Here is evidence of enterprise of a character to satisfy the most ardent enthusiast for municipal improvements.

The Northwest Territories elections last Friday resulted in a sweeping viotory for the Haultain-Ross Government. The Opposition and Independents seem to have alike fared badly, both being all bus wiped out. The Premier, Mr. Haultain, has been almost continuously in power since 1891, when he was elected chairman of the First Executive Committee. The committee was defeated in August, 1892, and M Haultain resigned, but only to return power in December of the same year.

RETHEELECTRIC LIGHT BY-LAW.

So the People Said at the Ballot Box last Friday by a Large Majority.

From the hour of the presentation the report of the Committee sent by the Municipal Council to investigate the electric light systems in operations in several of the towns of the province a month ago, those most interested have felt that an electric lighting system for Acton was assured. The large and representative gathering of citizens who heard the report subsequently supported a resolution requesting the Council to take the steps necessary tosecure an electric plant to be controlled by the municipality, unanimously. All available information touching such a system has been secured from various reliable sources and from time to time published in these columns, so that the people might be thoroughly informed upon the subject.
