KILLED ON THE TRACK Sad Death of an Esteemed Resident of Esquesing.

For several years Mr. Thomas Fisher, er., of lot 14, con, 5, Esquesing, has been at home and lived perfectly contented. Last Friday however, he left home and was not missed for a few hours. That afternoon after a fruitless search about the farm, his son, Mr. William Fisher, drove out in search of him. He traced the old gentleman up the fifth line and found that he had had dinner at the home of Mr. Jas.

proceeded up the fifth line and on Saturday morning was seen at Grand Valley. further trace of him could be found and Mr. Fisher, jr., returned home. On Sunday a message reached the home that an elderly man had been killed on the C. P. B. track between Grand Valley and Orangeville on Saturday night and he was believed to be the fugitive. Mr. William Fisher and a friend proceeded to Grand Valley on Monday and found the mangled

A Brief but Enjoyable Outing Down River St. Clair and Beyond. THE GREAT C. E. CONVENTION. The Editor of the FREE PRESS and Mrs. Moore returned home on Friday evening. after a delightful holiday outing along the river St. Clair and in the State 'of Michigan. The pleasures of the trip were intensified by meeting numerous friends and schoolmates at various points visited and this renewal of old-time friendships was mutually appreciated.

Taking the old reliable and well-equipped G. T. R. train for the west on the morning of the fourth of July, we were landed in Sarnis early in the afternoon. Having an hour to spare we called upon Mr. W. Ryder, the popular hoss of the Yendome, one of the best equipped hostelries on either side of the St. Clair River. "Billy," as he was familiarly known when's boy in his native town here, heartily welcomed "the folks from Acton," and made the stay pleasant. Mesers. Newton Brothers, formerly of Limehouse, are running the Sarpia Woolien Mills here and doing quite a business. The street railway runs to Mr. Samuel McLam's door, He is still soffering from the unfortunate accident by which he lost a timb nearly two years ago, but hopes a further operation will give him relief. While waiting upon the wharf for the Detroit beat, an unexpected pleasure was ours to meeting Mrs. Hugh Cameron, a former esteemed resident, with whom the time was enjoyably whiled away. Boarding the White Star Line Steamer Greyhound we found ourselves in the company of a big crowd of excursionists who were out for the day to celebrate the "Glorious Fourth," and they were a jolly, good-natured-company. After calling at Port Huron the captain generonely treated fought, and through the canal, a veritable his passengers to an extra not on the Venice waterway from Snake River to the Votes for $2,500 for a monument at regular time route of the steamer, and ran Light House, Johnson's Island on Raisin Stoney Creek, and $500 for a tablet at up into Lake Huron, giving about an river is fast becoming a popular resort for ar's sail in the bracing breezes of that fine freshwater sea. On the west shore above Pt. Huron we passed Huronia Park where thousands of United States offizens had forgathered to celebrate the day to the boom of cannon, the blace of trumpet and the customary high falutin spread-eagle On the St. Clair the excursionist is taken along one of the grandest waterways of the world, through some of the most picturesque scenery, and past thriving and enterprising towns and delightful summer resorts on both sides of the river. No where can more of beauty, interest and Marquis Ito, former Premier of Japan, in health-giving experiences be crowded into one day than during a trip from Sarnia to

Detroit along the St. Clair River. At the city of St. Clair we left the boat time. He added that Japan must take in order to spend a few days with the family. A four mile drive behind one of to the family residence in West China Here a most enjoyable visit was made, It An influential deputation recently waited | embraced family visiting, drives to Marine City, a tour of St. Clair and a visit to the well-known Diamond Crystal Salt-works where it is claimed the finest table salt in the world is manufactured by a new scoret process. Rev. Ralph Duff, late of Georgetown, is pastor of the Congregational Church at St. Clair, and Miss Agnes Adams and Mrs. Glass, early residents of Acton, also reside here, and Mr. James Hamilton, who a quarter of a century ago was a baker in Acton, is prospering in the same business in St. Clair. A visit of church, having been made during the two considerable interest was made to the dairy farm of Mr. E. B. Stevenson, where is located one of the firest combined creamery, cheese factory and ice cream works in the state. The ice cream was and many were the enquiries relating sampled and pronounced of superior quality. In addition to Mr. Butlin's farming interests he is engaged during the winter months in feeding and fitting the horses used by the travelling salesmen of and interesting outings in our experience. the Capewell Horse Nail Co., of Detroit, sometimes having a dozen of these horses in his stables at a time. On Friday evening a fifteen mile journey down the river brought us to the pretty city of Algonac, the present home of Rev. A. J. Holmes and family. Mr. Holmes is pastor of the First Methodist Church there. He is well known by a number of Fazz Pazzs readers and preachel in the church here while visiting a couple of years ago. Algonao is a residental town, very prettily situated on a bend of the river, and is the summer home of many residents of Detroit and other ities, and the winter home of numerous lake captains and sailors. One street has no less than nine cozy homes of steamer The trip from Algonac to Detroit on the splendid steamer, City of Toledo, on Saturday morning was much enjoyed Rev. and Mrs. Holmes accompained us and pointed out the various places interest along this picturesque water-way Mitchell, at lot 80, con. 5, two and a balf The route is a continuous passage past miles cast of Acton. The old man had sprightly villages, gay summer resorts, camping grounds and pleasure parks. Among the latter there is notably, Tashmoo Park, very popular this season as a point for pic-nics and excursions. Passing down the South Channel we enter the ship canal and proceed thence into Lake St. Clair. About noon we round Belle Isle Detroit's great pleasure park, and a few minutes later are landed at the Detroit

Much regre is felt at this untimely end of an old resigreat Christian Endeavor Convention. Here we were registered with the 976 other Canadians and immediately felt at home. Dinner over, the skine brightened and some 10,000 persons proceeded to Belle Isle for the "Peace Meeting" of the Convention. Under the oaks and the combined Stare and Stripes and the Union Jack, these thousands met and listened to napiring addresses by Hon. W. C. Maybury, Mayor of the oily; "Father Endeavor" Clark, Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, Rev. W. F. Wilson, of Hamilton. The address by Rev. Mr. Wilson waperhaps the happlest of the afternoon. As all events it elicited continuous and > vociferous applause. Saturday evening was given up to reopptione. The delegates from Canada and the District of Columbia were entertained royally by the ladies of Central Presbyterian Church and a delightful evening was spent. The city was given over to the Endeavorers during the week, but this was perhaps more generally manifest on Squday than on any other day of the Convention. Is was a day of rich blessings and grand pervices in all the churches; The Convention throughout was a magdiffeent success. Secretary Buer said in the presence of the writer "There is something more solemn and impressive about this convention than I have ever before experienced in the fourteen annual gatherings I have attended." The influence carried away by the 28,000 delegates from all states, provinces and countries will be far-reaching indeed.

Detrois's welcome was cordial in every and no delegate could feel other than ours when other medicines fail.

thoroughly to home. The city contributed $25,600 for the expenses of the Convention, and as much more in deopration and illuminations. Detroit, always remarked for its clean and tidy streets and boulevards, was at its best, and the secret of its perfectly white and absolutely clean pavenents was revealed when the padestrian read on enamel signs at frequent intervals on all streets: "Please Don't spit on the without difficulty. During our stay in Detroit we met M W. J. Hughes, formerly of Actou, who in partnership with his brother-in-lawanother Canadian-doing business commercial artists. Two or three dealers in art goods take all the work they can produce, one enstomer alone giving them orders last year amounting to $17,000. Pleasant chats were also enjoyed with Rev. Dr. Gifford and Dr. Bert Howell, who were visiting the city.

After the Convention on Monday an hours' ride on the Michigan Central R. R. took us to Munroe, the adopted home of Mr. C. W. Hill, photo artist, formerly of Acton. Mr. Hill has prospered in his present surroundings, and is the possessor of one of Monroe's pressiest homes in the best part of the city. The visit with this warm-hearted family was highly enjoyable. The second day was spent in view ing the attractions of the place and its ploturesque environments. A trip by steamer down Raisin Biver to Lotus Beach took us past the old fort where a decisive battle in the war of .1812-13 was like comforts; the splendid culsius; the astractive scenery and the fine mineral springs jointly contribute to give it popula rity and success. We had a successful afternoon at fishing on Snake river and the creel when emptied was found to cop: tain no less than seven varieties of palatsole fish. Lily Bay and the Lotus beds are interesting points for the vieltors. But the best of friends must part and Wednesday morning we said adien to the old school friends who had so royally entertained up, and the 4.30 train that afternoon landed us in London, While at Glencoe a pleasant greeting was extended by Mr. William Gordon, an esteemed native of Acton. The London Street Car riots had subsided, but it was humiliating to Canadians to see such a beautiful, industrious and generally well-behaved a city under martial law, with the troops of cavalry and infantry marching the streets and having a deadly Gatling gun in charge. A very pleasant visit was made at the home of Mr. J. E. Boomer, one of London's successful business men,-a native of Halton by the way,-and at the Wellington street Methodist parsonage, the home of Rev. Joe. Edge, the President of London Conference - formerly pastor here. The Sanday previous Rev. the 20th Batt.

While in Committee on Supply in the House of Commons last week, Mr. David Henderson, M. P., for this county, called the attention of the Minister of Militia and Defence to the desirability of an increase of pay to the non-commissioned officers and men of the volunteer force of the country. He said : as we find reported in Hansard: 1 am one of those who favor an morense in pay of non-commissioned officers and men We are told that this is the growing time, and that the revenue is bunyant. Then, I do not see any reason why those young men should be raked to go out and drill in the warm days of June, leaving their employment and their homes, losing their wages and living on humble fare, when the Government has plenty of money to pay them properly. I think the the Government should take this matter into consideration. My opinion is that men who go out to camp ought to be paid a day's wage (qual to what they can earn at home. They should not be arked to live on humbler fare than they get at home. Notwithstanding the reduction of this item, I still hope the Minister is asking for sufficient sum to lucrease the pay of the nou commissioned officers and men of the volunteer force throughout the entire

what my hou friend says, I always listen to him, because when he speaks, he speaks to the point. No one would be more glad than I, as an old man of the militia force, to be ab'e to vote a large sum of money for the non-commissioned officers and men. It is a question well worth considering ; but I think the young men of Canada, officers as well as non-commissioned officers and men, are prepared to make some sacrifices in order to defend this by Mr. and Mrs. Johnson deserves the high | do so. I think my hon. friend mistakes reputation already attained. The home- the feeling of loyalty and patriotism of the young men who join our battalions and go into camp, if he supposes that they are led to do so by any mercenary motive. All they want is to get enough to repay them for any direct expense or loss that may ocour. At present I think it is not necessary to make any provision of that kind. On the contrary, I think our young men would rather resent it.

The minister replied : With regard

In reply Mr. Henderson sald : I am grateful to the bon. Minister for the manner in which he has received my anggestion. I do not doubt the loyalty of young Osnadians and their willingness to join the volunteer forge and fit themselves for the defence of the country. I have never been connected with the service, but have been a careful onlooker, and the conclusion I have come to is, that we must not allow the young men to feel that they are treated by the Government in such a way as to cause them lose. The Government must deal fairly with them, and, when they go to camp, make them as comfortable as they can, and, so far as rations are concerned, to give them as good as they are accustomed to at home. and in a pecuniary way they must not be called upon to suffer the loss of wagesbecause most of these young men are wage: earners. If they realize that the Government will give them fair componention, the young men will go into the force with spirit. I think that the Government in these growing times, might be a little more liberal to these young men who so willingly offer their services to the

I wish to be parfectly candid on this matter. I am not sehamed to gay that am advocating an increase in the expend iture. I have a warrant from my constituents to make this demand. I believe that is their sentiment, and it has been made clear to me in such a way that I have the utmost confidence in asking the Minister to take the action I request.

Continuing Mr. Henderson referred t local matters as follows: In the 20th Battalion, Lorne Rifles, in the county of THESTORY OF AST. CATHARINES | Halton, we have prehaps one of the most efficient battalions in western Ontario, and I am sure the Minister who is always ready to assist the Militia in any way be possibly can and in whose administration-I have a great deal of confidence-except perhaps when he takes the liberty of promoting a junior major over a senior
