The Young Folks.

"I LIKE THE GIRLS," etc.
"I like the girls, with the best features,
Or he was a gay, fun-loving youth,
With a bit of a lorgue and a touch of blarney,
And a twinkle enough that he speaks the Truth.
And if ever he went to a wedding or party,
The girls from Killumlock, Kilworth and Kilkeel,
Trot and Kilkenny,
Would rock around Barney,
Declaring that he was "a birth of a boy."
"I like the girls, I've a host of emus."
Said Barney, giving his mouth a twist,
And I haven't kept count; but I know that
There's a lot more.
And those of them I have hopped and kissed.
But King's lackeys, and girls ought to know
It,
And so my unscrupulous heart is done
By a lot of blarney.
In your little seats, all day long,
That I like all the girls, but only one.
Many a heart from its dream will awaken,
To learn "With sorrow, regret and shame,
That for years and years it has been mistaken,
That love and liking are not the same.
Nothing can be better than a bit of blarney.
From one like Barney, my turtle dove,
Through himself he places
In your good graces.
It may be somebody else does.
JOSEPHINE POLLARD

A REAL KNIGHT.

A peaking sight it was, I do assure you, Not the first part of the scene, for the little maid was crying bitterly. Something very serious must have happened. Wondering, I paused; when around the corner came my knight. On a prancing steed, wearing a glittering helmet and greaves of brass? No; this is a nineteenth century knight, and they are as likely to be on foot as on horseback. Helmets are apt to be straw hats or derbyas, and as for greaves, well says Harper's "Road Table." This particular knight was about your old school straight and spied. Quickly he spied the damsel in distress. Swiftly he came to her aid.

"What is the matter?" I heard him say.
Alas! the "matter" was that the bundle she had had "burstled" and its contents were open to view. Probably the small maid expected a knight scolding for carelessness. And, indeed, who ever put that soiled shirt and collar in her care might reasonably have been vexed.

A new piece of wrapping paper also proved too small. Must the child get her scolding? No wonder she had sobbed so mournfully.

Hot the boy was not blamed. He tucked the "burstled" bundle under his arm. "I'll carry it to the laundry for you," he said, in the kindest voice, and off the two trudged together.

Soon after I met the small girl again. She was comforted and serene.

"Was that boy your brother?" I asked. She shook her head.

"A real gentleman!" said I. "A genuine nineteenth century knight. Bless him."

IRISH WIT.

They are telling a story on a well known and now wealthy Irishman of this city, which, it is said, happened before he was either wealthy or so well known. Judge McCarthy, so the story goes, had been killed by an accident, and the problem was how to break the news to his wife. The Irishman in question volunteered to break the news so gently that it would not jar on the most sensitive feeling. Putting the body in a wagon, he started for Mrs. McCarthy's residence.

"Where is the Widow McCarthy live here?" he asked, signifying.

"She does not," said Mrs. McCarthy.

"But inside she does. The Widow McCarthy does live here," he insisted, with more significance and greater emphasis on the "where."

"But she does not," replied Mrs. McCarthy.

Disgusted at her lack of perspicuity, the bearer of the bad news asked in despair,

"An' fail, does Judge McCarthy live here?"

"Mrs. McCarthy,"

"Well, I'll bet ye ten dollars he does not."

"But he does," insisted Mrs. McCarthy.

"But he does not," insisted Pat. "I'll bet ye ten dollars he does not," and then, in utter despair, he added, "For I've got his corpse in the wagon, and a fairer woman was never seen at a wake." Kansas City Times.

ROTHSCHILD'S MAXIMS.

The following is a copy of the alphabetical list of maxims framed and hung in Rothschild's bank. Baron Rothschild used to recommend these rules to young men who wished to "get out" and achieve success in life.

Attend carefully to details of your business.

Be prompt in all things.

Consider well and then decide positively.

Dare to do right, fear to do wrong.

Endure trials patiently.

Fight life's battles bravely, faithfully.

Go not into the society of the vicious.

Hold integrity sacred.

Injure not another's reputation nor his.

Join hands only with the virtuous.

Keep your mind from evil thoughts.

Lie not for any consideration.

Make few acquaintances.

Never try to appear what you are not.

Observe good manners.

Pay your debts promptly.

Question not the veracity of a friend.

Respect the opinions of your parents.

Reserve money rather than principle.

Touch not, taste not, handle not, importuning drink.

Yield not to discouragement.

CARDINAL MANNING ON CHILDREN.

"I have sometimes thought, when looking upon a church full of children there is nothing more beautiful than the sight of God. A beautiful garden of roses, lilies, and lovely flowers is sweet and beautiful to the eye. The hand of some guards and watches over it so that harm can enter. Sometimes a storm of wind or hard break the roses, destroys the roses and makes ruin where all was sweet and orderly. But the rose and the flower are the garden, and when they see this, everybody is touched to the heart. Everything loves and sweet, trampled down and crushed, makes one grieved; but in the sight of God, not the most beautiful garden feels touched by the hand of man, not even Paradise, not even the garden of Eden with all its glory and beauty of flowers and fruits, so bright and glorious as are the souls of little children in whom the Holy Ghost dwells."

CURED OF SCIATICA.
THE EXPERIENCE OF A BRUCE CO. FARMER.

Baffled So Severely That He Considered Suicide, but Was Able to Be About His Work as Well as Ever.

From the Wallachian Folio.

During the past few years the "Telegraph" has published many statements giving the particulars of cures from the use of Dr. Williams' Pine Pills. They were all so well authenticated as to leave no doubt as to their complete truthfulness, but had any doubt remained it is but vestige that could have been accomplished after all other preparations had failed.

How's Pilla cure all liver ills, biliousness, gout, indigestion, sick headache.

When the devil goes to church he doesn't always scoop a back seat.

We Have Found.

That no remedy in the market affords such prompt relief in toothache, neuralgia, and rheumatism as Nervine, and its action in cases of cramps, colic, &c., is simply remarkable.

It is a remarkable statement that from knowledge of the composition of Nervine no tamey could surpass it as a family remedy, and that in every house hold a bottle of Nervine should be available for external demands. Readers of this paper should try Nervine.

It is hard to convince a bilious man that the world is growing better.

Norway Pine Syrup cures Coughs.

Norway Pine Syrup cures Bronchitis.

Norway Pine Syrup heals the lungs.

The man who gets rich at the expense of his conscience, pays too much for money.

"It is a Great Public Benefit." These significant words were used in relation to Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, by a gentleman who had thoroughly tested its merits in his own case, having been cured by it of lameness of the knee, of three or four years standing. It never fails to remove sores, as well as lameness, and is an incomparable pulmonary and expectorant.

When a Texas militia company all got drunk the other evening, couldn't tell which a genuine case of a sprain de corps

Coughs, colds, asthma, hoarseness, bronchitis, etc., yield at once to Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, the successful Throat and Lung Specific.

Whoever improves his opportunities will soon be improved by them.

Holloway's Corn Cure destroys all kinds of corns, warts, root and branch. Who then would endure them with such a cheap and effectual remedy within reach?

There was no use, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir. The very nature of many cures being such that were the germs of other, and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtained in a sound undiluted state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and successive action it cures all internal complaints and diseases, and, in the influence which Quinine exerts on the various restorative organs, dispels the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid depression and lack of interest in life is worth to his race.

There are so many cough medicines in the market that it is sometimes difficult to tell which to buy, but if we had a cold, a cold or any affliction of the throat or lungs, we would try Buckley's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. Those who have used it think it is far ahead of all other preparations recommended for such complaints. The little folks like it as it is pleasant as syrup.

A woman can always trump up a good excuse for going down town.

That breaking persistent, distressing cough can be quickly cured by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It cures all Throat and Lung Troubles.

Solomon got a good deal of his wisdom in the school of experience.

Naught lives in the same house with the man who gets mad quick.

Feaver and Ague and Bilious Disease are easily cured by the use of Dr. Wood's Pine Syrup. It not only cures the stomach and glands from the bilious matter, but they open the secretory tubes causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

Some women's idea of a good time is to go to a funeral when they can cry.

Burdock Pilla, small, safe and sure, removes worms of all kinds from children or adults.
