It is singular to note how careful some of the people seem to notice the advice the Apostle Paul gave to Timothy about his poor weak stomach, and how little they care about all the rest of the teachings of the apostle.

TIMOTHY'S STOMACH.

Nobody knows what ailed Timothy, any way: Every statement about his sickness is pure guesswork, except that made in the verse. Physicians would tell you at once that there are diseases of the stomach and other infirmities where the worst thing that could be taken would be strong wine Moreover, hobody knows what kind of wine St. Paul recommended. Was it the kind-the butler made when he pressed the grapes between his fingers and bore the expressed juice in a silver or golden cup to him. As soon as he touched him, the the king? Or was it the kind that was made by boiling down the grape-juice until fermentation is impossible, and then preserving it with care, thus making the wine a food as well as a drink? It might have been either of these, and was as likely to be one of them as that which "giveth his color in the cup," or that brings woo to al who "go to seek mixed wine."

At all events, the wine was not to b taken for pleasure. but as a medicine, and there was to be but "a little wine," perhaps a tenspoonful or so, in water. And Tin othy was so strictly temperate that h would not take even "a little wine" fo sickness, till he got a prescription from at inspired apostle, though some who quote the passage would take a prescription from any red-nosed doctor, and would soon venture to prescribe for themselves.

The temperance Irishman is said to have remarked, when confronted with Timothy, and me stomach does not ache. -The Safeguard.

The following history was related to our reporter by Mrs. Jas McCaw, wife of the well-known shoemaker of Oshawa, Ont This is what Mrs. McCaw says: "I was cut hot bread as smoothly as cold. troubled seriously for a long long time with my heart and norves, and had a very severe attack of la grippe, which left me much worse in every way. At times the palpitation of my heart was so bad that I feared death. My heart seemed to go right up into my throat, and caused a feeling of suffocation most painful to endure. Then at other times there was a great fluttering of the heart followed by a sinking feeling,

"I was feeling extremely miserable when I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nervo and commenced taking them. From the now much better than I have been for a long time. My appetite is good, and I am wonderfully improved in every way. I can recommend these pills very highly, as I feel that no other remedy could have performed such a marvellous change in so short a time, and it gives me pleasure to let others know that there is a remedy easily obtained which will cure them, and that very quickly." FRIENDS AND RELATIVE FILLED WITH REMORSE

Paine's Celery Compound Could Have Saved the Majority.

T SAVES LIFE WHEN ALL OTHER

MEDICINES FAIL.

The winter months have brought be reavement and dark clouds of sorrow to many homes in Canala.

Fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers have been removed by the grim reaper death, the majority of whom might have been saved; had their friends given them Palno's Colery Compound instead of the worthless and in many cases, life-destroying medicines that the sick ones were forced

In many families a too slavish obedience to medical dictation kept the true agent of life from the sick and dying ones. Past records of victory achieved by Paine's Celery Compound were set aside; it was unprofessional to introduce the .life savieg Compound in any way!

Ah! Remorse is now doing its quiet and offective work, and those most closely interested are suffering for their neglect. Will you, reader, allow some dear relative or friend to pass from life without making an effort to save the perishing one by using Paine's Colery Compound ? The chances for life-saving by Paine's Celery Compound are great and mighty. Even though your friends have suffered long, and neared that point when the family physician can do no more, even then there is hope if Paine's

Gelery Compound be used. The life-saying work, the desperate case overcome in the past, is the bright and living proof that Paine's Colory Compound makes sick people well. The truly honest physicians of the da are quietly and unceasingly recommending Paine's Celery Compound as the best spring medicine that ailing men or women can use. Its wonderful popularity has induced some to bring out imitations that are vilo and worthless. See that you go "Paine's." with the stalk of celery on the bottle label and cartoon.

-There never was, and never will be; universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir-the very nature of many cutatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient -what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtained in a sound unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual judicious use, the frailest systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping. spirits of those with whom a chrouic state of morbid despondence and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquitizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep, imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to 'the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance-result, improved appetite.
