

How Old She Looks

Poor clothes cannot make you look old. Even pale cheeks won't do it. Men's clothes may be hoary and dispeep, but they cannot make you look old.

One thing does it and never fails.

It is impossible to look young with the color of seventy years in your hair.

And he did.—Young People's Paper.

WHY HE QUIT THE BUSINESS.
A man who keeps a restaurant has two children wait on the table. One of them is a boy ten years of age. A customer was attracted by the quickness of the little fellow, and said: "You have a splendid waiter."

"Yes," said the proprietor, "he is my son. I used to sell liquor, but he made me quit it."

The father told the story. The boy had come home one day and said: "Papa, we boys at school had a talk to-day about the business of our parents. Each fellow was asked, 'What does your father do?' One said, 'My father keeps a store.' I said, 'My father sells liquor.'

"That is the neatest business I ever heard of," said one of the boys.

And the father said: "Yes, John it is; God help me, I will get out of it."

And he did.—Young People's Paper.

GLASS AS PAVEMENT.

The city of Lyons has been experimenting with glass as pavement. Since last November the Rue de la République has been paved with crystallized glass. This new product is obtained from broken glass heated to a temperature of 1,200 degrees, and compressed in matrices by hydraulic force. The glass pavement is laid in the form of blocks, eight inches square, each block containing sixteen parts in the form of chequers. These blocks are so closely fitted together that water cannot pass between them, and the whole pavement looks like one gigantic draught board. As a pavement it is said to have greater resistance than stone, it is a poor conductor of cold and ice will not form on it readily, dirt does not accumulate on it as easily as stone, and it will not retain microbes. It is more durable than stone, and just as cheap.

THE HAIR ADVICE FORM.
If you do not obtain all the benefit of the hair tonic, write the doctor who prescribed it, and ask him to add a few drops of oil of lavender to your general treatment. Then you will be sure to get the full benefit of the hair tonic.

The Action Free Press.

THURSDAY, JUNE 22, 1890.

The Young Folks.

DANGER.

Write it on the workshop gate, Write it on the schoolboy's slate, Write it on the copy-book, That the world is full of danger, Where there's a risk, there's danger.

Write it on the churchyard mound, Where the runts sleep dead are found, Write it on the gallows high, Write it on all the passers-by, That the world is full of danger.

Write it in the nation's laws, Blotting out the honest chance; Write it on each ballot white, So it can be read right.

"Where there's a drift, there's danger."

Write it on the stormy sea, Write it large in letters plain, Over ocean and main.

"Where there's drink, there's danger."

On the church and halls of state, To the heart of every band,

On the law of every land,

"Where there's drink, there's danger."

—Frances E. Willard.

BY BERWEN-BANKS.

The scene of this story, as indicated by the title, is late in Wales, where people have been studied so carefully by the author. The great success of the novels "A Welsh Singer" and "Torn Sails" has shown conclusively that a capable writer of Welsh stories was needed, and, complying with the request of many readers and the suggestions of the press, "Allen Haine" has again decided to take Welsh scenes and characters, and "By Berwen Banks" will certainly be found to compare most favorably with the author's previous works, and to possess all the sweetnes and charm which have made them so popular. The reviews of this by the journals of both England and America are very complimentary. The W. J. Gage Co., Publishers, Prof. cloth $100, paper $60.

THE WEDDING MONTH.

Although June is the wedding month, the Canadian Magazine in its current issue has nothing particular to say on the subject. Nevertheless the number is an attractive one, containing a splendid short story by Gilbert Parker, three French Canadian Sketches by different writers, two instalments of continued stories, and a number of splendid articles. One of the most interesting of the latter is entitled, "With Tide and Rod in the Moose Lands of Northern Ontario." It is illustrated with numerous photographs and camp-fire scenes. The Canadian Magazine is now in its tenth volume.

It is easier to turn gold into anything else than it is to turn anything else into gold.

What is Scott's Emulsion?

It is the best cod-liver oil, partly digested, and combined with the hypophysis and glycerine. What will it do? It will make the poor blood of the anaemic rich and red.

It will give nervous energy to the over-worked brain and nerves, and will add to the health and strength of a child, derived from the stimulation of the blood vessels.

It is the Standard of Health.

COULDN'T SHUT HIS UMBRELLA.
The time when umbrellas could be afforded only by the rich is still within the memory of the tradition of some remote Sooch neighborhood, and a Sooch newspaper, quoted some fifty years ago by Henry Howe, in his "Times of Eminent Mechanics," relates how pride once went before bawdiness to one of them:

"When umbrellas' first came into Blagrove, it says, they were sported only by minister and the laird, and he looked upon by the common class as perfect presumption. One day Daniel went to Colonel Macpherson at Blagrove House, when about to return, there came on a shower the Colonial polity offered him the loan of an umbrella, which was politely and promptly accepted, and Daniel, with his head two or three inches higher than usual, marched off. Not long afterward, however, to the colonist's surprise, he saw Daniel pointing toward him, still enveloped by his cotton canopy, which he held out, calling:

"Hie, hie, Kornell! This will never do; there's no door in all my house that will take it in. My vera baa-door winna take it in."

A LOUD INTERRUPTION.

"I declare, Maria, this is too irritating to be endured! I told you I didn't want to be disturbed, and here somebody has suddenly sprung a most infernal clatter on me. What does it mean?"

"There wasn't any clatter, my dear."

"Why, I just happened to pass through the room in my new red and yellow shirt waist; that's all."

"Well, don't do it again!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

HER TURN.

Guests were expected to dinner at Little Flossie's home the other evening, and she was in consequence hustled off to bed and milk and bread an hour earlier than usual.

"Help you grow up folks!" the sighs as she was being fed.

"I don't know what it is,"—"What, how that's happy?" asked his mother, "the roller-coaster has been broke, for the window blind fell down two or three times."

HOW OLD PEOPLE MAY BE HEALTHY AND HAPPY.

Paine's Celery Compound Will Surely Banish Their Ailments and Troubles.

IT PRESERVES HEALTH AND PROLONGS LIFE.

The most successful and popular physicians of our times are those who can banish the ailments and distresses of men and women in old age.

Three fourths of all the sores and pain that make old age miserable arise from the accumulation of waste-matters that produce rheumatism, neuralgia, scrofula, and rheumatism. Sanguine circulation, especially "arterial," digestive disturbances, and mislocated or complicated diseases arise that in the majority of cases prove fatal to old people.

Paine's Celery Compound is a precious boon to those advanced in years. Soon after its use is commenced there is noticed an increase in the blood supply, which is pure, ruddy and active in its coursing through the body. The brain becomes clear, digestion is easy and natural; the heart does its work with regularity, nerve force is acquired and flesh is built up.

If old people desire health and strength to meet the enervating and trying weather of midsummer, they should build up at once by the use of Paine's Celery Compound. Mr. John Holdsworth, Glasson Street, Toronto, says:

"I was taken sick last summer, and was in bed for five weeks or more, and my physician was attending me all the time. My case was pronounced to be weakness of the heart and old age, for I am now seventy-eight years old."

"I kept getting up in the morning, until my recovery was considered hopeless. One of my relatives recommended me to use Paine's Celery Compound, which I did with great faith. After the first dose I felt relieved, and after a few days I was able to leave my bed and walk around. I need four bottles, and took a few tablets daily, as the best remedy, as I am now quite well. I hope other sufferers will receive as much benefit as I received."

Solace tunnels mountains while faith is dawning on moving them.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

John Fletcher, M.D.

The "Fletcherian" system.

The horse doctor does not agree to cure the nightmare.

Sick headache, however annoying and distressing, if positively cured by Castoria. They are easy to take and bear.

Never comes out of ten when a man talks knowledgeably in his trade.

Weather Prophete.

Show a rheumatic sufferer know what a man is brewing. After the later summer comes, when the winter weather is settling in, the rheumatic is spoilt. This remedy is excellent for Rheumatism.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

KOD-INTERFOLIA.

Get Doctor PINE'S PILLS Tablets

Or Dr. POWELL'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XII.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XIII.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XIV.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XV.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XVI.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XVII.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XVIII.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XIX.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XX.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XXI.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XXII.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XXIII.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XXIV.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XXV.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XXVI.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XXVII.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XXVIII.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XXIX.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XXX.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XXXI.

Long continual representations of gods and goddesses have often led to the conclusion that they are mothers.

Men admire women not because they are women, but because they are hot men.

CHARTER XXXII.