THE SPELLING MATCH.

Ten little children, standing in a line
"F-i-v-e, fully," then there were nine
Nine puzzled faces fearful of their fate,
"C-i-l-l-y, silly," then there were eight.
Eight pairs of blue eyes, bright as stars of heaven,
"B-a-s-e-l-y, basely," then there were seven seven grave heads, shaking in an awful fix
"L-a-d-y, lady" then there were six
Six eager darlings, determined each to strive
"D-u-t-e, duty," then there were five.
Five hearts as anxious, beating more and more
"S-c-h-o-l-a-r, scholar," then there were four
Four months like rosebuds on a red rose tree
"M-e-r-r-y, merry," then there were three.
Three pairs of pink ears, listening keep and true,
"O-n-l-y, only," then there were two
Two sturdy laddies, ready both to run,
"T-u-r-k-y, turkey," then there was one.
One head of yellow hair, bright in the sun
"H-e-r-o, hero," the spelling match was won

Bride—Are you going to leave this early, Alonzo? Alonzo—I'd give ten years of my life to remain longer, darling, but I'd be fined a dollar if I missed my lodge meeting.

Frances and her papa had a few squares to go, and the latter asked: "Frances, shall we walk or take the street cars?" "Well, papa," replied the little girl, "I'll walk if you'll carry me."

"I think I will take a holiday the next three weeks," remarked the secretary and treasurer of a private company to the chairman thereof. "But you returned from one but two weeks ago. "True that was my holiday as secretary. I wish to go now as treasurer."

"CANADA'S FAVORITE."
WESTERN FAIR
Agricultural Arts Exhibition
London, Canada.
SEPTEMBER 13th to 22nd.

It is with pleasure that we call attention to the advertisement, which appears in this issue, of this Great Fair, for such it has grown to be. It is now second to no Live Stock and Agricultural Exhibition on this continent. Ever since 1868 it has steadily increased in size and importance, and is now looked forward to as an annual source of enjoyment as well as instruction to the people of Canada. It is desirable that these Fairs should be maintained for the benefit of all, but especially the farming community, as they afford opportunities for seeing the steady advancements in agricultural machinery, the improvements in live stock, and numerous new varieties in field and garden products, together with the latest inventions of all kinds. Each year brings its requirements and necessary improvements in the grounds and buildings. This year it is along the line of "public comfort," and the Directors have decided to expend some of their surplus funds in this direction, and the visitors to the Western Fair of 1894 will find themselves better provided for than by any other Fair Association in this province.

The exhibition of Live Stock of all kinds promises to excell, in excellence and numbers, past years, and the exhibits of Agricultural and Horticultural products only depend upon the production of the country, for, as in the past, specimens of every description will be on exhibition.

The alterations being made in the internal arrangements of the Manufacturers' and Liberal Arts Building will add largely to the heretofore attractive displays, and already several very wealthy firms have signified their intention to expend considerable money on fitting up their sections and some extra fine exhibits may be looked for.

The special features, many of which have been already engaged, are the best for exhibition purposes that can be procured. The Special Attractions Committee are alive to the public demand for this branch of the show and have spared neither time nor money in making their selections. Among those already secured are the famous Grecio-Roman Hippodrome & Chariot Racing Company. The Kemp Sisters, a new feature in Balloon Racing, a lady and gent going up on one balloon and racing down on separate parachutes, making a very exciting act. Professor Calverley, Niagara's Hero on the High Wire, who gave such a daring exhibition last year, and who met with so serious an accident, which was noted throughout the Press of the Continent and Europe. The Celebrated European Eccentric Grotesque Pantomimist, The Albions, originators of the Acrobatic Comedy; C. W. Jarrett, America's Greatest Illusionist, "Rajah's" Wonderful Table Pyramid, Trained Seals, Alligators, Prairie Dogs, and the best Pyrotechnic Displays ever given on their grounds.

Intending exhibitors should make their entries at once, and those desiring Prize Lists, Programmes or any information pertaining to the Fair will receive it promptly by writing the Secretary, Mr. Thomas A. Browne.

Remember the dates, September 13th to 22nd.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

If Its History and Records Were Written There Would be Many Large Volumes.

IT STANDS FAR ABOVE ALL OTHER MEDICINES

If the history of Paine's Celery Compound was written, and all its wonderful and almost miraculous cures given in detail it would make a number of large volumes. Paine's Celery Compound has a history, though unwritten, that will never fade from the minds and hearts of those who have used it.

Men and women who suffered for long years from nervousness, sleeplessness, dyspepsia, rheumatism, neuralgia and headaches, have been cured permanently and their lives made happy and bright. Paine's Celery Compound has been the friend of legislators, bankers, the clergy, lawyers, merchants, farmers and the ordinary laborer. Our best and noblest women have used it. The wives of farmers and artisans knowing its life saving virtues. No other medicine in the world has such a home reputation for honest work and certain, sure cures. To day our best physicians prescribe and recommend it, and say they know of nothing else as good. Truly "Paine's Celery Compound Makes People Well."

Mr. Hugh Miller, Druggist, Dundas St., East, Toronto, says "Beecham's Liver Lozenges embody a new departure in medicine, and the idea is certainly a good one, as all unpleasantness is done away with and a person gets an effectual yet gentle laxative without any of the nauseating effects produced by pills. ## SOME QUEER FOODS.

There is an old proverb to the effect that what is food to one man is poison to another, and the proverb is well illustrated at the Department of Agriculture at Washington, remarks an exchange, by an odd and varied exhibit of queer foods eaten by out-of-the-way people. Among the articles in the exhibit is a loaf of bread made from the leaves of a plant that is allied to the century plant, as also another kind of bread from a dough of juniper berries. The latter is relished by some kinds of Indians, while others make cakes out of different kinds of baths. The prairie Indians like a dish of wild turnips, and the "screw beans," which grow on mesquite bushes, are utilized by Indians for food. Soup bones furnish an agreeable diet for some tribes. The Digger Indians in California do not disdain the scrolls of salt grass, and the seeds of weeds are consumed in the shape of a mush by Indians in Arizona. The chief article in question includes a jar of pulverized cricket, which are eaten in that form by Indians of Oregon. They are roasted, as are also grasshoppers. These delicacies are cooked in a pit, being arranged in alternate layers with hot stones. After being thus prepared they are ground to powder. They are mixed with pounded acorns or berries, the flour made in this way being kneaded into cakes and dried in the sun. Among other curious things used by Indians for food are acorns, sunflower seeds, grape seeds, flowers of cat tails, moss from the spruce fir tree, and the blossoms of wild clover.

ORIGIN OF "EXCELSIOR."

The origin of the word "Excelsior," as applied to wood shavings to stuff furniture, has puzzled many people. In 1860 the representatives of a factory in Maine, where the material was first made, showed samples of it to Manton, Gosser & Co., dealers in bedding and hobbistry supplies in Boston. A member of the firm became impressed with the possible value of the article, asked what it was called. It had no name. The evening Post says, Mr. Grover, having attended a concert where he had heard Longfellow's poem "Excelsior," recited for the first time, exclaimed: "we will call it Excelsior," and by that name it has been known ever since. Excelsior was made of pine and poplar. The war cost as high as $1.50 a ton. Now 25 tons of soft wood are cut up to make the material which is sold at $5 a ton.

Looking at the [illegible] it is hard to believe that one of them might have been made by ants, so very small their step and so crooked their way, excitable little creatures that with all their hurry never seem to get anywhere in particular, and whose whole interest seems to be that of turning aside from obstacles. They are evidently getting somewhere, and on reflection it occurs to the observer that these must be the tracks of those shrewd merchants who 'got there' by jumping from one Advertisement in the Acton Free Press to another, and as we ponder their prodigious strides, those beautiful lines of the poet come to mind:

Footprints that perhaps another
Sailing o'er life's troubled main,
