The Young Folks.

SCHOOL DISMISSED.

A boy and a girl have freedom.
An exemption from gateway and hall.
Schools, castles and schoolchildren classes.
Tag, hide and seek, tag-free and kill;
A change of slacks and stockings;
A small world wide to visit,
And a great deal of fun and company.
Public school is dismissed.

In a sort of despair, struck the neighbors,
Mostly seeming more joined than annexed.
At the parting of the ways, to whose rocks
They seldom get thoroughly used;
And with uttermost before it retreating,
Everywhere in the world they go.
And a half-sentimental blushing of windows
On the live forest flooding the street.

But I love it—there's music and pleasure
In these here scenes; even friends exclaim,
With go face but to which my whole nature
World-wide, instinctively warns:

"There's no more joy as a culture,
My eyes tell every joy as a culture,
Fishing home with my favorite sister
Two more or more amazements."

You're simple still, but I'm not
Of a schoolboy's death early took
And I recognize small chance and playmate
Whatever way round we look; I
Am still the same, though a day
The initiation mingles along.
Tight face to tight membranes
There's a mere moment.

Oh, well that the light pulse of childhood
Should thus bound and he never restrained
For the child that so surely creeps over it
With a smile, with a smile, experience gained!
And well for our nature, we grow.
That the older and wiser we grow,
The closer to innocent childhood
Should our thoughts and sympathies flow.

A Pretty Surprise.

A beautifully illustrated and charmingly bound edition of Longfellow's "Evangeline" the most popular book ever published by an American author, and one of the most famous poems in the language, to be had at the cost of "a dish of ice cream," ought to prove a popular surprise. Such a book is just issued from the publishing house of John B. Alden, New York, and is certainly one of the most remarkable products of his famous "literary revolution"—handsome type, numerous and excellent illustrations, very fine and heavy paper, gilt edges, remarkably beautiful cloth binding, with gilt title and ornaments. An illustrated edition of this work has ever before been published at less than $1.50, and that is about what you might "guess" the price of this to be, but isn't it!—Alden sells it for 19 cents! plus 6 cents for postage, but to make Stained and Ornamental Glass of all kinds a credit to the Dominion.

A Liberal Triumph.

Scores of men and women who have always suffered their creditors to blind them to Merits of Burdock Blood Bitter are now up and praise this wonderful curative power in thousands of cases, has fall it his duty to make known to all his suffering felons. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe in German, French & English with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail without charge. W. A. North 620 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Fangle—Why not?

Cause—Because I am opposed to going to extremes.

It is a vaporization or Deterioration in strength such as Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. The ingredients of this incomparable anti-thoracic and throat and lung remedy are not volatile, but fixed pure and imperishable. Pain, lameness, and stiffness are relieved by it, and it may be used with equal benefit externally and internally.

Gives Good Appetite.

I think your valuable medicine cannot be surpassed, according to the best I received from it. After suffering from headache and loss of appetite for nearly four years, I tried B. B. B. with the greatest success, finding it gave me great relief and good appetite. I now enjoy good health which I owe to your valuable medicine.

Highest Award.

A brewer makes from 60 to 70 per cent. profit on their goods, and the retailers add 100 per cent. This is hard on the man who drinks, but harder on him who doesn't.

A plea for Tensions of five shillings a week for all persons over 65 years of age is receiving the attention of well-known statesmen and journalists in England. It is proposed to levy a tax on all alcoholics and as the drink traffic is the cause of so large a portion of poverty and want, this suggestion is exceedingly appropriate.

People are not surprised togulp down everything they read in the newspaper any more than all they find on a Nickel bill of fare, neither is it good sense to stop their paper when something distasteful appears any more than to leave the table because something unpalatable to your peculiar taste is found among the viands.

Items of General Interest to Free Press Readers.

The Moon's Influence.

Upon the weather is descended by some as real, by others it is disputed. The moon never attracts from the tender, softening spot. Paterson's Healthless Corn Extract removes the most painful forms in three days. This great remedy makes no sore spots, doesn't go looking around a man's foot, but gets to business at once and effects a cure. Don't be imposed upon by substitutes and imitations. Get "Paterson's," and no other.

Joe. Beeskin, M. D. Hill, P. Q. writes:

Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil commands a large and increasing sales, which it richly merit. I have always found it exceedingly helpful; thus it relieved Rheumatism as well as rheumatism and discolorations. I made use of it myself to calm the pains of a broken leg with discoloration of the foot, and in two days I was entirely relieved from pain."

Mr. My Head.

This splitting headache, aching brow and terrible feeling can be immediately relieved and permanently cured by Burdock Blood Bitter, the remedy for headache, constipation and all disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood.

"I don't see," said Aunt Saxy, "why they should want a doctor; their temper is entirely combustible."—Colombus Post.

Her Ladyship.

Patrons of high rank in England are persons of a great remedy. Bridgefoot House, Herne, Bucks, Eng. "Lady Edwards has suffered from rheumatism for several years, especially in the knee. She was persuaded to buy St. Jacobs Oil, and after a fortnight's use of it all the rheumatic pains have left her. The relief is such that Lady Edwards will never be without a bottle."

Canada is being congratulated everywhere on the excellency of her manufactures. Art Stained Glass is prominently in the front rank of her improvements, thanks to McCandless & Son, of Toronto, who for 40 years have labored, not only to accumulate money, but to make Stained and Ornamental Glass of all kinds a credit to the Dominion.

Eternal Vigilance.

Is the price of health. But with all our prevention there are sciences always lurking about our systems, only waiting a favorable opportunity to assert themselves. Impurities in the blood may be hidden for years or even for generations and suddenly break forth, undermining health and hastening death. For all diseases arising from impure blood Hood's Straparilla is the unequalled and unsurpassing remedy.
