A QUARREL.

There's a knowing little proverb From the sunny land of Spain; But in Northland as in Southland Isits meaning clear and plain, Lock it up within your heart;

Neither lose nor lend it-Two it takes to make a quarrel; One cam always and it.

Mrs. Harkley, the Wife of Captain Harkley, Well-known Lake Captain of Owen Sound, Ont., Tells How La Orlppe Left Herand How Often Doctors Gave Up Hope and Her Frmily and Friends Despaired of Her Recovery -- The Great South American Nervine was the Beacon which Directed Her Into the Good Health Harbon

"About four years ago I was afflicted with a severe attack of La Grippe, which left me almost a complete wreck. I was prostrated for weeks. I doctored with several physicians and used many remedies but none had any lasting effect. My friends began to be alarmed for my recovery. The doctors shook their heads and held out little hope. I was attracted by an advertisement of South American Nervine, and as my trouble was of a nervous nature I decided to try it. The first bottle helped me greatly. I persisted in its use and this great remedy has complately built up my system, and I positively doclare that it is the only remody that gave me any relief. Sold by A. T.

A WAR INCIDENT.

The recent war in Cuba has furnished many touching and inspiring instances love and loyalty to country and of personal daring and fortitude. One of the best we have read is the following from September Scribner's, related by Edward Maraball, the New York war correspondent who was so oruelly wounded at Guasimas, and who so frequently. bravely kept on dictating his report to his paper while suffering the most terrible

There is one incident of the day which shines out in my memory above all others now as I lie in a New York hospital writing. It occurred at the field hospital. About a dozen of us were lying there. A continual oborus of moans rose through the tree branches overhead. The surgeons with hands and bared arms dripping, and clothes literally saturated with blood, were straining every nerve to prepare the wounded for the journey down to Siboney, Behind me lay Captain McClintock, with his lower leg-bones literally ground to powder. He bore his pain as gallantly as he had led his men, and that is saying much. I think Major Brodie was also there. It was doleful group. Amputation and death stared its members in their gloomy faces

Suddenly a voice started toftly, "My country, 'tis of Thee, Sweet land of liberty. Of thee I sing."

Other voices took it up : "Land where my fathers died, Land of the Pilgrims' pride,"-The quivering, quavering chords, paneta ated by grouns and made spasmodio by that I did not hear it until all the rest had inished with the line, "Let freedom ring," Then, halting, struggling, laint, it repor

BULBS IN WATER.

A writer in Vich's Magazine says the occasional failures are almost invariably from too little water being given during the time that the bulbs are making rapid growth. When the bulbs are growing out of doors, the earth is watersoaked from the recently melted snow and rains which fall

When we raise these bulbs in the window garden, we water them once in a day or two. These roots which, in their natural etate are in cool, moist earth, often become dry, yet we look for the clusters of flowers and rank foliage that we see on the

THE BEST POETS FOR CIRLS TO

"I believe, my dear girl, every good poem you read is going to make better what-would be called the ideal side of your nature, and is going to make you appreciate what is really melody in words. You know the old books of poetry, and it seems to me that there is not much that is thoroughly good among the new except those written by the poet of our time, Rudyard Kipling. You can arrange a long list of the older poets in whom you will find great pleasure. Naturally you begin with Shakespeare, and then come down, not very far, to the two Brownings, then to some parts of Byron, then to that unhappy boy John Keats, then to Tennyson, and looking for the great sonls right in our own home, you will meet and greet Aldrich, the gentle; Sidney Lanier, the musician; Poe the mystic; and best of all for every girl Longfellow." - Rath Ashmore, in the

THE UMBRELLA CONSCIENCE

"You may bank on a guilty conscience almost every time when an umbrella is in question," said a New Orleans drummer. You see this one? Well, it came into my possession quite recently by what they call the 'right of conquest' in a protocol. was caught out in the rain after lunch and wondering what I would do when I noticed a chap under an awning trying to raise a umbrella. It was clear that he didn't understand the fastening, and as the ombrella was not new the circumstantial vidence against him was conclusive. "Bo I walked up and said firmly, 'That's my umbrella, sir.' At the same time I took it out of his hand. He wilted at once. stammered something about a mistake and sneaked off while I walked away proudly, sheltered from a very moist shower. That's what nerve will do. Wonder, by the way, whose it really is."-New Orleans Times Democrat.

"She Carries Her Heart on Her Sleeve"

What a boon to many a man or woman lithis were literally so—How manyspirits are broken because this particular organ is shackled by disease—and yet how many times has Dr. Agnow's Cure for the Heart brushed against the grim reaper and robbed him of his victim. Diseases of the heart are by far the most treacherous of ailments which afflict humanity-ruthless to old and young alike-not insidious but violent, for when the heart fails the whole system suffers violence. Mss. JNO. FITTPATRICK, of Gananoque, Ont., after having been treated by eminent physicians for heart disease of five years' standing, was discharged from the hospital as a hopeless incurable. She suffered from acute pain and palpitation, her feet and ankless wellen, and there was every tendency to the dropsical form of heart disease, but the lady procured Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart as she declared, as a last hope. One dose relieved her of a very acute spasmin less than thirty minutes, and three bottles cured har—not a symptom of the trouble remaining Conductor William G. Lucas, of the N. & W.R.R. and living at Hagarstown, Md., suffered for years with scute valvular form of heart disease—cost him many a "lay off" from his daily duties on the road, and he spent a small fortune in remedies and treating with heart specialists in promise of a cure, and all ended in disappointment; until a good friend, who had been benefited, recommended Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. He tried it, and found it gave him relief and comfort almost immediately. He continued its use until a few bottles were taken, and to-day he's well and sirong, and says, "Tell all heart sufferers that I can highly recommend this great remedy."
