NOTES AND COMMENTS.

One singular fact emphasized at the Pan-Presbyterian Council is that while Europe has supplied America with the greater portion of its population, the continental countries of Europe now depend mainly on this country for funds for the furtherance of evangelical educational work.

The action of the county of Halton against the Grand Trunk Railway has been set down by the defendants, on an appeal from the judgment of the Divisional Court in favor of the plaintiffs, for argument in the Supreme Court at Ottawa, which court commenced on Tuesday. The case is the last on the list.

If cities find it profitable to invest millions in better streets, certainly the rural districts will find it no less profitable to invest thousands in better roads. The fact that on a smooth roadway a farmer's load need be limited only by what he can pile on his wagon ought to be proof enough of the value of good roadways without a single witness being called.

New Zealand is the first of the British colonies to permit the women to vote at elections for members of the legislative assembly. A female suffrage bill has been passed by the legislature of New Zealand, with a proviso that female voters may be registered without their personal attendance at the polls.

The outlook for Manitoba was never so bright as it is to-day. An abundant crop has been harvested in excellent condition and immigrants are pouring into the province in a steady stream. What is particularly satisfactory in connection with this immigration is that hundreds of the new settlers formerly lived in Michigan and the Dakotas and are settling in Manitoba preferring Canada to the United States.

That farm property is shrinking in value is pretty generally conceded. The Toronto Trust Company reports that farm lands in Ontario have suffered an "apparent depreciation" of 23½ per cent., owing to original overvaluation and some present undervaluations. The Toronto Trust Company, remarks the Montreal Star, is not a political body, and its evidence as to the condition of the farmers cannot be waved aside as unpatriotic pessimism.

The Ontario Government received a compliment last week from a quarter they least expected it. The Pan-Presbyterian Council came to a close on Friday, and among the many farewell speeches delivered was one by Rev. Dr. John B. Dowry, of New York. In the course of his remarks the good doctor said; "In his country they had many good public buildings, costing big sums of money, from $5,000,000 up, but when he saw their noble pile of Parliamentary buildings, and was told they would only cost a little over a million dollars, it showed him that they must indeed have an honest Administration."

It is agreeable to know that President Harrison has accepted the invitation of Brizil and the Argentine Republic to act as arbitrator in settling the boundary line between them. Twenty-five years ago these two fine South American republics would have gone to fighting about it, and have worried, through a long and devastating war, which at the end would have settled nothing. It is an evidence of that happy progress which is shoving all the world onward that now they call on their disinterested mutual friend—the United States—to see that justice is done to both. Arbitration is the thing.—Canadian American.

The Prohibition Commission after finishing taking evidence in Montreal will have their next sitting in Winnipeg about the middle of this month, and they will take evidence at all the principal points between that city and the Pacific Coast. Sir Joseph Hickson's health will not permit him to accompany the commission to the west, and Mr. Gigault, who is deputy minister of agriculture for Quebec province, will be detained by a fall session of the legislature. Judge McDonald, Mr. E. F. Clarke, M. P. P., and the Rev. Dr. McLeod will be the only members of the commission who will go to the Northwest.

In 1891, 1,168 persons were killed on railways in the British isles, according to the report of the British Board of Trade. Of these only 103 were passengers, and more than 400 were persons neither passengers nor employes, the number including trespassers and suicides. The total number of passenger trips, exclusive of those made on season tickets, was 845,463,668, which is 27,719,622 more than in 1890. Accurate returns of trips on season tickets would swell this list. But on the basis of these figures the proportion of passengers killed during the year was one in 8,206,865, and the proportion of the injured one in 524,481.

Bradstreet's has the following to say of the trade situation:—The Canadian Dominion (including Newfoundland, reports 1,287 failures to Bradstreets for the past nine months, as contrasted with 1,826 in a like portion of 1891, the decrease being only 39. But the general improvement in commercial conditions is more particularly shown in the reduced total of liabilities, the aggregate being $9,290,000, against $11,189,080 in the preceding year, a decline of nearly 17 per cent. Each of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec reduced its failure totals this year, the former to a marked degree. This year's decrease of total liabilities of those failing in Ontario amounts to 32 per cent., in Quebec to 22 per cent., while Prince Edward Island, Newfoundland, and North West Territories also show radical improvement in this direction. In Nova Scotia, as in Manitoba and British Columbia, increased liabilities shown, as compared with last year, are due to relatively heavy failures early in this year. During the past quarter a marked improvement has been shown in this direction.

ACTON UNION EXHIBITION

A Fine Show, Especially of Stock But Bad Weather Prevents a Large Attendance.

THE PRIZE LIST NEXT WEEK.

The annual exhibition of Acton Union Agricultural Society was held in the Park here on Tuesday and Wednesday, and, while a very good show was presented, like that of last year it suffered in some respects from unfavorable weather. Last year's experience affected the exhibition in various departments, particularly in the hall, but on Tuesday evening when all the exhibits were placed and the judges had completed their labors, the officers and directors were able to compliment themselves upon having a very good inside show and felt satisfied that with fine weather on Wednesday the exhibition would be an unqualified success. The attendance at the evening exhibition was considerably greater than that of the previous year and with hundreds of entries coming in for stock a big second day was reasonably anticipated. But when morning broke and the ground was seen to be white with snow and the temperature flirting with zero, the spirits of those interested also had a downward tendency. The best was made of existing circumstances, however, and the officers took their places determined to see the affair through and do justice to all who had put in an appearance. The result was really better than expected.

There was a fine exhibit of horses, superior in fact to that of some former years, and the various classes were well represented and competition was keen. Acton has had larger numbers of cattle shown but never of better quality, while in sheep and pigs the most sanguine were surprised for every pen was occupied. A very good showing of poultry was also made, though some of the best breeds usually shown were absent this year. In implements and machinery there was quite a large display.

THE HALL EXHIBITS.

Tuesday was, taken altogether, rather a fine day, but the threatening weather of the morning no doubt militated against the inside exhibit in several departments.

This was particularly the case in the ladies' department which was so surpassingly excellent last year that any falling off was noticeable. The competition was consequently not so keen and the entries considerably less numerous. There were however, many fine articles on exhibition.

In the dairy department the quantity and quality were both noticeable. The numerous special prizes induced a fine exhibit and a splendid lot of butter and cheese was shown.

The show of grain was well up to that of former years, but that of roots was somewhat disappointing. There were not more than a dozen boxes of potatoes all told. A fine display of mangolds and carrots was made. In garden produce the various sections were all well filled, excepting that of cabbage, and with the splendid cabbage crop to be found in almost every garden it is remarkable that none worth speaking of were shown.

Apples there were in abundance, of almost every known variety, size and color. Winter varieties predominated and they made the tables shine. Eight or ten fall barrels were shown for special prizes.

Considering the fact that there was no greenhouse display, the plants and flowers on exhibition presented a very attractive appearance. The show has, however, never been at its best in this department. If our citizens would go to the trouble they could gather a very fine assortment of flowers and plants, not all of rare varieties it is true, but all very pretty and homelike. It has been suggested in some quarters that it would be a wise and profitable move to give special prominence to this department by re-organizing the association as a Horticultural Society. This would add next to the inside exhibit and detract nothing from the show of stock and implements.

EXHIBITION NOTES.

Edison's phonograph was on the ground and many availed themselves of the opportunity of hearing it.

The exhibit of harness, robes and horsemen's requisites by Matthew's Harness Emporium was very creditable.

Hynds, the Jeweller, made a very attractive display of clocks, gold and silver watches, jewellery and fancy goods.

C. W. Kelly, the esteemed representative of the Bell Piano and Organ Co., Guelph, showed several fine instruments and discoursed sweet music during the fair.

The Singer exhibit by Frank Deitch was an attractive spot. His Singer sewing machines do some wonderful work.

Mr. Arthur Laing showed a fine lot of comb and extracted honey. He made numerous sales as a result.

The music by Acton Cornet Band on Tuesday evening and Wednesday was very acceptable and was favorably commented upon.

In the collection of apples, Mr. Alex. Waldie had no less than thirty-five varieties.

The prize list complete and correct will appear in next issue.

The single judge system was adopted in quite a number of classes with general satisfaction.

ESQUESING EXHIBITION.

The Show at Georgetown last week Was Quite a Success.

The township fair was never favored with more delightful weather than that of last Thursday and Friday, and the show, especially in the hall, was in many respects above the average.

The scene upon entering the hall was an attractive one indeed. Everything was neat and tidy and arranged to the best advantage. The show of fruit was particularly inviting, while the abundance of flowers and plants lent a very pretty effect to the whole. The ladies' department was graced with many specimens of skilful manipulation of the needle and the fine arts display gave evidence of artistic merit. The show of butter has often been larger, but the quality was superior. There was a considerable lack of roots on exhibition, only some half a dozen boxes of potatoes being on the ground.

The merchants did splendid work in the exhibition of goods and their artistically decorated stands made attractive points which would otherwise have been bare. The exhibits of Messrs J. H. Jackson, W. McLeod & Co. and Moore Bros. were most admired.

The show of stock was not as good as that of former years. In sheep, pigs and poultry, the pens were well filled. Horses made a very fair showing, but cattle were few and hard to find.

Owing no doubt to the numerous exhibitions on all sides of the township the attendance the second day was not as large as the show deserved. With the government grant of about $125 and the usual $50 from the Township Council it is reported that the treasurer will be able, however, to meet all demands and have a small surplus on hand.

NASSAGAWEYA FALL SHOW.

Good Weather, a Fine Exhibition and a Large Attendance.

The agricultural society of this township is to be congratulated on the success of their exhibition this year. The day was exceptionally fine although the heat was something unusual for this time of the year. The new secretary Mr. Norrish had the machinery in good working order and everything passed off without a hitch.

The society this year returned to the plan of former years and held the show on one day only, with good effect.

There was a large crowd of visitors who thoroughly enjoyed themselves, and the receipts were considerably ahead of last year.

The display of fruit was exceptionally good, as was also the exhibit of of diary products. Roots and vegetables were of a good quality, but not so numerous as heretofore. Grain was about the average. The display of ladies' work was always a feature of this show, and this year was fully up to, if not ahead of former years.

Outside, the lovers of good stock had an an opportunity of inspecting some fine horses, of which there was a splendid lot in all classes. The exhibit of sheep, especially Leicesters, was very large, and the judges had some difficulty in deciding as to who should carry off the red ticket. Pigs were not very plentiful, but were of a good quality. The show of cattle was not very large, but there were some fine animals on the ground.

The day passed off very pleasantly, and nothing transpired to mar the pleasure of anyone. The only casualty which happened was in the novelty race, when the two young men who were racing got the wheels of their buggies locked, with the result that one of the rigs was pretty badly wrecked. One of the men was thrown out but not seriously hurt.

Altogether the show, although handicapped by two other shows being held in the same vicinity on the same day, was a success, the receipts being ahead of last year.

Market Your Grain.

The following from the Monetary Times is recommended to the attention of the farmers:

The importance to farmers of marketing their grain in autumn instead of in spring has often been urged in these columns. Lying on our desk is a tabular statement showing the prices obtained for grain at an Ontario point in October and March respectively, covering a period of nineteen years. From this statement it will be seen that only on four occasions was the price higher in the spring. In two of these instances the advance was only two or three cents a bushel, certainly not sufficient to admit of any profit to justify holding. A careful perusal of the figures before us cannot fail to satisfy anyone of the reasonableness of our position on this subject. "On the average it pays much better to market in the fall than in the spring. Without counting storage, the cost of carrying wheat is fully one cent per bushel per month, and for six months would be six cents, viz.; shrinkage and insurance three cents, interest three cents. Unless the wheat is extra good, the shrinkage will exceed the amount allowed. On the above basis fifteen out of nineteen years shows a loss in holding. The average loss for nineteen years would equal eight per cent. The average gain would be less than one and a half per cent., an average loss of six and a half per cent. for nineteen years."

A Terrible Death.

KANSAS, Oct. 1.—The people of Independence avenue, a crowded thoroughfare, witnessed a horrible tragedy this afternoon. Lee Ellington, a boy ten years of age, was leading a horse to a water trough. He had tied the halter around his wrist. The horse took fright and ran away, throwing the boy to the ground and dragging him at a terrible speed along the street. The horse had run two miles before he was stopped. The boy in the meantime had been killed and his body had been reduced to a pulp.

gradually growing worse. Three years ago I got down so low that I could scarcely walk. I looked more like a corpse than a living being. I had no appetite and for five weeks I ate nothing but gruel. I was badly emaciated and had no more color than a marble statue. Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended and I thought I would try it. Before I had finished the first bottle I noticed that I felt better, suffered less, the inflammation of the bladder had subsided, the color began to return to my face, and I began to feel hungry. After I had taken three bottles I could eat anything without hurting me. Why, I got so hungry that I had to eat 5 times a day. I have now fully recovered, thanks to
