The second male child born among the Russian Jaws who have been colonling here the past three or four years, had his birth in the home of Mr. L. Starkman, Beardmore Croscent, on the 17th July. In accordance with the custom which all Jews hold to be a most sacred command, the day for the circumcialon of the child -- the eighth day-came on Saturday. For > the carrying out of this rite, Roy. P. Dolgove, of one of the Toronto Synagogues, came to town and the ceremony was performed at the home of the parents, at high noon. Those who held places of honor as assistants to Rev. Mr. Dolgove, were Mesers. S Jasevi, Guelph ; and M. Saxe, B. Goldstein, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Frankel, Acton. The child was given the name of Morris. At the conclusion of the ceremony a shower of nuts and sweetments and ejaculations of "Mazaldvor" (Good luck), were made un all sides of the room by members of the Ohrlutian fellow-oltizens were present Tired, but with the memory of one of the best outlings in their experience, the Acton contingent arrived home safely, on Monday and Tuesday, from the Ter-centenary celebration at Quebec. There was much hard work, at HI the men had time to enjoy themselves thoroughly, and one of the boys expressed the sentiments of his comrades, when he said : "It was the sight of a lifetime, and I am not sorry that I went along. I would go a long way to see another such spectacle." They all describe the great review of the troops by the Prince of Wales as a magnificent demonstration. Owing to the excessive heat some were exhausted. However, there was no serious illness; which speaks very highly for the When overheated take a glass of manner in which the camps were con-of beans, three times a day, but withal they had an exceptionally good outing. There was quite a bit of work for the soldiers, but they accepted it in good spirit, and managed to get at much time off as they hoped for.
