The Young Folks.

THANKSGIVING.
The year always November 22nd.
Through the leafless jungle plays about
And finds its way to the house.
With mother's love the home abounds.
The birds that eat the bread must bear
No more than man and the dog.
Of hope as fruitless as the tree.
The world is full of misery but
But in India never spot than home.
Today with quietude, peace, rest,
Old times old voices chime and call.
The dreams of many a vagrant soul
Are broken at this festival.
The world is full of misery but
But in India never spot than home.
Hoof's Pills become the favorite cathartie
With every one who tries them. 25c.

Distressing Kidney and Bladder Disease.

The table should be spread with snowy misery, the glass and silver polished to the last degree of clearness and brilliancy, and no detail perfect left unpolished, are served. The diarrhoeas are especially beautiful and inexpensive at this time of year, and a bowl of them in yellow in the center of the table, in very effective. And everything must be list, piping hot, and served in a dignified manner—not banged on in the fashion which certain country maid's think adds to the flavor of a family dinner. Selected.

THE TURKEY GAME.

Years ago an old turkey whose master had some fine, fat turkeys made up his mind that he must have one of those turkeys, so he sold all his other turkeys to work to get his master. "I pray thee to Lord," he said, "dat he would send me one of dem turkeys. I pray dat wye morn in and about for a week, but still dat turkey didn't come, and I tell you my mouth was jess a water for it. So I says to myself I must change dat prayer, and so I prayed one evenin dat Lord would send me one de turkey, and, brethren, dat turkey was here before daylight."

WHEN THE HARVEST IS GARNERED.

More than past setting in the calendar, Thanksgiving is the holiday when the harvest is reaped. Not even Christmas is to man as we popularly a holy day. For when the late November invites us to recollect the gathered sheaves, the ripened fruits, the finished labors of the husbandmen, the rest of nature after weeks of toil, then in beautiful unity, our nation gives God the praise.

AN AFTER DINNER NOVELTY.

A novel idea for a family Thanksgiving party is to have the maid appear at the end of the dinner bearing on a silver salver a very large live turkey. The turkey should be made of paper, made stuffed with tiny souvenirs. Gas ribbons are scattered over the lower part of the salver, a ribbon for each guest. When the ribbon is pulled, out comes a present. Children and old folks, too, will enjoy this immensely. New York World.

REMEMBER THE "OTHER HALF."

We, who have comfortable homes and shall spend our Thanksgiving among friends with turkey, cranberry sauce and good cheer, we, upon whom a kind Providence has bestowed the common blessings of life's needs, we, who upon this Thanksgiving day, 1895, have everything—good health, home, friends and turkey how many of us think how the "other half" live?

SOME EARLY THANKSGIVINGS.

During the war of independence, we appointed out days of thanksgiving. They fell in April, May, July and December. The appointments were made in the form of recommendations to the heads of the various state governments. With one exception congress suspended business on the days appointed. Chicago Post.

Enter His Gates With Prayer.

"Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise; be thankful unto him and bless his name." Psalm c. i.
