

DIARRHOEA

NESS!

Do you get up with a headache? Is there a bad taste in your mouth? Then you have a poor appetite and a weak digestion. You are frequently dizzy, always feel dull and drowsy. You have cold hands and feet. You get but little benefit from your food. You have to ambulate to work and the sharp pains of neuralgia dart through your body. What is the cause of all this trouble? Constipated bowels.

ADDED HER OWN BOAT

... was approaching Atlanta, and obliging conductor went up to the old lady, who was evidently travelling alone, and said: "Madame, have you a companion?" "Oh, yes, sir," Martha Ann made me follow along her little black rickshaw that she called a kampanyan."

"No! No! I mean an escort!"

"A what, sir?" she looked at him hard enough to break her spectacles.

"A fellow-traveler with you?" explained the conductor, desperately.

She rose. Her uplifted hand looked deadly in the black mittens she wore.

"You good-for-nothing scamp! no sir! The idea of me, a lone woman, with no natural protector but a cheaply-styled New Testament, having a fellow-traveler with me! You mother ought to sweep over your impudence, young man, and I'll have you to know that I kin git along in the world about as well as any 60-year-old widow that you ever struck again!"

By this time the conductor was out on the platform wiping the perspiration from his face, and swearing that the old lady might "go it alone" to her heart's content.

BABIES AND BARN.

A happy young father and mother on a farm in Pennsylvania had been enjoying the looks of their first-born son for ten weeks, when their large, new barn burned. A year or two later, when this little boy's first sister was a week old, the big and handsome barn built to replace the first one, caught fire and went down also.

A second little sister arrived the next summer, on the third of July, and the next day, while the eldest little boy was playing with fireworks, the third barn was burned.

Years went on, and the farmer had built two big barns for his increasing people, when one fine day he was told that he was the father of twins. For a moment he stood dumb as the farmer and said: "Good! that's the way it ought to be. I've got two barns now; a barn to barn for each twin. Twins are right!"

But at last account barn and twins were both prospering, and the farmer believes that his luck has improved.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.

Ethel had formed the very unbecoming habit of saying, "H'm?", when she did not quite understand, and her aunt had been teaching her to say "Beg pardon," instead.

The first time she was overheard talking with some of her little playmates, "My auntie says you mustn't say 'H'm,'" she explained: "You must say 'Baking powder.'"

HE MEANT NO HARM.

A London exquisite in America he would be called a dudu—had gone into a West End restaurant, says Spare Moments, big and handsome barn built to replace the first one, caught fire and went down also.

"Do you call that a veal outfit?" he demanded of the waiter. "Why, such a outfit as that is an insult to every self-respecting calf in the British Empire."

The waiter hung his head for a moment but recovered himself and said, in a tone of respectful apology: "I really didn't intend to insult you, sir."

On the first indication of Diarrhoea or Dysentery a few doses of DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY will promptly check the advance of these dangerous diseases.

It has been over 40 years in use and has no equal for the cure of bowel complaints of young or old. There are many dangerous imitations on the market, so it would be wise to see that the full name, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, is on every bottle you buy.

The fear that is life to us—the atmosphere.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all life to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curative agents such that were the germ of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtained in a sound and unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual judicious use, the frailties of the system are led into cohesiveness and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom chronic disease of the system, and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquillizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep, imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy natural functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman, of Toronto, have given to the public their Quinine Wine at the lowest rate, and, in view of the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any market. All druggists sell it.

Marry-time engagement.—Naming the day.

Some persons have periodical attacks of Canadian cholera, dysentery, diarrhoea, and have to use great precautions to avoid the disease. Change of water, cooking, and green fruit, is sure to bring on the attack. To such persons we would recommend Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cord as being the best medicine in the market for all summer complaints. If a few drops are taken in water when the symptoms are noticed no further trouble will be experienced.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY.

The casual observer in the Chicago court might have thought the case an ordinary "frank," but from the strained, tense air of the spectators and the look of repressed excitement on the judge's face it was plainly more important.

"Officer," said the judge, "repeat the charge, that there may be no mistake."

"He was that drunk," responded the prosecutor, "that when I arrested him he was so drunk that he almost choked his honor."

"St. Paul has recently adopted a milk ordinance that provides for the inspection of all the cows from which milk is taken to supply the city."

HIS NARROW ESCAPE.

"By hook, law," exclaimed an Arizans youth, who had just returned from a twenty-mile journey on the ore, "I came might near not going to Westville at all!"

"Don't say!" inquired his mother.

"How did it happen?"

"Why, you see, when I got on the car I happened to take a seat facing backward. Likely as not I wouldn't have noticed it at all till it was too late if a drummer hadn't asked me what I was going, and when I said to Westville he told me I was facing the wrong way—toward Eastville, in fact. I seen my mistake the minute he mentioned it, and the way I turned that seat over was a caution to sailors! Good gosh, it would have been a pretty howdy do if I'd been carried to Eastville, where I don't know a soul!"—New York World.

Mr. G. O. ARCHIBALD'S CASE.

Didn't Walk for 5 Months. Doctors said Locomotor Ataxia.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills Cure a Disease hitherto regarded as incurable.

The case of Mr. G. O. Archibald, of Hopewell Cape, N.B., (a cut of whom appears below), is a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual judicious use, the frailties of the system are led into cohesiveness and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom chronic disease of the system, and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquillizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep, imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy natural functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. reported from the eastern provinces, and his cure by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills the more remarkable from the fact that he was given up as incurable by several prominent physicians.

The disease, Locomotor Ataxia, with which Mr. Archibald was afflicted is considered the most obstinate and incurable disease of the nervous system known. When once it starts it gradually but surely progresses, paralyzing the lower extremities and rendering its victim helpless and hopeless, enduring the indescribable agony of seeing himself die by inches.

"That Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills can cure thoroughly and completely a disease of such severity ought to encourage those whose disorders are not so serious to try this remedy."

The following is Mr. Archibald's letter:

The Wilson Chain

The Red Bird—To-Day and Good for Years.

When bicycle manufacturers and riders the world over were having trouble with their bicycle chains, which, in spite of all the oil, would wear and stretch, it was a Canadian who found a way out of the difficulty.

The Wilson Chain with which Red Birds are fitted

This Chain was Mr. Wm. Wilson, one of the experts paid by the company to bring the Red Bird nearer a state of absolute perfection.

This is the patented chain, whereby the centre part of the link is hardened, fitting the hardened steel pin. So we will get the best chain for the money. Since the American right to patent the chain was secured, many are going to good imitations. The Red Bird's are fitted with good imitations.
