LITTLE LOCAL BRIEFLETS

Which Caught the Eyes or Ears of Free Press Reporters this Week.

—Bad roads now prevail.

—Holiday stocks are now being opened up.

—Fall ploughing is pretty well over for 1891.

—Board of Education meeting to-morrow evening at eight o'clock.

—Special services are in progress in the Church at Cremon's Corners.

—The boys had a few days skating this week. It was not very safe though.

—Lorne School has engaged a new teacher for 1892—Miss Jessie McDonald, of Orangeville.

—Bragg Bros. Mfg Co., Brantford, closed its works on Saturday. The business is in liquidation.

—Mr. Martin-Murphy has been engaged to sing at a concert to be given in Georgetown on Dec. 15th.

—The three days rain caused the ice and snow to vanish, but they appeared again yesterday morning.

—The annual Christmas entertainment of the Methodist School will take place on Christmas evening as usual.

—Guelph City Council has been presented with an ambulance, built at a result Miss Annie Keating's efforts.

—Mrs. Wm. Smith, who was slightly injured by falling out of a dog cart last week, is able to walk again.

—The bylaw to raise $2,000 for waterworks for Parry Sound was carried on Friday by a majority of nineteen.

—Mr. James Brown has fitted up a building in his wood yard and put in a boiler and engine and circular saw.

—Rev. Mr. Robertson, of Penetin, preached a sound and practical gospel sermon in Knox Church on Sunday morning.

—A life-size crayon portrait, handsomely framed, given to the person leaving largest order for photo, between to-day and 25th Dec.—H. RIMMER.

—On Saturday the little two-year-old son of Mr. Wm. Bell, Young street, slipped while crossing the newly scrubbed floor and fractured his thigh.

—Knox Church Sunday School library has just been replenished with several hundred volumes of new books and will be reopened next Sunday.

—Mr. Thomas Gibbons, an employee of the Acton Tanning Co., had the left hand severely crushed by getting caught in the beet carrier last Saturday.

—Mr. George Buskin, evangelist of Algoma, spent a day last week in Acton.
He received financial aid from a number of persons whom he called.

—Rev. J. W. Rae will address Wellington County B. S. Convention at Guelph next Tuesday. Rev. Dr. Gifford, of Fergus, will also take part in the programme.

—An anniversary service will be held in the Methodist Church, Georgetown, next Sunday. Rev. Dr. Bagley, of Victoria University, will occupy the pulpit.

—St. Albans' Sunday School is engaged in making preparations for their Christmas entertainment. A concert will form a considerable part of the programme.

—Mr. A. E. Nicklin's little daughter Daisy had the misfortune to fall one day last week and again fracture her arm which was broken early in the summer.

—Mrs. B. Little has disposed of the vacant lot on the north west corner of her property to Mr. James Brown. Mr. Brown will remove his weigh scales here and erect a building over them.

—A good many people attended St.
Joseph's Church last Sunday to hear Rev.
Father Devil's sermons on "Temporal Punishment," in the morning and "General Judgment" in the evening.

—The coming fancy fair (in aid of St.
Joseph's Church) is receiving general attention from members of the congregation. Hand bills have been distributed announcing the particulars of the programme. The date is 10th to 15th December.

—The Wm. Jackson farm, N.E. lot 26, con. 5, Nassagwaya, 100 acres, was sold by auction on Friday to John McGregor,

THE NEWS AT HOME.

Mostly of Local Character, and Every Item Interesting.

Local Election Petition.

Last week, at Osgoode hall, Toronto, the bill of particulars in the petition against the election of J. Featherston as M.P. for Peel, was filed. On the same day the counter petition against the defeated candidate, W.
A. McCall, was also filed. In the counter petition there are some 87 charges of corruption against friends of Featherston. In the counter petition the Liberals make 51 charges. The trial has been set for Dec. 1st.

A Charming Sermon.

The announcement by the publishers of the Domestic Illustrated that they would this year issue a Christmas Number more beautiful and valuable than even their last year's issue has been followed by much interest. The number will be a purely Canadian work in the fullest sense, and as a souvenir to send to absent friends will not be surpassed; while its literary merit and artistic beauty combined with the magnificent supplements will render it a charming visitor in every home from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The Annual Press Meeting.

The Canadian Press Association met in Toronto a week ago. A great deal of business was gone through with, including the revision of the constitution and the inception of arrangements for the annual meeting in February. It was decided it should be held at Ottawa providing Parliament assemblies in February. From the programme already sketched out, the next annual meeting of the association should be the best in its history. Every member of the Executive was present, an unusual fact, indicative of a growing interest in the work of the organization.

New Engine and Boiler.

Owing to the constantly increasing business of the Canada Glove Works Mfrs., W. H. Storey & Son have been obliged to increase the capacity of their buckskin tannery. A new 35 h.p. engine and boiler have been placed in position the past week and other improvements will follow. This enterprising firm have in contemplation the introduction of electric light for their glove and tannery premises. The storage system is favored and will probably be adopted, as by its operation the electricity will be stored during the day and no attention necessary at night.

Sudden Death of a Young Woman.

Last Friday morning Miss Emma Masles, daughter of Mr. Christopher Masles, died very suddenly at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. J. Lee, at Campbellville. Miss Masles went over a few days before to visit her friends at Campbellville and on Thursday afternoon was taken ill with vomiting. A blood vessel was ruptured in a few hours the poor girl's life had been snuffed away. She was in her twentieth year and will be much missed by her family. It is only ten weeks since Mr. Masles called to lay the remains of his partner in life in the church and this second bereavement so soon renders his affliction heavy indeed.

The Dominion Voters' List.

Saturday was quite a field day with the local politicians, the occasion being the Judge's Court of Revision. A large number of appeals for the addition or removal of names to the lists were put in by the committee of both parties. Respecting a considerable number of these it was most nearly agreed by the committee to remit them to the court of revision.

The first five votes of the 19th chapter of Matthew was selected as the text for the evening sermon. The principal thoughts presented clustered around the affirmation that "Death does not change, much less destroy, our personal identity." Followed up with the conclusion that the children of God will know each other in heaven. He then spoke of the glorious resurrection of the body, and the various plans for building upon that the world to come was to be. Striking contrast was drawn between the subject rarely treated in an ordinary church and the remarkable clearness and eloquence of the speaker.

The subject was chosen by the pastor from the first chapter of the Corinthian Epistles, which he had read to the congregation the previous evening.

—The friends in Action of Mr. G. G. Beck will be pleased to hear again of his prosperity. George is now cashier of the Missouri Pacific railroad at Cartwright, Mo., with a staff of four clerks under him. He is climbing up the ladder with agility.

The friends among the readers of the Free Press will be pleased to learn that Mr. Philip Henshaw, who celebrated his seventy-ninth birthday on Saturday, is enjoying excellent health. Mr. Henshaw was a resident of Acton for years during his early history, but is now residing at Metamora, Mich.
