WHAT WOMEN FIND TO DO.

It is a common remark with bundreds of m n that they wonder "what women find to d all day." Sometimes ouriosty gets the h ster of a man, and he askes his wife what lie has done all day, O's hundred and one little things," she says. Then he thinks of some momentous scheme over which he has ben working all day, and makes a mental comparison in which his wife's work takes . cond place. He overlooks the fact, howwest bat a woman's life in the home is made up of "little things," and that these - me "little things" are absolutely vital to the even adjustment of the domestic machinery of his home. They are "little only in a woman's eye ; they would instantly assume proportions of magnitude if the man's hand were to try to do them .-Liward Bok, in Ladies' Home Journal.

UMBRELLA DIPLOMACY.

A man with an umbrella was walking in the rain. An umbrellaless friend joined him and shared the protection. The umbrella owner noticed that now he was getting only half protection, as the rain and the drippings from the umbrella as well fell on one shoulder. Beeing another friend without an umbralla, he invited him out of the wet, saying; "There is plenty of room for three:" By this new arrangement he now had complete protection, as he had to move the umbrella to the position he carried it when he was using it alone, and a friend on either side protected him from the rain while receiving the drippings from the umbrella.

Paine's Celery Compound Makes Sick People Well.

If you are still enduring the tortures and agonies of disease in this almost unbearable hot weather, your position is one of extreme danger. The enervating effects of the heated term, that test even the strength and endurance of the robust and healthy, must bring you to the very brink of the grave, unless you take the care and precaution that thousands are now exercising. At this time your safety and life depend upon the use of Paine's Celery Compound a medicine that is giving new life and vigor to the weakly, nervous and broken down, and that is rescuing from death rheumatic sufferers and those affileted with blood discases and liver and kidney complaints. The testimonials sent in weekly by happy and grateful people saved from suffering and disease are the strongest proofs of the marvellous health-giving virtues of the great medicine. A trial of one bottle in this season of danger will convince the sick that there is life and health in, each drop

It has been over 40 years in use and has no equal for the care of bowel complaints of young or old. There are many dangerous imitations on the market, so it would be wise to see that the full name, Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry, is on every bottle you buy.

It might be well for the conceited man to remember that the smallest onion i stronger than the largest pumpkin.

There never was, and never will be, a unliversal panaoca, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir-the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient -what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtained in a sound unadulterated state, a remedy for many and griavous ills. By its gradual judicious use, the frailest systems are led into con valescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondence and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep, imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system. thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance-result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman, of Toronto, have given to the public their Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, guaged by the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any the market. All druggists sell it.
