A BIBLE CLUB NEEDED.

"Why doesn't some woman start a Bib le club one of these days," says the woman who does not usually believe in clubs, "and do the world a great service?" The Boston Christian Register said recently :

"A large part of the literature of the world is becoming unintelligible to this generation through lack of ability to understand quotations from the Bible. Allusions to sayings and events which our athers would understand at a glance now signify nothing to many readers. Bo and so is so and so, as the Bible says said a woman the other day, giving a quotation from Milton. That argues anmorance of Milton as well as the Bible but it is safe to say that the poets are better known than the Old Testament generally. If there was a club and the Bible was taken up as literature, it might come into fashion again as reading matter.

A QUICK WITTED BAPTIST. One of the candidates for the state senate down in Jefferson county, Ala., was a prominent Baptist, and he expected his fellow churchmen to help push him along. The slory goes that he was campaigning on a country beat and had the good for tune to fall in with a whole congregation of Baptists. Whether a prayer meetinghad just been held or what the occasion of the gathering was is not known. About this time a light shower came up, and the which he was carrying.

AND HE DID.

A pompous traveller put up for the night at a small provincial hotel, and before retiring left explicit instructions to be called in time for an early train. Early in the morning the guest was disturbed by a lively tatoo upon the door. "Well," he demanded, eleopily, "What's the matter?" "I've got an important message for you, replied the boy outside. The guest was up in an instant, opened the door, and received from the boy a large envelope. He tore it hastily open and found inside a slip of paper on which was written in large letters the words: "Why don't you get up?" He
