Taking

a course of Ayer's Pills the system is set in good working order and a man begins to feel that life is worth living. He who has become the gradual prey of constipation, does not realize the friction under which he labors, until the burden is lifted from him. Then his mountains sink into molehills, his moroseness gives place to jollity, he is a happy man again. If life does not seem worth living to you, you may take a very different view of it after taking

A DOG STORY. A curious incident happened to a grocer last week. He had bought a box of dog oakes, which were packed loose, not in packages. As he thought people ought to see them in order to sell them quickly, be put the box outside. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon a third of it seemed to be gone. He asked his olerks whether they had sold that much. It appeared that neither of them had had any customers at all for dog cakes. Could it be that they had been sampled by passereby thinking they were crackers? While the grocer was meditating, a big bull dog from around the corner went straight to the box, snatched. two dog cakes and hurried off. He had been the customer, free-luncher, thief, etc. (names which the grocer had saved for the one who had so far emptied the box).- pride.

Bright's Disease--Diabetes--Bladder Troubles--Paralysis--Dropsy--Disease Imps Ready to Bring You Down -- South American Kidney Cure Has Rescued

An slarming fact-almost an incredible one, were it not borne out by statistics, that over ninety per cent, of all post mortem examinations have proved the existence of kidney disease. If you experience straining, cutting pain, scalding, or if there is bricky dust or chalky rediment, they go to prove that the kidneys are not performing their functions; that there are foreign substances there that sooner or later will clog up and stop the whole machinery of the human anatomy. Bouth American Kidnes Care disrolves and dispels all there pirates of good health quickly and surely. Sold by A. T. Brown.

The bounty given by the Indian Govern ment for snukes heads, in order to exterminate these repiles has led to a few of the dishonest hatives breeding them for living. An Englishman travelling through Crutral India made a peculiar discovery. In the heart of a dense jungle he' came scrors a rude but, and close at hand was s large pit covered with a tight fitting wooden cover. He found the occupants of the hut, two disreputable looking natives, and asked the meaning of the peculiar pit.

They informed him that they were breeders of snakes and put them in the pit the bottom of which was covered over with dried grass and leaves. They kept the enakes there some six months, feeding them on all kinds of small animals and

They then filled a large earthon pot with poisonous herbs, lighted it, lowered it into the pit and secured the tight fitting wooden cover, and thus smothered the reptiles. The cover was allowed to remain on for

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ille to which flesh is heir-the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient -what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtained in a sound unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual judicious use, the frailestsystems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chroule state of morbid despondence and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquitizing and was very weak, but after using | the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep, imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system. thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance-result, improved appetite.
