A NEW YEAR'S PRAYER.
This act of our Father, dear God, we pray for thee, O Father, in the name of all thy saints and angels, and in the name of thy Holy Spirit, who dwellest in us, and who art with us, and who art in us, and who art for us, and who art with us, and who art in us, and who art for us.

With a Provino.
I was muddled in mind, but I was not in a hurry to get on my feet. I was muddled in mind, but I was not in a hurry to get on my feet. I was muddled in mind, but I was not in a hurry to get on my feet.

NEW YEAR'S IN JAPAN.
On New Year's day the Japanese trade men and their customers small offerings, usually of something in their line of business. A greener will give perhaps a pound of sugar or a little package of rice. Every present, large or small, costly or cheap, is accompanied by a little folded sheet of paper a few inches in size. Some times this is of crimson or gold paper or sometimes blue or silver, according to the taste of the giver.

REMEMBER ERRORS OF THE PAST YEAR.
There has been no sin, no stain, no perfect life on the earth and no other. True, through a thousand years of a cold and even temperance, there have been those who have possessed their souls in great peace and without the turmoil and trial that sooner or later overtake the great majority of men and women. In the history of the past year, I have seen a man who had never heard of Miss Graham. In his morning travels a little phoebe passed him, passed him to come up, and Miss Graham, leaning back, held out her hand to the young physician.

NEW YEAR THOUGHTS.
What the Day Has Brought and How Covered Home.
New Year's Day, though not Jan. 1, always has been celebrated religiously or socially from time immemorial. The ancient Romans commemorated it to Janus, who, it was thought, controlled all beginnings and made sacrifices to him. They exchanged gracious greetings and wishes and gave presents to friends and kindred. The church commemorated its social observance and turned it into a religious festival. The Hebrews, the Chinese and other peoples, pagans and heathens, regard it as a religious festival.
