

DEED.
Harrison, in Newmarket, on Thursday, 2nd June, 1902, Mary Macpherson, wife of David Macpherson, ex-Warden in her fifty-seventh year.
Homestead—At the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary Macpherson, on Thursday, 2nd May, 1902, Mary Homestead, aged 100 years.

The Acton Free Press

THURSDAY, JUNE 1, 1902.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Hon. Clifford Sifton, Canadian Minister of the Interior, is through Mr. W. T. R. Preston, Dominion Commissioner of Emigration, making an examination of 25,000 maps of Canada to schools and various institutions throughout.

Mr. Copeland, Agent-General for New South Wales, proposes that the elected son of the Prince of Wales be called Prince of Canada, and the second son of the Queen of Australia. This, he says, will interest greatly the people of the two Colonies, and make them, if possible, more loyal.

Halton County has for a long time neglected its duty to the unfortunate poor residing within its bounds, but legislation of the present session makes their provision necessary in the near future. Mr. Stratton's bill making it obligatory on counties or unions of counties to erect houses of refuge before 1904 is a desirable piece of legislation. Twenty-one counties in all will be affected by it, and Halton is among them. In the bills of these counties there are given from a dozen to over fifty poor people confined and committed at their own request. The bill will institute a more humane and generally less expensive way of discharging this public duty.

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young replied to these charges denying the truthfulness of every one of them. The Government, seeing the absurdity of the petitioners, took no further notice of their petition. The title of Mr. Young's scrap book is 'The Trail of the Scorpion.' He has a life picture therein of his principal adversary, Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

ONLY THREE APPEALS THIS YEAR

Against Acton's Assessment, presented to Court of Revision.

COURT ADJOURNED FOR A WEEK.

The Council met on Monday evening at 8 o'clock, a Court of Revision. Members present, Reeve Swackhamer and Councillors Holmes and Brown. The appeals against the assessment of 1902 were limited to three, as follows:

1. Mrs. S. A. Seccombe appealed against her assessment, being too high on her various properties.

2. Owing to the expiring of the second ten-year term of exemption on real estate and personal property of Messrs. Beardsmore & Co., on May 10th, 1902, Assessor Graham appealed on legal grounds against the continuance of the partial assessment which prevailed during the currency of the exemption period.

3. An appeal was made by James Farrell against assessment for a dog, now dead.

The several parties were heard in the matters in which they were interested, and the Reeve explained that decision would be deferred until a future sitting, when he hoped there would be more members present.

The Court adjourned to meet on Monday evening, 8th inst., at 8 o'clock.

GOOD HEALTH.

How It Can Be Obtained and How It Can Be Preserved.

The health of the whole body depends upon the blood and nerves. The blood must be rich and pure, and the nerves vigorous and strong. Therefore a medicine that makes new blood and strengthens the nerves restores the race of many serious diseases. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will do this, and this is the secret of their wonderful power to conquer disease. Thousands of cases—many of them in your own neighborhood—have proved that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure rheumatism, sciatica, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, nervous and bilious headache, heart trouble, indigestion, anæmia, and the ailments that render the lives of so many women a source of misery. Mr. Jim Adams, Bradenton, Mo., says: "Before I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills my health was much shattered; with rheumatism, nervous depression and sleeplessness. For fully a year I rarely got a good night's sleep. I gave the pills a thorough trial, and can now truthfully say I could not wish better health."

What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for others they will surely do for you, but you should be sure to get the genuine with the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pill for Pale People," on the wrapper round each box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 35c per box or six boxes for $2.50, by writing to the Dr. Williams' Medecine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The states of Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, and Iowa have suffered great devastation from floods the past week. Tens of millions of dollars worth of property have been destroyed, and thousands of families live homeless.

FINALLY, BRETHREN, FAREWELL
Rev. H. A. Macpherson, Class III
Pastor at Knox Church with a
Farewell Sermon, Exhorting the Congregation to High Ideals.

FAREWELL SOCIAL ON MONDAY EVENING.

The very successful pastorate of the past six years and nine months of Rev. H. A. Macpherson at Knox Church closed on Sunday, and he was induced as the minister of Chalmers Church, Toronto, on Tuesday evening. Mr. Macpherson succeeded Rev. J. W. Rae here in September, 1890. His ministry has been characterized by success from the beginning. The membership has shown a constant growth; all departments of the church have prospered, and the mind has been so far as possible made to evolve a soul for the congregation will find a soul to lead in every pleasant place indeed.

In addition to his work as the minister of Knox Church Mr. Macpherson was a popular and useful citizen. All social and educational interests commanded his attention and received devoted service, notably the Public School Board, Free Library, Bible Society, Sanitarian Association, Prohibition Organization, etc. In all of these he was an active worker, and held official relationships. His removal will therefore cause regret outside the church as well as in.

KNOX CHURCH ACTON.

The closing sermon of Mr. Macpherson's pastorate saw Knox Church crowded with an audience including the congregations of the Methodist, Disciple and Baptist churches, and numbers from the churches within a radius of half a dozen miles. Rev. A. E. Smith, B.D., and Rev. D. Dick assisted in the service.

Rev. Mr. Macpherson took for his text, II Sam., 21:25, "And David built there an altar unto the Lord." A very fervent and powerful discourse was preached, which the congregation was edified to a higher standard of Christian living, and acceptable sacrifice to God. In his introduction he said: "Many monuments have been erected to prove the appreciation in which great characters are held, and to mark events in the colonial life of the people. The monuments in Queen's Park, Toronto, to Brown, Macdonald, the N. W. soldiers' monument and others were instances, and also the monument to our soldier hero who died while in active service in South Africa, in our own Fairview Cemetery. Everywhere we see things to mark great national and individual events. God's book has records of such moments. The cross of Jesus Christ is the greatest central monument illustrating God's love to the children of men. To-night we are to look at a monument erected by the King, even David himself. The highest tribute to his memory is that suggested by his attitude toward God as recorded in the Psalms. He built an altar unto the Lord. He built an altar unto the Lord, the tabernacle having to be re-housed. I want to refer to our memory and my own. Permit me to say that however many things there are, one would like to have recorded of himself and his work. I feel as I look back over the years I have spent here that I would prefer nothing so much as such a monument as David erected. That I lift up before you on this last service of my ministry here."

As he proceeded with his amplification of the subject the following points were very vividly impressed: 1. The monument erected taught David the great fact that he could not sin without feeling before God that sinning was a horrid thing. In your heart and in mine we know that sin is the same in the heart to-day as when David sinned. David's sin, as erected, shows that many things, not wrong in themselves, are distasteful. God because of the way we do them. The choir discoursed sweet music during the evening and the Sunday School Orchestra provided lively music as the banquet was in progress.

Mr. and Mrs. Macpherson left for Toronto on the morning train on Tuesday.

Even a small soul can live in return only a great soul hates not in return: I am Panin.

The highest learning is to be wise, and the greatest wisdom is to be good. —Lady Audley.

All other knowledge is hurtful to him who has not honesty and good nature.—Montaigne.

If You Fail to Remove Your Burden of Disease in June, Your Life is Not Secure.

PAINES' CELERY COMPOUND

Will Do For You What It Did For Mrs.

J. B. Butts.

There was never a remedy so highly recommended for making sick people well in summer time as Paine's Celery Compound. It successfully grapples with all the ailments common in summer time, and never fails to remove long standing and chronic diseases that have baffled the skill of physicians. When Paine's Celery Compound is used, there is no long waiting for results. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, assists digestion, gives sweet sleep, excites the bowels to healthy action, expels furred humors from the blood and braces the nervous system. Mr. J. B. Butts, 211 Main Ave., Toronto, Ont., says: "I had a very bad attack of grippe which left me with a very nervous and broken-down system; I also suffered be comes to God asking forgiveness through Jesus Christ. The sooner we rouse our sleeping consciousness to the fact that sin will be death, unless forgiven through Christ, the better for us through all eternity."

In concluding he said: "This is an altar I am sure we are glad to behold indicating the fact that David had a deep appreciation of what God had done for him. He said to Aranah, who offered to provide the sacrifice, "No, I will not offer a sacrifice to God which costs me nothing." What a lesson we might all read to ourselves from this! How often we have all offered sacrifices which cost nothing? We used to want to live on the bread of life, but did not give nothing in sacrifice in return. We sold the idea of such an offering. There never can be very much good come out of a cause that has not cost something. Then I am sorry for this church and all other churches abundant blessing and growth when our offerings to God are made in sacrifice which have cost great suffering. When outsiders see the indications that the ministers and the members have suffered because of their love for God and because, then will believe. How much have we ever suffered in this way in the past? How often have we put ourselves to inconvenience in the effort to honor God? So I have brought before you tonight that wonderful picture of David's old altar. Many things in connection with my ministry here will be affected by it, and Halton is among them. In the bills of these counties there are given from a dozen to over fifty poor people confined and committed at their own request. The bill will institute a more humane and generally less expensive way of discharging this public duty."

Halton County has for a long time neglected its duty to the unfortunate poor residing within its bounds, but legislation of the present session makes their provision necessary in the near future. Mr. Stratton's bill making it obligatory on counties or unions of counties to erect houses of refuge before 1904 is a desirable piece of legislation. Twenty-one counties in all will be affected by it, and Halton is among them. In the bills of these counties there are given from a dozen to over fifty poor people confined and committed at their own request. The bill will institute a more humane and generally less expensive way of discharging this public duty.

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language, and persisting for his instant dismissal. Mr. Young feels very proud of the constant attention paid to him by the liquor press, and he says that he intends to hold his book down to posterity as unintentional compliments paid to him by his traducers."

The Milton Reformer last week gave a page of county history of some twenty years ago of a most interesting character. It says: "Mr. W. H. Young, of Oakville, the Police Magistrate under the six years of the Scott Act in Halton, showed us a few days ago a scrap book in which he has compiled all criticisms and charges levelled against him by the press of the liquor party. Very prominent among them are 20 carefully prepared charges gotten up by the opponents of the Act, and presented to Sir Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario, charging the Magistrate with the most gross offences and in the strongest language,