NOTES AND COMMENTS. Some one or other in the Old Country is giving an impetus to 'the improvement of the mail service between Great Britain and the colonies. It is stated that arrangements have been completed by which the mails will be carried over the Canadian Pacific Railway to British Columbia for Australia, and it is said also that five 22knot boate, coating £425,000 each, have already been ordered for the Pacific service.

The unspeakable Turk has been at cast during that period the best interests condition of affairs existing there to that protesting against the treatment to which the Bulgarians bave been subjected. Villagers have been surrounded by Turkish troops, the inhabitants being subjected to unheard of tortures. Schoolmasters and priests especially seem to be considered good game by the sportive Tork.

The Dominion Government has a duty to perform in the inspection of the vessels now, or to be, employed in the Yukon trade. The temptation to patch up an old vessel, discarded as unfit for reputable trade, and send it north with gold hunters, too eager to be cautious, has proved already too much for the owners of one-boat, the Clara Nevada. She was a worn-out coast survey steamer, bought at auction, repainted and patched up to a semblance of seaworthicutter; ran into the wharves at Port in debt instead. Townsend, and blew out three flues at Fort Simpson. A storm in the North Pacific would prove fatal to the safety of such a vessel. This one, of course, was not Canadian. But there are the same temptations for the one man as for the other. It is to be hoped that the Canadian officers will not be as criminally neglectful as their neighbors to the south have been .- Toronto Star.

KNOX CHURCH ANNIVERSARY. Excellent Sermons--Large Congregations--Liberal Offerings. Sunday, February 20th, was the third anniversary of the opening of Knox Churh, and the fifty-third of the organization of the denomination in Acton. The day was fittingly observed. Anniversary sermons were preached by Rev. W. A. J. Martin, of Guelph, to large congregations both morning and evening. The choir sang a number of special anthems and the offerings of the day towards the liquidation of the debt on the Manse amounted to $99.00. The topic of the morning sermon was the necessity and nature of Christian unity and was developed from the 188rd Psalm. This is one of the pasims which constituted the book of praise used in connection with the grand national feetivals of the. Jows. It's place was just at the close of the feast when the people had assembled for the last time in the temple courts. They had been brought together that they might realise that they were a people set part by God to keep alive His name in the earth, and witnessing for Him among the nations. Before they separated they must be reminded of what was necessary to fulfil their function as a nation. They must be blessed of God before they could be a blessing to others. They could be sure of God's blessing only when he commanded it upon them. He would command His blessing only upon "brethern living in unity." These were the lessons renewed to Israel from year year. These are the lessons the church of God needs to-day-the lessons which each congregation needs if it is to perform its work. Unity of the kind described in the psalm is the great requisite in order that God's blessing may rest upon the church in her different branches and congregations and God's blessing is indispenseable for the efficient performance our work of witnessing for God every where. 'An able amplification of the subject followed and the speaker concluded of the whole career of life, said Mr. Martin There is no antithesis between life and douth. Death is the step which usbers man into a fuller life. Death is something which will help man to the attainment of his purpose: "For me to live is Christ." St. Paul lived so that those who came into t with him would know Christ better. The speaker enlarged most effectually upon this thought, and showed that if we are to have our lives at one with God our purpose will be the magnifying of Christ and the glorifying of his name. He commended such a purpose : 1. Because i is one which will give satisfaction; 2. Because it is commensurate with our mature ; B. Because it is not incommensur-with an earnest appeal for this unity.

The topic of the evening discourse was

ENGLAND'S INTEREST IN CANADA General Attention Directed to This Country at the Present Time.

Mr. G. B. Ryan, merchant, of Guelph, returned from a visit to the markets of Great Britain on Saturday. The Mercury publishes an interesting interview with him relative to the place Canada holds at pres out in the eyes and hearts of the people of Great Britain. Mr. Ryan has crossed the ocean 36 times, and, as he is a man who is in the habit of moving about with his eyes open, he is in a position to speak confident. Three-quarters of the hour had expired ly and with some authority concerning the change of sentiment in Great Britain. Never, said Mt. Ryan, did I meet so country. Previously, if the conversation this vicinity. drilled towards this country, it was carried on indifferently ; now everybody is anxious to hear all about us, and the talk is all in that direction. I remember about 15 years by Mr. Barber, Dr. Robertson was elected or so ago, when Australia was the centre of observation in the Old Country and else; night. where, on adcount of the great gold boom, The hall was crowded with an audience everything was Australia, the most costly composed of representative farmers and and the finest fabrics were being shipped to business men of the good old county of that pountry. Well, it is almost in the same way now, that this country is regarded as a great place for lavestment. There is also a marked evidence that the people are better posted. They have been reading up and are much more conversant with the condition of affairs in Canada. A few years ago, as is well known, it was ludigrous to observe the extent of their gnorance even regarding the geography of with him. Canada. They look upon us now as brothers and belonging to the same family, treat us in the most cordial way-a marked contrast to the languid indifference which was the rule a couple of years ago. I saw and heard more interest in Canada this trip than in all the previous trips put together. Formorly, when we got home-

A number of things all happening just at the right time have served to give Canada such a lift that she has bounded to the front and is now in a position to sustain all the good opinions that are being formed of her. In the first place, of course, came the Cananian preferential tariff, which touched the sontiment of the British people keenly; to feel that they had been treated by one of their colonies to more favorable terms than were granted their rivals, thrilled the whole nation. That was the great starting point. Then, Sir Wilfrid Laurier made a most marked impression at the Jubilee. He Everybody over there was delighted with him. One business man, a canny Scot, in conversing with me, remarked, "You have a wonderful man in Laurier; he's a second cool and deliberative analysis of the figures | Disraeli." To have such a man representing the country in London, when the attention of the whole world was directed to the Jubilee, was a great thing. I doubt if a million dollars spent in advertising could have done as much for this country. The garded as fair, and consistent with the English people were delighted, too, with his manly speeches in France. Following Sir Wilfrid's appearance came the Yukon gold developments, and the fine crops in the Northwest, all of which tended to sent
