THE NEWS AT HOME.

Monthly of a Local Character, and Every Item Interesting.

The New Home Building.
The three large blocks in course of construction for the new home town, show much progress daily. The frame of the new 30x100 building at the sole leather factory is about completed and the iron covering will shortly be put on. At the 4, T. R. station the frame work on the 25x50 building is up. The large gang of masons and bricklayers are rushing up the walls of the 50x150 building. The scene of operations is a busy one at the site of each building.

Local Social at Mr. L. McMillan's.
The Ladies Aid of Knox Church were favored with a delightful evening for their annual social at the home of Mr. L. McMillan, Friday evening. The number of guests was greater than the capacity of the conveyances provided and many were consequently unable to be present. There was, however, a large attendance and a most enjoyable evening was spent. Acton Cornet Band played several programs on the spacious lawn where the guests were assembled, and the Artillery band also performed credit with their music.

An Attractive Public Hall.
Acton has one of the most attractive town halls in the country. It has been in constant use for ten years, yet its appearance, interior or exterior, gives no indication of a decade of use and wear. The outside looks very well in its new coat of paint and the interior is attractive throughout. In order to aid the caretaker in his work the profitable piece of municipal property is being put under the management of the Council. The Council has caused plans to be posted throughout the building prohibiting the use of tobacco in any form, or smoking in the premises. The constable is instructed to prosecute all offenders.

The Gospel in Song and Sermon.
Evangelistic services were commenced in the Baptist Church, Tuesday evening, and will be continued each evening this week and longer. The pastor is being assisted by Rev. J. J. Whyte, of the White Brothers, and his daughter. The celebrated harp, formerly owned by General Gordon, will be used to accompany the singing. A cordial invitation has been extended to the public and both Tuesday and Saturday evening the church was so crowded that all who wished could not gain admission. Owing to the illness of her mother, Miss Whyte has not yet arrived but Mr. Whyte hopes to have her assistance later in the week.

Harvest Festival Services.
The Harvest Festival services in St. Albans Church this week were very successful. The church was so satisfactorily ordered in acknowledgement of God's bountiful goodness. There was a large congregation on Friday evening, when the services were most beautifully rendered throughout and the Rev. Dr. Snowy, of Toronto, preached an eloquent sermon on "The Joy of the Harvest." The services were continued on Sunday with the same vitality and beauty. The church in the evening being filled to overflowing. The offering on both occasions was a free will offering and was very liberal. Harvest Festival services will be held at Rockwood on Friday evening when Rev. P. T. Mognet, of Mississauga, will be the preacher.

The Local Church Services.
At Sabbath the congregations of the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches will be united and Rev. J. W. Rao will preach morning and evening. The service in the morning will be in the Methodist Church and will commence at 11 o'clock. In the evening the united congregations will meet again in Knox Church at the usual hour. Rev. J. McIntyre preached in the Methodist Church last Sunday. His address was both practical and helpful and were delivered with an earnestness which could not fail to impress his hearers. Mr. McIntyre is a young man of brilliant promise and his career will no doubt be a successful one. Special services were commencing in the Baptist Church Tuesday evening. They will be continued during the week at least.

The Book of the Fair.
Part VIII of the elaborate work contains a detailed description of all the principal State Buildings, whose magnificence and representative character were so generally remarked at the World's Fair. The author and his corps of associate artists begin with the state of Illinois, whose splendid display, together with those of Iowa, Kansas, California, Washington, Idaho and others is among the features of the exposition, forming as it were, a fair within a fair, though on a minor scale as compared with what each has to show in the main departments. The final pages of the number before us are devoted to the Midway Plaisance. Entering the broad avenue devoted to this unique congress of nations, a little to the west of the woman's building, the visitor passed between walls of residential villages, from mosque, and pagoda, Turkish and Chinese theatres, and the wonders of colonial days, past the cabinet of South Sea Islanders, of Japanese, Egyptians, Hindus, Indians, among their hats of bark and straw which hid of yet a rural environment. All of this novel and heterogeneous exhibition is fully described by pen and pencil. For the Book of the Fair address The Mansfield Company, Auditorium Building, Chicago.

The Fire Protection by-law.
The Municipal Council has with commendable promptitude introduced the by-law to provide fire protection, passed it through the various stages necessary, and it is published in these columns so that all interested may have an opportunity to understand its provisions. There have been some extravagant prophecies as to the cost of the Fire apparatus which the by-law makes provision for, but the Council has prepared a careful estimate and the sum named in the by-law is intended to completely cover all the expenditure necessary to secure a first class and adequate outfit without any extra expense whatever. This means not only a standard steam fire engine, complete supply of hose and ladders, but the putting in of sufficient permanent brick tanks to provide that every property within the corporation limits be satisfactorily covered. We are confident that the by-law will carry with an overwhelming majority. It is to be noted that all who are in serious peril with our present lack of adequate protection, and, further, be cause the individual annual cost of the protection proposed will be comparatively trifling. It is to be noted that all who are in serious peril with our present lack of adequate protection, and, further, be cause the individual annual cost of the protection proposed will be comparatively trifling.
