

INDIGESTION

If you have it, you know it. You know all about the heavy feeling in the stomach, the formation of gas, the nausea, sick headache, and general weakness of the whole body.

You can't have it a week without your blood being impure and your nerves all exhausted. There's just one remedy for you—

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

There's nothing new about it. Your grandparents took it. 'Twas an old Sarsaparilla before other sarsaparillas were known. It made the word "Sarsaparilla" famous over the whole world.

There's no other sarsaparilla like it. In age and power to cure it's "The leader of them all."

$1.00 a bottle. All strength. Ayer's Pills cure constipation. If you are suffering from it, we induce you to try Ayer's. We took three bottles and now feel like new. We are sure you will too. Follow creatures to try this medicine. It is the only one that has its curative power cannot be exceeded.

J. D. Ayer & Son, Worcester, Mass.

The Acton Free Press.

THURSDAY, APRIL 11th 1901.

The Young Folks.

IN THE LANE.
The rays sunset darkens down
To purple, shot with golden gold,
A half hour past the glowing sunset
Our shadows stand long and cold.
How fair they shine, those constant stars
While I am letting down the bars
With little true.

The new moon, like a silver ark,
Is on her way to the west,
I have laid her to my breast,
As up the lane the lark goes.
Companionship, two by two,
And 'tis the black bird's drooping boughs
I wait for him.

We loiter in the snowy lane,
Forgetful of the patient time,
Our life worth the cost and pain;
We have no hand close locked in mine!
A comatose care, the sun's bright ray,
Our love is plighted, fast and true.
While I am putting up the bars
With little true.

—By Robert Browne Brown.

WON WITHOUT TRYING.

A travelling circus recently paid a visit to a Lancashire town, and, as an attraction, offered a prize to the man who could as the natives term it, "pull th' ugliest ring." The rules laid down were that each person should have three tries. Consequently competition ran high, some of the contestants being terrible to behold. And, had done their best best to win the prize, the man who failed as judge for the competitors coolly confronted a man sitting among the audience who was noted for his ugliness, and said:

"This won't prize, owl man."

"Me!" said the astonished individual: "Wha, aw word'st you for?"

"There's need to try; this won't be owl!" —Tu-Rita.

A DOUBTFUL REPUTATION.

The Canadians in South Africa were good footers apparently. The first contingent was joyfully turned by the wags "the thousand thieves." It is said that on one occasion General Smith-Dorrien's division was attacking a town held by Boers. The Highlanders were doing the heavy work. An officer remarked to the General, "The Boers don't seem to be able to take it." "What's that?" was the question. "Oh, well, if they can't take it, we'll send the Canadians forward. They will soon steal it!" —Canadian Major.

Children Cry for CASTORIA.

Spring Medicine.

At a spring meeting, Burdock Blood pills have no equal. It tones up the system and removes all impurities from the blood, and takes away that tired, weary feeling so prevalent in spring.

Keep good company, you shall be of the number.—Herbert.

Work While You Sleep.

If you take a Lax-Liver Pill to-night before retiring, it will work while you sleep without a twinge or pain, curing Blisters, Constipation, Dyspepsia and Black Headache, and makes you feel better in the morning.

Probably blisters are near-sighted and unable to distinguish other people's party from their own.

A BACKWARD CHILD.

In a child that is backward in teething, look out for rickets. You can prevent any serious consequences by promptness.

The cause is poor nutrition, imperfect digestion of food, wrong food, poor food, bad air, low life.

You must stop it. Give Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil to feed the bones. Now give him good food: the proper food for a child.

It is a short job, and not a difficult one.

Send me a little to try if you like.

—By H. M. Scott, Chemist, Toronto.

TIME AFTER TIME.

Two boys stopped, heads a number of workmen busily engaged in constructing a building. "The work looks like it's safe," the boy thought, "as he watched a mason driving, with wall and floor, nail after nail into place."

"Yes, I should like to be a carpenter; but I could never have the patience to hit the nail so many times," answered the other boy.

The workman panned, his hammer lit and away, and smiled. "You would never do me any harm, then," he said: "she is only repeated effort that brings good result."

This large along the line of work you see, the art of accomplishing a task skillfully is not learned in a day, but often represents years of steadfast toil.

This ought not to discourage us, however, but rather to increase our desire to succeed.

It is true that "no great thing was ever highly won."

That boy early in life sets about his work, whatever it may be, in earnest, is likely to accomplish wonderful results. "That son of yours is a born-dagmar," remarked one man, approvingly, as he noted the energetic manner in which the lad performed his task. "You always find his level best at everything."

That is really the secret of the whole matter—one level best, and stopping at nothing short of it. Lastly a man who had distinguished himself in war was being entertained in a home, where a bright-eyed lad sat at his feet eagerly listening to the conversation. "Well, my boy," said the gentleman, "what are you thinking?"

"Sir," was the answer, "I mean to be a great soldier like you." "Oh," he said, as he laid bare a hidden scar, "are you willing to pay the cost?" Time after time we are to perform the duties assigned us. Our work may not be rewarded by success, but it is rewarded by experience and knowledge.

Mr. H. P. Leonard, Parry Sound, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Wood's New Pine Syrup for years and have found it will count, and the one talent will have been anticipated as the great Oliver intended.

—Intelligencer.

Doan's Kidney Pills act on the kidney's bladder and urinary organs only. They cure backaches, weak back, rheumatism, diabetes, congestion, inflammation, gravel, Bright's disease and all other diseases arising from wrong action of the kidneys and bladder.

Men are not so much in prompt action as in hasty judgment.—Louis Napoleon.

GAINED

CEYLON AND INDIA TEA, GREEN OR BLACK.

Trade is confederating the Empire. Britain is Canada's best customer. Britain cannot buy if she does not sell.

One Tea grown in a British Colony by British Capitalists.

"SALADA"—Ceylon Tea are sold in sealed lead packets only never in bulk. Black Mixed, or Uncolored Ceylon Green. Sample on application.

Address "SALADA," Toronto.

No wreck of friendship can destroy its high ideals, or take from him who was true in it the gain to his own soul of "unselfishly striving to be a friend"—H. Clay Trumbull.

Haggard's Yellow Oil cures all pain in man or beast; for sprains, cuts, bruises, callous, lumps, swelling, inflammation, rheumatism and asthma it is a specific.

In the man whose childhood has known carcasses there is always a fibre of memory that can be touched to gentle issues.—George Eliot.

Children Cry for CASTORIA.

No man knows the state of another; it is always to some more or less imaginary that the mind and honest advice is speaking.—Carlyle.

To Prevent Consumption.

Hard to cure even to prevent. Hortic's Emulsion nourishes the body, keeps it strong and healthy, and the consumption germs can not get a foothold.

Every great man always being helped by everybody, for his gift is to get good out of all things and all persons.—Hawkin.

It rapidly does lung irritation spread and deepen that often in a few weeks relapses to a simple cough culminates in tubercular consumption.—Give hortic to a cough, there is always danger in doing so, get a bottle of Blackie Anti-tuberculosis Syrup, and cure yourself. It is a medicine prepared for all throat and lung trouble. It is composed from several herbs, each one of which stands at the head of the list as exerting a wonderful influence in curing consumption and all lung diseases.

Nothing is more expensive than penicillin; nothing more anxious than carelessness; and every duty which is hidden to wait until we have saved fresh dusters at its back.—Charles Kingsley.

Stock on the Fence.

My dear Page, you will write to me, but will not be able to do so by letter. The Page Fence is woven in our own workshop, and is made of the finest wire twice as strong as that used in other fences. Get this year a fence of the Page Fence, and you will be satisfied.

The PAGE WIRE FENCE CO. Ltd. (WALKERVILLE, ONT.)

Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage-stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain, and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary strings to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a string, I am glad your service is as follows:

"Dear Madam.—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are usually procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent