothes;
An' when my Pa comes home to tea
She loves him most as much as me.

She laughs an' tells him all I said,
An' grabs me up and pats my head;
An' I hug her, and hug my Pa,
An' love him purt' nigh much as Ma.

—James Whitcomb Riley.

A TALK WITH BOYS.

I have a word for the boy who is about to enter business. You are about to launch your boats in new water. The current is swift; sometimes it will be for, but oftentime against you. Always carry your mother near your heart. She loves you, she suffered for you as no one else will. If doubt accompanies you in the commission of any act, think what she would say—would she approve? If you care for her, a little voice will speak, however far removed from those kind eyes you may be. If you love her as you should, you will then heed her commands and counsels; your skiff will always find calmer waters and less difficult to stem.

A very trying time it is—to some unconsciously so—this transition period. A boy, with all of a boy's fondness for play and harmless sport; a boy with a brain ready to receive the hundreds of impressions daily presented to it; a boy with no conception of the word responsibility, but very little of duty—how can he but make mistakes at first? He cannot—but, oh! if he would only profit by these errors! Few of us—I might almost say none—will receive the experiences of those who care for us. The child will not heed it's mother's warnings, but the little hand must be placed in or near the fire for the lasting lesson to be taught. The boy scoffs at his father's caution against some small vice—smoking, perhaps—and later on in life, with weakened nerves or impaired digestion, he will say: "Had I only listened to father!" The man, confident in his strength and the business experience of ten years, laughs at the advice of an old friend, risks and loses. So it is through life; and wise is he, and prosperous will he be, if the errors of the past are allowed to guide to future success.

Let me illustrate the unconscious wrong an honest boy did his employer. It was in September, the height of the "busy season" and a sixteen year old boy had obtained a position as assistant early clerk, his duty being to aid in charging and shipping goods. But a week he had been at his post. Saturday came, and it was the first he had ever worked. It came to him like a shock, particularly as his "nine" for which he pitched was to play a "crack" team from an adjoining town. Membership of this club he had not thought of giving up. After dinner his employer was told of his desire to leave work about two o'clock.

"Well, my boy, there are those bills to be charged."

He hadn't thought of them, and his heart sank. His club would be beaten, and all on account of his absence, so he mustered up courage.

"But, sir, I promised the boys I'd be there, and they'll be beaten sure if I don't pitch."

The response came quickly: "You can go but don't let it occur again."

That night at supper, flushed with victory—for they had won a close game—this boy told his father of the conversation and the result, adding: "He's a bully man, father."

After a few moments' thought this wise, and somewhat severe parent said: "My boy, had I a clerk in your position who made such a request, involving work left undone he was to perform, I should have told him to get out and take up baseball as a means of livlihood. You are paid $6 for a week's work, and before the first week is finished you shirk your duty. Leave your club or abandon your position at once."

The boy thought his father harsh, but he was only just; and when, on Monday morning, he learned that his "bully" employer had taken his place, and done what he had left undone, the implied and merited rebuke cut him. Manfully he apologized for his short-sightedness, and never again in the many following years did he allow any personal preference to intefere with his plain duty. Wherever neglect is trouble will follow shortly.—American Paper.

The Little Girl's Trouble.

Mr. Henry Macombe, Lee Road, Blackburn, England, Eng., states that his little girl fell and struck her knee against a coal-stone. The knee began to swell, became very painful and terminated in what doctors call "white swelling." She was treated by the best medical men, but grew worse. Finally, St. Jacob's Oil was used. The contents of one bottle completely reduced the swelling, killed the pain and cured her.

Malaria.

Literally means bad air. Poisonous germs arising from low, marshy land, or from decaying vegetable matter, are breathed into the lungs, taken up by the blood, and unless the vital fluid is purified by the use of a good medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, the unfortunate victim is soon overpowered. Even in the more advanced cases, where the terrible fever prevails, this successful medicine has effected remarkable cures. Those who are exposed to malaria or other poisons should keep the blood pure by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup is a combination of several medicinal herbs which exert a most wonderful influence in curing pulmonary consumption and all other diseases of the lungs, chest and throat. It promotes free and easy expectoration, and gives ease even to the greatest sufferer. Coughs, colds, shortness of breath, and affections of the chest, attended with weakness of the digestive organs, or with general debility, seem to vanish under its use. No other remedy acts so readily in allaying inflammation or breaking up a severe cold, even the most obstinate cough is overcome by its penetrating and healing properties.

When children are affected with colds, coughs, inflammation of the lungs, croup, hoarseness, and sore throat, this Syrup is of great importance. The number of deaths among children from these diseases is truly alarming. It is so palatable that a child will not refuse it, and is put up at such a price that will not exclude the poor. Be Bickle's.

A Severe Attack.

DEAR SIRS,—My children were taken ill with ulcerated sore throats bordering on diphtheria. I had nothing in the house but Hagyard's Yellow Oil which I used with great benefit. I am sure it is but for the use of it the disease would have developed into diphtheria. It is a splendid medicine.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to all his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe in German, French or English with full directions for preparing and using. Mr. Henry Graham, Wingham, writes: "I was in North Dakota last May, and I took a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery with me, as I did not feel safe without it. While there a lady friend was suffering with Indigestion, Biliousness and headache. I recommended the Vegetable Discovery to her and she tried it, and the result was that it did her so much good that I had to leave the balance of the bottle with her."

A Sea Voyage.

A sea voyage is an expensive and extensive prescription, especially when equally good results as regards health, are to be had by simply taking Burdock Blood Bitters according to directions. There is nothing surprising in its results, for it is made of the strongest, purest and most efficient remedies known in medicine. Nerviline cures toothache instantly; cramps in five minutes; neuralgia after two applications; rheumatism is at once relieved by its use; and the same may be said of all kinds of pain. HOW JOHN BUNYAN GOT OUT OF PRISON.

Bunyan was a sturdy controversialist, and was often very severe on the Quakers. But he learned that through the intercession of that sect he obtained his release from prison.

It is a somewhat noteworthy fact, now well authenticated that Charles II. liberated Quakers and Puritans from confinement through the personal intercession of the Quakers, among whom was Richard Carver, who was the mate of the fishing vessel which conveyed the king of France after the famous battle of Worchester, 1651. This honest Quaker sailor, after twenty years had rolled away, appealed to the king in person in behalf of those who were in prison. When the fugitive king fled for life, this sailor conveyed him on shore. The vessel was bound for Poole, coal-laden, with two passengers, who pleaded for merchants running away from their creditors. The fugitive king and Lord Wilmot were landed at Fecamp, in Normandy, upon the back of a Quaker, and the vessel, repassed the channel to Poole.

When the honest sailor appeared before his majesty, the king expressed his astonishment that he had not previously sought some reward. The sailor replied that he had merely done his duty, and God had rewarded him peace of mind.

"And now, sire, I ask nothing for myself, but that your majesty would do the same for my friends that I did for you: set the poor, pious sufferers at liberty, that you may have that peace and satisfaction that always follow good actions."

King Charles thereupon pardoned four hundred and seventy-one Quakers, and many Independents and Baptists—among them John Bunyan. Ever after Bunyan was a friend to the Quakers.

STORING ICE OUTDOORS.

"Some years ago it occurred to me to stack a little ice out doors to save the trouble of taking it from the ice house. The stack was made on the north side of a building. In the expectation that warm weather would quickly melt it, but little was put up. It kept surprisingly, and therefore large quantities were stacked yearly, until for several years past the out-of-doors stack has furnished ice for creamery and household until about September 1st. There being a scarcity of ice this year I had to use an inferior quality four or five inches thick. The stack was about thirty feet square and four feet high. It has furnished ice to cool about 300 quarts of milk per day, in creamery, besides refrigerator in house. My method is to spread a few inches of shavings on the ground for the ice to rest on, stack the ice and cover with shavings to a depth of about a foot. I have found a low stack best, as there seems to be comparatively little melted from top or bottom; but if an opening through the side, covering lets the air in it will cut away very fast, and the higher the stack the more difficulty in keeping the sides covered. I have used the same shavings year after year. I doubt whether it is important to have the stack in the shade; the shavings getting moisture from the ice, evaporation keeps down the temperature."
