The Young Folks.

A GOOD NAME.

Children, choose it
Don't refuse it,
For a precious diadem
Highly prize it,
Don't despise it,
You will need it when you're men

Love and cherish,
Keep and nourish,
'Tis more precious far than gold;
Watch and guard it,
Near discard it,
You will need it when you're old.

WANTED TO THANK HER.

What wonder that Harold Huntleton was a proud and happy man? Had he not won the heart and hand of the fairest and loveliest girl in the hotel—the much sought after belle, whose bewildering beauty had captivated the hearts of all the other men from the gray haired old grandfather to the younger, but more knowing college sophomore?

And she had promised to be his—to marry him before the snow flew, and to match her bridal blushes against the crimson splendors of the frost kissed leaves in the coming autumn.

No wonder Harold could scarcely believe in his good luck. And as he sat by her side and watched the evening star glimmering above the orange flush which marked where the sun had sunk behind the hills, he felt moved to ask her the fourteenth question of the Lover's Catechism, i.e., "How it happened that she had chosen him out of all the men in her wide circle of acquaintance to be responsible for her future happiness?"

"Surely she must have known better fellows than he was," he urged. "Richer, handsomer, more athletic. Why had she chosen him?"

"Oh Harold, you mustn't be too modest," replied Ada as she gently pushed back the hair from his forehead. You have a great many traits which none of my other friends possess. You are so thoughtful of my welfare, so tender and considerate, so obedient to my slightest wish. I think it was those things which first won me to you, and I have never regretted it, for, Harold, you are simply an ideal lover."

"Oh my darling! You don't know how glad I am to hear you say so!" he exclaimed as he drew her to him and kissed her tenderly.

"Yes, dear, and some day you must let me meet her and thank her for what you are," continued Ada.

"Meet whom? My mother?" asked Harold.

"No, Harold, not your mother," she said sweetly. "I want to thank the girl who broke you in!"

A CABINET SECRET

On one occasion, when Lord Palmerston was Prime Minister (1859 65), rumor shook the political world affirming the resignation of the Chancellor of the exchequer, Mr. Gladstone. The newspapers were neither so alert nor so well informed in those days, and the rumor drifted about, neither confirmed nor contradicted. At length Mr. Horsman could stand the uncertainty no longer, and from his place in the House of Commons he asked Lord Palmerston whether there was any truth in the report.

The Premier approached the table in his gravest manner, and the crowded House was hushed in silence for the anticipated disclosure. He had, he said, just come from a meeting of the Cabinet Council, and could not pretend to be uninformed on the matter of the question submitted to him. The House, however, knew how stringent was the oath of a Privy Councillor, and how impossible it was for one in ordinary circumstances either to affirm or deny a report current as to what had taken place within its doors. Lord Palmerston was evidently struggling between a desire to tell something and disinclination to tamper with his oath. As his manner became more and more embarrassed, the interest of the House was quickened. He went on to observe that, perhaps, in the peculiar circumstances of the case, he would be justified in saying that the Chancellor of the Exchequer had been present, and had displayed no sign of intended resignation.

"In fact," said Lord Palmerston, turning round to face Mr. Horsman, seated at the corner bench below the gangway, "my right hon friend had his ear at the key hole of the wrong door."

Then the House burst into a roar of laughter

THE AUCTION FRUIT TRADE

The Grocer's Montreal correspondent had a long chat with Mr Frank Hart, of the well known wholesale fruit firm Hart and Tackwell, Montreal with regard to the fruit trade in that centre Mr Hart who has just got back from an extended trip through the fruit sections south and west of the line, has some interesting facts to detail about the business. He first called attention to the remarkable change that has occurred in the manner of carrying on the green fruit trade in Montreal during the past few years In former years the stock was brought to by the various wholesale houses, who had to speculate more or less if they wished to keep a seasonable stock to supply their customers with The result of this had been that the latter had to pay much higher for his supplies than before Now, however, it was entirely different, not only did cargoes of West Indian and Mediterranean fruit come direct at regular intervals to Montreal, but the orchards and fruit packing firms in California and Florida were sending stock by rail direct in the same way This was auctioned off three or four times a week for what the Montreal fruiterers had fetched and the result had been that not only were the Canadian consumers supplied with fruits of all sorts much cheaper

IT'S A MILLSTONE

About a young man's neck to be a sufferer from nervous exhaustion, nervous debility, impaired memory, lack of spirit, tired feeling, fear, aversion to society and unnecessary drains of mind and body that result from unnatural, pernicious habits, contracted through ignorance. Such habits result in loss of manly power, wreck the constitution and sometimes produce softening of the brain, epilepsy, paralysis, and even dread insanity.

To reach, proclaim and restore such unfortunates to health and happiness, is the aim of the publishers of a book written in plain but chaste language, on the nature, symptoms and curability, by home treatment, of such diseases. This book will be sent sealed, in plain envelope, on receipt of ten cents in stamps, for postage. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Life is Misery

To many people who have the taint of scrofula in their blood. The agonies caused by the dreadful running sores and other manifestations of this disease are beyond description. There is no other remedy equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla for scrofula, salt rheum and every form of blood disease. It is reasonably sure to benefit all who give it a fair trial.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills.

Responsibility educates.

Deafness Cured

GENTLEMEN For a number of years I suffered from deafness, and last winter I could scarcely hear at all. I applied Hagyard's Yellow Oil and I can hear as well as anyone now.

MRS. TUTTLE Cove, Weymouth, N S

None preaches better than the ant, and she says nothing

There is danger in neglecting a cold. Many who have died of consumption dated their troubles from exposure, followed by a cold which settled on their lungs, and in a short time they were beyond the best physician's skill. Had they used Buckle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late, their would have been spared. This medicine has no equal for curing coughs, colds and all affections of the throat and lungs.

If thou desire to be wise, be so wise as to hold thy tongue.

One morn a Peri
At the gate of Eden stood disconsolate;
Poor Peri she had a headache and had never heard of Stark's headache and liver powders, pleasant to take, perfectly harmless, and immediate and permanent in their cure of all forms of these distracting ailments. Why, Mr Flook, G T R, Hamilton, says they cured him entirely after suffering from headaches for three years and they cost only twenty five cents a box.

Romance has been elegantly defined as the offspring of fiction and love

The great results which have attended the regular use of Quinine Wine, by people of delicate constitution and those affected with a general prostration of the system, speak more than all the words that we can say in its behalf This article is a true medicine and a life giving principle a perfect renovator of the whole system, invigorating at the same time both body and mind Its medical properties are a febrifuge tonic and anti periodic. Small doses, frequently repeated, strengthen the pulse, creates an appetite, enable you to obtain refreshing sleep, and to feel and know that every fibre and tissue of your system is being braced and renovated In the fine Quinine Wine, prepared by Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, we have the exact tonic required, and to persons of weak and nervous constitutions we would say, Never be without a bottle in the house. It is sold by all druggists.

Kill the Worms or they will kill your child. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup is the best Worm Killer.

Beyond Dispute

Are your coins harder to remove than those others have had? Have they not had the same kind? Have they not been cured by using Holloway's Corn Cure? Try a bottle.

Divines and dying men may talk of hell, but in my heart her several torments dwell.

A Life Saved.—Mr. James Bryson, Campton, states: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by the physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on his advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me. I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good."

If you mean to do as well as possible the less you think about your health the better.

Thorough Digestibility and Nutritive value are two strong points in favor of Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion with Wild Cherry and Hypophosphites.

DON'T.

Don't snub a boy because his home is plain and unpretending. Abraham Lincoln's early home was a log cabin.

Don't snub a boy because he wears shabby clothes. When Edison, the great inventor, first entered Boston he wore a pair of yellow linen breeches in the depth of winter

Don't snub a boy because of the ignorance of his parents Shakespeare, the world's poet, was unable to write his own name

Don't snub a boy because he chooses a humble trade. The author of Pilgrim's Progress was a tinker.

Don't snub a boy because of physical disability Milton was blind and Kitto was deaf.

Don't snub a boy who seems dull or stupid. Hogarth, the celebrated painter and engraver, was slow at learning and did not develop as soon as most boys

Don't snub a boy because he stutters Demosthenes, the greatest orator of Greece overcame a harsh and stammering voice

Don't snub anyone Not alone because they may far outstrip you in the race of life, but because it is neither kind nor right, nor Christian Christian Advocate

WOULD FIGHT HIM FOR IT

A story is told of the late Lord Derby and a Lancaster pitman Wandering on to some land the pitman chanced to meet the owner face to face His Lordship said to the trespasser "Do you know you are walking on my land?" "My land!" Well, I've got no land myself" was the reply and I'm like to walk on somebody's Where did you get it for?" Oh explained his Lordship "I got it from my ancestors." "And where did they get it for?" queried the collier They got it from their ancestors," was the reply "An where did their ancestors get it for?" They fought for it." Well said the collier squaring up to the noble Lord "I'll fight thee for it"

Affability of Character

The cultivation of affability seems to be a necessity of agreeable social life Nothing can be more unreasonable than to lose the will to please, when we are conscious of the power, or show more lack of sympathy than to choose any kind of influence before that of kindness

He that regards the welfare of others should make his virtue approachable, that it may be loved and copied, and he that considers the vanity which every man feels or will feel, of external acquaintance must much rather wish to be surrounded by those that admire his excellencies, or solicit his favors, for admiration ceases with loyalty, and interest gains its end and retires

A man whose great qualities want the ornament of affability and other social attractions is like a naked mountain with mines of gold, which will be frequented only till the treasure is exhausted

SINGULAR CUSTOM.

A part of Bohemia, called Egra, seems to be the only place where a wedding is not considered an occasion of rejoicing There it would be deemed indecorous for a bride to appear in white garments, or adorn herself with jewels and white flowers She wears her usual black dress, with a cloak of the same color, with a rosemary in one hand, and in the other a veil with which to cover her during the ceremony In this dismal attire she demurely proceeds to the church, attended by her relations, who preserve the utmost solemnity of countenance during the ceremony.

Minard's Liniment relieves Neuralgia.

ATTENTION TO DRESS.

Appearances should not be wholly beneath the consideration of any man. Nature does not disdain them Nothing is omitted that can enhance its beauty. Everything is grouped and arranged with the most consummate skill, and with the direct and manifest object of pleasing external vision. The man, therefore, who plays the philosopher, on the strength of neglect of his attire, and who hopes that the world will rate the superiority of his intellect in direct ratio with the inferiority of his hat, is no philosopher at all, because the true wise man thinks from nature, through himself.

"Daft Jamie."

In the rural district of Scotland, on a winter afternoon, two young ladies were hesitating on venturing on a frozen pond. A simpleton known as "Daft Jamie," happened along. "Here's a penny for ye," says one of the girls; "we were wonderin' if the ice was bearin'." "I dinna ken," says Jamie, "but we can try," was Jamie's obliging reply. As they approached the ice the ladies tried to put their cavalier in front. "Na! na!" says Jamie, "ladies first I may be daft, but I'm no' ill-bred."

Free thinking often means thinking that is free from the restrictions which accurate knowledge of the recognized laws of reasoning lays upon scientific investigation.

Remember that nothing will supply the want of prudence, and that negligences and irregularity long continued will make knowledge useless, wit ridiculous, and genius contemptible

An Odd Thing.

About a rain storm is, that the harder it rains the more soft water falls; and another thing is, that the more water falls the faster the water falls go. And speaking about rains, no matter how low you buy an umbrella, it always goes up when it rains. Some men only need a few 'drops' to raise a storm (when they get home).
