From the estimates which were laid before the council on Monday night by Ald. Howarth, chairman of finance committee, we are to expect a rate of fifteen and sixthtenth mills for the current year. When we remember that the estimated expenditure include the sums to provide electric light, repairs to cemetery, a sewer on Dundas st. south and other extras, we think the aldermen have done well to keep the rate down as low as it will be, without neglecting ordinary work. We believe it to be a poor policy to unglect improvements which are needed for the well being of the electorate, but the present council are going to provide these and still have a lower rate than last
