The Young Folks.

THE BEST LIVER OF ALL.
There is nothing more comfortable,
Waiting for Christmas Day.
And they wondered, when saw them,
What the little girl would say.

They hoped that the morsels life was gay
And they knew that they would find
The girl's gift always gay,
And the hope was that she had.

New Year was old still mostly dressed
In a new black, red and gold.
She smiled at the French dolls, as to that,
Don't feel afraid," she said.

The most dull turned their waxen heads
To see a little girl a child,

As if they needed a young baby.

That's all she was there.

"We're not in the least afraid," said one.

"We are quite to fine and gay,

But perhaps you will find that now."

The children stood about the studio,

The smile, although she knew,

Her plaster nose was almost gone,

And her cheeks were faded, too.

And now it was day, in which the child,

There all day, in which the child,

Was a happy eight.

She painted their coats and nests, too;

How finely they were dressed,

But the old doll all the while was held

Claqued close against her breast.

A QUALITY MOST DESIRED.

Among the qualities most be desired in a young girl's character is a high sense of duty, and a desire to do her best to render the need of being always above everything pretty or small, so that one would not for a single moment ever be tempted to do a mean or underhand thing, to speak unkindly of a friend, or to repeat a conversation which was confidential.

It may happen to you, for instance, to be visiting in the house of a relatively friend, where there may be a little friend at the table, or where some anxiety arises about the course of a member of the family. No doubt you will be in such an honorable person, to be silent about it, or to make no remark, and thus making comments not looking as if you could tell something if you chose, nor in any way alluding to what is important, at any future time. A guest in a home cannot be too careful to guard the good name of those under its roof, for it is an honor to be a guest in the first place, and honor is demanded in return.

Again, a nice sense of honor in matters connected with money is very important. Politely treat all a society, and a social gathering, or an emergency lends those funds to other people, or borrow them for her own use. I know a girl, Polly, was her name, by whom she was induced, being treasurer of a certain guild, to lend her brother, for one day, the money she had in her care. The brother was older than Polly, and a very persuasive person. He said, "Why should you hesitate? I'll bring it back to you to-night, and it will oblige me very much if I can take that fifty dollars." Finally, Polly perforce her scruples to be overruled. The money was not brought back, but for her father's kindness in making it good she would have disgraced as a dishonest treasurer. She told him long afterward that the lesson had been burned in her mind never to take liberty with money which she held in trust. Harper's Round Table

THE LEACH.

Recent observations on the comparative anatomy of this little animal have made known us, that just within its mouth it is provided with three sharp points, each armed on each side of its body with a row of minute sharp-pointed teeth, much resembling the teeth of a saw. Each tooth has its appropriate muscular apparatus for its peculiar action, and thus is explained the constant shape of the wound observed after the application of this very useful animal.

Borrowing books and not returning them is theft.

Nothing is truer than that God loves a thief.

Prayer is one of the mightiest and most uplifting forces in the universe.

You may decry the world, and even yourself, but you cannot decry God.

The Christian's secret of a happy life lies not so much in the personal enjoyment of religion as in an active service for the Master. The one is not to be despised, the other cannot be overlooked, except at the part of the soul.

A doctor who has investigated, writes:

Toronto, August 4th, 1866.

As you have asked me to give you an opinion from a medical stand point on Wright's Liver and Stomach Pills, I find it a pleasure to recommend them to all persons suffering from torpid liver, bad digestion, frontal headache, languid feeling, especially in the morning, no appetite. I know of no proprietary medicine of equal value as a liver and stomach treatment.

We hear a great deal about purifying the blood. The way to purify it is to enrich it - Blood is not a simple fluid like water. It is made up of minute bodies and when these are deficient, the blood lacks the life-giving principle. Scott's Emulsion is not a mere blood purifier. It actually increases the number of the red corpuscles in the blood and changes unhealthy action into health.

If you want to learn more of it we have a book, which tells the story in simple words.

ANOTHER VICTORY IN NOVA SCOTIA.

Pain's Celery Compound Done the Good Work After Other Medicines Fail.

The majority of people cured by Pain's Celery Compound feel compelled to make public statements with a view of benefiting other sufferers. Cured people greatly contribute important testimony in order that the sick and afflicted may cease spending money for worthless preparations that can never effect a cure. Satisfactory letters coming from reliable people testify to the worth of Pain's Celery Compound, their mighty influence for thinking men and women.

Mr. Jas. Doushann, Jr., of Tiverton, N. S., says:

"It gives me pleasure to add my testimony to the value of Pain's Celery Compound. For some years past I have suffered from stomach trouble, also pains in the head. I tried many medicines that were recommended to me, but I could get no benefit from them. At last I was advised to try Pain's Celery Compound. When I had finished the first bottle I experienced a happy change. I continued using Pain's Celery Compound till I had taken five bottles, which made a perfect cure.

"I can heartily recommend the use of Pain's Celery Compound to any one suffering from the same trouble. You have my best wishes for the future success of your excellent medicine."

Mr. Allen, Justice, of Tiverton, N. S., says: "I can certify that the above statement is true in every particular."
