bination in John Lowis and

Jos. T. Olark

In the judgment of many readers the most interesting odlitorial page in Canada is that of The Toronto Dally & Star. Mr. John Lowis, author of the Life of George Brown, and for many yours chief editorial writer of The Cooper. Globe, is The Star's chief writer, and the stuff has recently been increased by the according of Mr. Joseph T. Clark, "Mack," formerly editor of the Saturday Night. Mr. Lowis and Mr. Clark stand in the first rank of their profession in Canada, and the combination of two such writers on the staff in Canadian journalism.

Isonality is particularly noticeable, are is all the more surprising. But the now an out-standing feature of the reputation of this splendid company page, so that altogother it is little had avidently preceded them here, and wonder that it is popular.

Head Office, Hamilton

LARGE proportion of the Savings Bank accounts opened with THE BANK OF HAMILTON are opened and conducted by women. Out of the household income, the thrifty wife quietly lays aside, in the safe custody of a chartered Bank, as much as can well be spared from the husband's income. When unforeseen reverses come, or a home-or other commendable thing is desired-quiet savings (hardly missed from the regular income) are available.

It is surprising how rapidly Systematic Savings grow. Many accounts, made up of small deposits, reach a total that is quite important, and which makes the family independent when extra money is needed.

THE BANK OF HAMILTON specially invites the Savings Accounts of married women; and has inaugurated a system of caring for such deposits, that is both simple and convenient.

Money may be deposited or withdrawn in any amount at any time; and, when starting a new account, a simple enquiry for the Manager will secure all desired information, and every. attention to requirements.
