WHERE THE PIC-NIC GOT ITS.

Everybody knows what a pic-nic le but most people would find it hard the derivation of the word is simple enough and sensible, too. When plc-nle was being arranged for, the oustom originally was that those who intended to be present-should-supply the entables and drinkables. A list of those necessaries having been drawn up, it was passed around and each person picked out the article of food or drink that he or she was willing to furnish, and the name of the article was plaked, or ticked off the list. The open air entertainment thus became known as a "plok-and-nick." The cus tom is said to date from 1802, so the the plente to wholly an institution of the nineteenth century.

OLD-YABHIONED MOTHER

Thank God, some of us have, and others have had, an old-fashloned mother. Not a woman of the period enameled and painted, with her great chiznon, her curls and bustle; whose white, jewelled hands never have felt the clasp of baby fingers; but a dear old-fashloned, sweet-volced mother, with eyes in which the love light shone, and brown bair threaded with silver, lying smooth upon her faded check. Those dear hands worn with toll, gently guided our tottering steps in childhood, and smoothed our pillow in sickness; even reaching out to us in yearning tenderness, when her sweet spirit was haptised in the pearly spray of the river. Blessed is the memory of an old-fashioned mother. It floats to us now, like the beautiful perfund of some woodland blossonis. The music of other voices may be last but the entransling memory of her's will sold in our souls fotover. Other plache will fade-away and be forgotten, but here will shing on until the light from Heaven's portale shall glorify our own. When in the fitful pauser of busy life our feet wander back to the old homestead, and crossing the well-worn threehold, standing ohed more in the low, quaint room, as hallowed by her presence, how the feeling of childish innocence and dependence comes over us, and we kneel down in the motten sunshine streaming through the western window-just where, long years ago, we knot by our mother's knee lisping "Our Pather." . How many times when the tempter lured us on has the memory of those sacred hours, prayers, saved us from sin. Years have filled great drifts over between her and us, but they have not hidden from our sight the glory of her pure, unselfish tove.
